

Security Requirements

- Security requirements describe all security conditions that have to be considered in the data warehouse environment.
- The first step for the definition of security requirements is to classify the security objects and security subjects of the data warehouse environment.
- security objects :classifications would be classification by sensitivity (public, confidential, top secret) or according to job functions (accounting data, personnel data)
- security subject :We can follow a top-down company view, with users classified by department , section, group, and so on. Another possible classification is role based, with people grouped across departments based on their role

Fabricating Homeland Security Rhys Machold,2024-09-24 Homeland security is rarely just a matter of the homeland it involves the circulation and multiplication of policing practices across borders Though the term homeland security is closely associated with the United States Israel is credited with first developing this all encompassing approach to domestic surveillance and territorial control Today it is a central node in the sprawling global homeland security industry worth hundreds of billions of dollars And in the wake of the 2008 Mumbai terrorist attacks India emerged as a major growth market Known as India's 9/11 or simply 26/11 the attacks sparked significant public pressure to adopt modern homeland security approaches Since 2008 India has become not only the single largest buyer of Israeli conventional weapons but also a range of other surveillance technology police training and security expertise Pairing insights from science and technology studies with those from decolonial and postcolonial theory Fabricating Homeland Security traces 26/11's political and policy fallout concentrating on the efforts of Israel's homeland security industry to advise and equip Indian city and state governments Through a focus on the often unseen and overlooked political struggles at work in the making of homeland security Rhys Machold details how homeland security is a universalizing project which seeks to remake the world in its image and tells the story of how claims to global authority are fabricated and put to work Handbook of Information and Communication Security

Peter Stavroulakis,Mark Stamp,2010-02-23 At its core information security deals with the secure and accurate transfer of information While information security has long been important it was perhaps brought more clearly into mainstream focus with the so called Y2K issue The Y2K scare was the fear that computer networks and the systems that are controlled or operated by software would fail with the turn of the millennium since their clocks could lose synchronization by not recognizing a number instruction with three zeros A positive outcome of this scare was the creation of several Computer Emergency Response Teams CERTs around the world that now work operatively to exchange expertise and information and to coordinate in case major problems should arise in the modern IT environment The terrorist attacks of 11 September 2001 raised security concerns to a new level The international community responded on at least two fronts one front being the transfer of reliable information via secure networks and the other being the collection of information about potential terrorists. As a sign of this new emphasis on security since 2001 all major academic publishers have started technical journals focused on security and every major communications conference for example Globecom and ICC has organized workshops and sessions on security issues. In addition the IEEE has created a technical committee on Communication and Information Security. The first editor was intimately involved with security for the Athens Olympic Games of 2004.

Non-Traditional Security Issues and the South China Sea Shicun Wu, Keyuan Zou, 2016-05-23. While there is abundant literature discussing non traditional security issues, there is little mention of such issues existing in the South China Sea. This area is vulnerable to natural hazards and marine environmental degradation. The marine ecosystem is threatened by various adverse sources including land based pollution, busy shipping lanes and over exploitation activities which threaten the security of the surrounding population. This area is also threatened by piracy and maritime crimes but law enforcement becomes difficult due to unclear maritime boundaries. This volume is designed to explore the security cooperation and regional approaches to these non traditional security issues in the hope to build a peaceful environment and maintain international and regional security and order in the South China Sea region.

Security, Emancipation and the Politics of Health Joao Nunes, 2013-10-01 This book develops a new theoretical framework for the study of security issues and applies this to the case of health Building on the work of the Welsh School of Security Studies and drawing on contributions from the wider critical security literature the book provides an emancipatory perspective on the health security nexus one which simultaneously teases out its underlying political assumptions assesses its political effects and identifies potential for transformation Security Emancipation and the Politics of Health challenges conventional wisdom in the field of health and international politics by conceiving of health as a fundamentally political issue and not merely as a medical problem demanding technical solutions and arrangements The book shows how political processes of representation underpin notions of health and disease through an examination of three key areas the linkages between immigration and the fear of disease colonial medicine and the health as a bridge for peace literature In order to successfully carry out this political investigation of health the book develops an innovative theoretical framework inspired by the idea of security as emancipation which goes beyond the existing emancipatory literature in security studies This book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies health politics sociology and IR in general
