audience that will include scholars and students as well as general readers without specialized knowledge of Chinese history. It can be consulted as a work of reference or read continuously alone or as part of The Cambridge History of China series.

A Morphological Interpretation of a Northern Chinese Traditional Village Kun Li, 2024-04-23 This book challenges the definition of a new approach for integrating protection and enhancing the Chinese heritage category of Traditional Villages. By applying a specific case study in the Hancheng context, Shaanxi Province, which lacks sound studies, the book formulates new theoretical prerequisites for future researches and an in-depth knowledge path and sound methodological principles. By working in a multiple scales approach, the object of preservation and enhancement is first of all redefined in its ontology as a unity formed by the courtyard type, the morphology of the village and the related landscape structures. All these three levels of study have been deeply investigated, put into the relationship and resulting in a new methodology which overcomes the inadequacy and ineffectiveness of the notion of setting deriving from conservation Charters to embrace the structural notion of context and a knowledge approach to rural settlements form. The innovative and original features of this book are both in the reading villages in their landscape dimension which in turn is studied as a context made of several interrelated structures. Another original feature of the book is the integration of Italian historic structural and morphological methodologies with specific Chinese cultural aspects. The author's work dug deeply and interdisciplinary in all those dimensions to account for the complex issues that are related and embodied in both the physical and intangible meaning of human settlements, opening a novel scientific methodology for Chinese studies as a sound base to define three key integrated project actions: what, why, how to preserve, enhance, develop.

Origins of Ancient Chinese Civilization Xueqin Li, 2024-07-24 This book presents detailed research regarding the Xia, Shang and Zhou dynasties, including studies of inscriptions on bones or tortoise shells, bronzeware, bamboo scripts and silk manuscripts in order to demonstrate the main features of various historical periods during the establishment and development of ancient Chinese civilization based on an a view of ancient Chinese civilization studies as a whole. The book consists of three sections with a total of 38 essays. The first section provides a macro level overview of the formation and development history of ancient Chinese civilization, the second section covering general topics examines the specific characteristics of early Chinese civilization from Emperors Yan and Huang to the Eastern Zhou Dynasty. Lastly, the appendix features 7 articles including a short biography of the author.
