The World Through Maps John R. Short, 2003 An illustrated history of maps and mapmaking including reproductions of 200 antique maps Mapping the Chinese and Islamic Worlds Hyunhee Park, 2012-08-27 Long before Vasco da Gama rounded the Cape of Good Hope en route to India the peoples of Africa the Middle East and Asia engaged in vigorous cross cultural exchanges across the Indian Ocean This book focuses on the years 700 to 1500 a period when powerful dynasties governed both regions to document the relationship between the Islamic and Chinese worlds before the arrival of the Europeans Through a close analysis of the maps geographic accounts and travelogues compiled by both Chinese and Islamic writers the book traces the development of major contacts between people in China and the Islamic world and explores their interactions on matters as varied as diplomacy commerce mutual understanding world geography navigation shipbuilding and scientific exploration When the Mongols ruled both China and Iran in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries their geographic understanding of each other s society increased markedly This rich engaging and pioneering study offers glimpses into the worlds of Asian geographers and mapmakers whose accumulated wisdom underpinned the celebrated voyages of European explorers like Vasco da Gama The Muslim World, 1915 A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2014-10-28 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer s art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map
