No Visible Wounds:

No Visible Wounds Mary Susan Miller, Ph.D.,1996-10-08 DOES YOUR PARTNER have sudden outbursts of anger or rage become jealous without reason prevent you from seeing friends and family deny you access to family assets such as bank accounts credit cards or the car control all finances and force you to account for what you spend insult you or call you derogatory names humiliate you in front of your children turn minor incidents into major arguments If you or someone you know can answer yes to the questions above chances are you are suffering from nonphysical battering controlling tyrannical behavior that is just as damaging to a woman s self esteem as a broken bone or a black eye An experienced counselor who works with abused women Mary Susan Miller breaks the silence that surrounds this devastating form of domestic violence She identifies the many types of nonphysical abuse verbal emotional psychological social and economic and explores why this outrageous treatment of women continues unabated in our society Dr Miller also shares the stories of many survivors who have escaped their abusive relationships Their experiences with law enforcement the legal system and the community itself can help prepare any woman for the decision of whether to stay or leave the relationship And if she decides to go Dr Miller offers sound guidelines on how to protect herself and her children since a woman s decision to leave is usually the time she is in the most danger from her abuser Finally Dr Miller inspires hope You can break free of the nightmare of nonphysical battering and heal once again engaging in a life of integrity dignity and peace

Freeing the Oppressed Ron Clark, 2009-09-01 When Jesus spoke at his local synagogue he boldly proclaimed that he was the one sent to free those who were oppressed He came to provide hope peace and safety to those suffering in the world When he left this earth his followers were left with the task of continuing this ministry Statistics suggest that in America one in four women has experienced physical violence in an intimate relationship Dating violence intimate partner violence and child abuse rank as some of our nation s largest problems Men are also being abused by intimate partners parents or care providers at increasing rates The statistic is even more alarming worldwide Unfortunately these statistics represent only reported incidents The rates of verbal emotional and spiritual abuse are even higher In addition countless women are encouraged by clergy to return to their abusive spouses The faith community while called by God to free the oppressed has been slow to respond to this sin against humanity Few seminaries offer quality domestic violence prevention training for clergy However clergy still continue to be sought for help from the community and as advocates for victims of domestic violence A partnership between the church and community locally and abroad is necessary if we wish to transform humans caught in this form of oppression In Setting the Captives Free Ron Clark proposed a theology of addressing domestic violence and its application for clergy Freeing the Oppressed is a book that seeks to condense Clark s previous work into a readable form for those seeking spiritual answers concerning abuse and batterer intervention and for helpers of those caught in the cycle of family violence It is also designed as an outreach for those seeking help from the faith community Fur Seal Investigations ,1982 Wounds and Lacerations Alexander T.
