Questions Of Community Artists Audiences Coalitions:

Questions of Community Daina Augaitis, 1995 Description not found Mining the Media Archive Dot Tuer, 2006 Mining the Media Archive gathers together an exciting collection of essays by writer and cultural theorist Dot Tuer Ranging from monographs on new media artists to a history of Canada's most controversial artist run centre the CEAC to testimonial writing on cultural politics and post colonialism in Canada and Argentina Tuer's writings address issues of global media and local remembrance through a unique blend of storytelling archival research and cultural analysis Retooling the Humanities Daniel Coleman, Smaro Kamboureli, 2012-07-02 Is market driven research healthy Responding to the language of knowledge mobilization that percolates through Canadian postsecondary education the literary scholars who contributed these essays address the challenges that an intensified culture of research capitalism brings to the humanities in particular Stakeholders in Canada's research infrastructure university students professors and administrators grant policy makers and bureaucrats and the public who are the ultimate inheritors of such knowledge are urged to examine a range of perspectives on the increasingly entrepreneurial university environment and its growing corporate culture The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing Daragh O'Reilly, Ruth Rentschler, Theresa Kirchner, 2013-12-17 The relationship between the arts and marketing has been growing ever more complex as the proliferation of new technologies and social media has opened up new forms of communication This book covers the broad and involved relationship between the arts and marketing It frames arts marketing in the context of wider related issues such as the creative and cultural industries cultural policy and arts funding developments in the different art forms and the impact of environmental forces on arts business models and markets The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing provides a comprehensive up to date reference guide that incorporates current analyses of arts marketing topics by leaders of academic research in the field As such it will be a key resource for the next generation of arts marketing scholars and teachers and will constitute the single most authoritative guide on the subject internationally On Aboriginal representation in the Gallery Lydia Jessup, Shannon Bagg, 2002-01-01 In recognizing the established intellectual and institutional authority of Aboriginal artists curators and academics working in cultural institutions and universities this volume serves as an important primer on key questions and issues accompanying the changing representational practices of the community cultural center the public art gallery and the anthropological museum Published in English Policy Matters Clive Robertson, 2006 In this book Clive Robertson examines the subject of arts administration through the three major topics of artist run culture as movement and apparatus custody battles with at the Canada Council and Carings for art and culture Includes interviews with Paule Leduc Roch Carrier Edythe Goodriche and Bruce Russell From Art Metropole website viewed 23 May 2018 Museum Pieces Ruth Bliss Phillips, 2011 The ways in which Aboriginal people and museums work together have changed drastically in recent decades This historic process of decolonization including distinctive attempts to institutionalize multiculturalism has pushed Canadian museums to pioneer

new practices that can accommodate both difference and inclusivity Ruth Phillips argues that these practices are indigenous not only because they originate in Aboriginal activism but because they draw on a distinctively Canadian preference for compromise and tolerance for ambiguity Phillips dissects seminal exhibitions of Indigenous art to show how changes in display curatorial voice and authority stem from broad social economic and political forces outside the museum and moves beyond Canadian institutions and practices to discuss historically interrelated developments and exhibitions in the United States Britain Australia and elsewhere Drawing on forty years of experience as an art historian curator exhibition critic and museum director she emphasizes the complex and situated nature of the problems that face museums introducing new perspectives on controversial exhibitions and moments of contestation A manifesto that calls on us to re imagine the museum as a place to embrace global interconnectedness Museum Pieces emphasizes the transformative power of museum controversy and analyses shifting ideas about art authenticity and power in the modern museum

Artist, Audience, Accomplice Sydney Stutterheim, 2024-07-15 In Artist Audience Accomplice Sydney Stutterheim introduces a new figure into the history of performance art and related practices of the 1970s and 1980s the accomplice Occupying roles including eyewitness romantic partner studio assistant and documenter this figure is situated between the conventional subject positions of the artist and the audience The unseen and largely unacknowledged contributions of such accomplices exceed those performed by a typical audience because they share in the responsibility for producing artworks that entail potential ethical or legal transgressions Stutterheim analyzes the art of Chris Burden Hannah Wilke Martin Kippenberger and Lorraine O Grady showing how each cannily developed strategies of shared culpability that evoked questions about the accomplice's various rights and roles. In this way Stutterheim argues that the artist's authority is not sovereign, total or exclusive but rather fluid and relational. By examining the development of an alternative model of participatory art that relies on a network of accomplices, Stutterheim radically revises current understandings of artistic agency, aesthetic property and acknowledged authorship. Creative Economies in Post-Industrial Cities Myrna Margulies Breitbart, 2016-05-13. There has been much written on the new creative economy but most work focuses on the so-called creative class with lifestyle preferences that favor trendy new restaurants, mountain biking and late night clubbing. This creative class flagship cultural destinations and other forms of commodity-driven cultural production now occupy a relatively uncritical place in the revitalization schemes of most cities up and down the urban hierarchy. In contrast, this book focuses on small to medium size post-industrial cities in the US, Canada and Europe that are trying to redress the effects of deindustrialization and economic decline through cultural economic regeneration. It examines how culture-infused economic opportunities are being incorporated into planning in distinct ways, largely under the radar in many working class communities and considers to what extent places rooted in an industrial past are able to envisage a different economic future for themselves. It questions whether these visions replicate strategies employed in larger cities or put forth plans that better suit the unique histories and challenges of places that remain outside the global limelight. Exploring the intersection between a cultural and sustainable economy raises issues that are central to how urban regeneration is approached and neighborhood needs and assets are understood. Case studies in this book examine spaces and planning processes that hold the possibility of addressing inequality by forging new economic and social relationships and by embarking on more inclusive and collaborative experiments in culture-based economic development. These examples often focus on building upon the assets of existing residents and broadly define creativity and talent. They also acknowledge both the economic and non-monetary value of cultural practices. This book maintains a critical edge, incorporating left critiques of mainstream creative economy theories and practices into empirical case studies that depart from standard cultural economy discourse. Structural barriers and unequal distributions of power make the search for viable urban development alternatives especially difficult for smaller post-industrial cities and risk derailing even creative grassroots initiatives. While acknowledging these obstacles, this book moves beyond critique and focuses on how the growing economy surrounding culture, the arts and ecological design can be harnessed and transformed to best benefit such cities and improve the quality of life for its residents. Artsplan: Statistics and methodology. - 3. Artsource, a citizens' guide to the arts in Washington State Arts Alliance of Washington State, 1979. Social Issues in Living Color Arthur W. Blume, 2017-02-16. Offering fresh and exciting approaches to solving global problems, this book creatively views challenging social issues through the lens of racial and ethnic psychology. As the demographic makeup of the American population continues to evolve, understanding and addressing the psychological needs of ethnic minorities in the United States becomes more important to the overall health and well being of society This three volume set is the first publication to explicitly tackle social issues from the perspective of racial and ethnic psychology It uniquely presents racial and ethnic psychological perspectives on topics such as media criminal justice racism climate change gender bias and health and mental health disparities Volume one introduces readers to the basic scientific concepts of racial and ethnic minority psychology and then examines the intersectionality of race ethnicity gender and sexual orientation It also addresses how race and ethnicity affect communication styles leadership styles and media The second volume discusses the experiences of individuals within racial and ethnic minorities including overt racism covert racism and colonialism and addresses how ethnic minority psychology plays a role in our educational system poverty global climate change and sustainability The third volume covers ethics in health and research considers the causes of health and mental health disparities and identifies diversity initiatives that can improve the health and well being of all citizens not just racial and ethnic minority citizens Rural Arts Management Elise Lael Kieffer,Jerome

Socolof,2024-07-10 The arts and arts management exist in every corner of the world from the largest city to the smallest town However just as a metropolis and a hamlet bear little resemblance to each other despite similar basic needs arts organizations in the former frequently bear little resemblance to those in the latter and many foundational arts management texts give little attention to rural settings This book combines insights from research and practice to fill that knowledge gap and help readers understand arts administration in rural communities Focusing on the North American setting but including comparative examples and references from around the world this book examines how areas of practice familiar to any arts manager work in rural areas including research and best practices for navigating the paucity of resources frequently encountered in rural communities Emphasizing a by rural for rural perspective this book frames the arts as integral components of vibrant rural communities and valuable tools for meeting these communities needs Written by arts and nonprofit management professors with backgrounds in rural arts research and practice this book provides a valuable resource for scholars advanced students and reflective practitioners at the intersection of the arts and rural studies
