Religious Traditions And The Limits Of Tolerance:

Religious Traditions and the Limits of Tolerance Louis J. Hammann, Harry Merwyn Buck, Michael J.

McTighe, 1988-01-01 This work looks at the questions which surround religious tolerance such as can religious traditions co exist peacefully It includes essays by contributors from many different religious and philosophical traditions attempting to answer these questions in the context of their backgrounds Secular Faith Vincent William Lloyd, Elliot A.

Ratzman, 2011-01-01 Is faith a necessary virtue in the contemporary world May it be or must it be detached from religious commitment What do genealogies of the secular tell us about faith Does religion need secular faith Secular Faith brings together leading and emerging scholars to reflect on the apparent paradox of secular faith Ranging over anthropology religious studies political science history and literature from Muslims in China to Pentecostals in South Africa to a prison chapel in Texas this collection of essays is as engaging and accessible as it is penetrating and rigorous Communism was once labeled the god that failed Like Christianity Communism involves faith in a superhuman endeavor conversion myth discipline and salvation and from the perspective of secular liberalism both are unjustified and false In recent years scholars have begun to investigate whether secularism is itself based on faith in a god that failed or is failing Nevertheless many still embrace such a faith finding in the spirit of democracy an ethos of eternal renewal Secular Faith enters and broadens this conversation interrogating secular faith in a global context tapping new theoretical resources and grappling provocatively with the tragedies and opportunities of today s profane pantheon of beliefs LIST OF ESSAYS AND THEIR CONTRIBUTORS 1 Uncool Passion Nietzsche Meets the Pentecostals Jean Comaroff 21 2 The Secular Bad Faith of Harry Thieriault the Bishop of Tellus Joshua Dubler 44 3 Darwin s Dogs Animals Animism and the Problem of Religion David Chidester 76 4 I Have Seen Miracles in My Life W E B Du Bois and the Religious Limits of Secularism Edward J Blum 102 5 Democracy Piety and Faith A Reading of Dewey s Religious Naturalism Melvin Rogers 126 6 Faith in the Time of Postsocialism Cindy Huang 153 7 Literary Enchantment and Literary Opposition from Hume to Scott Colin Jager 168 8 Imagined Communities Holistic Histories and Secular Faith Michael Saler 197 9 Interreligious Dialogue and Cosmopolitan Faith Adam K Webb 226 Deep Cosmopolis Adam K. Webb, 2015-05-15 Too often observers of globalization take for granted that the common ground across cultures is a thin layer of consumerism and perhaps human rights If so then anything deeper and more traditional would be placebound and probably destined for the dustbin of history But must this be so Must we assume as both liberals and traditionalists now tend to do that one cannot be a cosmopolitan and take traditions seriously at the same time This book offers a radically different argument about how traditions and global citizenship can meet and suggests some important lessons for the contours of globalization in our own time Adam K Webb argues that if we look back before modernity we find a very different line of thinking about what it means to take the whole world as one s horizon Digging into some fascinating currents of thought and practice in the ancient world the Middle Ages and the early modern period across all major civilizations Webb is able to reveal patterns of deep cosmopolitanism with its logic quite unlike that of liberal globalization today In their more cosmopolitan moments everyone from clerics to pilgrims to empire builders was inclined to look for deep ethical parallels points of contact among civilizations and traditions Once modernity swept aside the old civilizations however that promise was largely forgotten We now have an impoverished view of what it means to embrace a tradition and even what kinds of conversations across traditions are possible In part two Webb draws out the lessons of deep cosmopolitanism for our own time If revived it has something to say about everything from the rise of new non Western powers like China and India and what they offer the world to religious tolerance to global civil society to cross border migration Deep Cosmopolis traces an alternative strand of cosmopolitan thinking that cuts across centuries and civilizations It advances a new perspective on world history and a distinctive vision of globalization for this century which has the real potential to resonate with us all

Religion, Intolerance, and Conflict Steve Clarke, Russell Powell, Julian Savulescu, 2013-05-30 The relationship between religion intolerance and conflict has been the subject of intense discussion particularly in the wake of the events of 9 11 and the ongoing threat of terrorism This book contains original papers written by some of the world's leading scholars in anthropology psychology philosophy and theology exploring the scientific and conceptual dimensions of religion and human conflict Authors investigate the following themes the role of religion in promoting social cohesion and the conditions under which it will tend to do so the role of religion in enabling and exacerbating conflict between different social groups and the conditions under which it will tend to do so and the policy responses that we may be able to develop to ameliorate violent conflict and the limits to compromise between different religions The book also contains two commentaries that distill synthesize and critically evaluate key aspects of the individual chapters and central themes that run throughout the volume

The volume will be of great interest to all readers interested in the phenomenon of religious conflict and to academics across a variety of disciplines including religious studies philosophy psychology theology cognitive science anthropology politics international relations and evolutionary biology

Conversions Craig Harline, 2011-09-15 The experiences of two families one in seventeenth century Holland the other in America today and how they coped when a family member changed religions This powerful and innovative work by a gifted cultural historian explores the effects of religious conversion on family relationships showing how the challenges of the Reformation can offer insight to families facing similarly divisive situations today Craig Harline begins with the story of young Jacob Rolandus the son of a Dutch Reformed preacher who converted to Catholicism in 1654 and ran away from home causing his family to disown him In the companion story Michael Sunbloom a young American leaves his family's religion in 1973 to convert to Mormonism similarly upsetting his distraught parents The modern twist to Michael's story is his realization that he is gay causing him to leave his new church and upsetting his parents again but this time the family reconciles Recounting these stories in short alternating chapters Harline underscores the parallel aspects of the two far flung families Despite different outcomes and forms their situations involve nearly identical dynamics and heart wrenching choices Through the author's deeply informed imagination the experiences of a seventeenth century European family are transformed into immediately recognizable terms A beautiful and moving book Harline is a master at narrative and at making the most painstaking research look effortless Carlos Eire Yale University An absorbing creative book it will definitely become a go to book for readers interested in the history and psychology of conversion Lauren Winner author of Girl Meets God: A Memoir An unexpected joy A compelling insightful examination Conversions is a journey well worth taking Gerald S. Joseph Carens: Between Aliens and Citizens Matthias Hoesch, Nadine Mooren, 2020-08-11 This book offers a critical discussion of Joseph Carens's main works in migration ethics covering themes such as migration naturalization citizenship culture religion and economic equality The volume is published on the occasion of the annual Münster Lectures in Philosophy held by Joseph Carens in the fall of 2018 It documents the intellectual exchange with the well known philosopher Joseph Carens by offering critical contributions on Carens's work and commentaries of Carens as a reply to these critical contributions With his various works on migration ethics Joseph Carens must be seen as one of the leading academics in the political and ethical discourse of migration in the last years The topic of migration raises questions not only regarding naturalization and citizenship but also cultural economic and religious differences between aliens citizens and persons whose status lies in between and calls for further determination Such questions gain more and more importance in our globalized world as can be seen for example in the context of the refugee crisis in the European Union and the U.S. The book covers different systematic topics of Carens's work as can be found in his widely read book The Ethics of Immigration but also in further publications It provides papers with critical discussions of Carens's work as well as his responses to these thus enabling and documenting the fruitful dialogue between the contributors and Carens himself The aim of this book is to sharpen and shed light on Carens's arguments concerning migration by offering new and critical perspectives and fine grained analyses

The Limits of Religious Tolerance Alan Jay Levinovitz, 2016-10-21 Religion's place in American public life has never been fixed As new communities have arrived as old traditions have fractured and reformed as cultural norms have been shaped by shifting economic structures and the advance of science and as new faith traditions have expanded the range of religious confessions within America's religious landscape the claims posited by religious faiths and the respect such claims may demand have been subjects of near constant change In The Limits of Religious Tolerance Alan Jay Levinovitz pushes against the widely held and often unexamined notion that unbounded tolerance must and should be accorded to claims forwarded on the basis of religious belief in a society increasingly characterized by religious pluralism Pressing at the distinction between tolerance and respect Levinovitz seeks to offer a set of guideposts by which a democratic society could identify and observe a set of limits beyond which religiously grounded claims may legitimately be denied the expectation of unqualified non interference

Democracy and Religion David W. Odell-Scott, 2004 This book explores the interrelations of politics and religion The work is divided into four main sections the constitutional debate regarding the establishment and free exercise of religion clause the themes of violence and nonviolence as they relate to religion the free exercise of religion and the rise of fundamentalism and the challenges to the free exercise of diverse religious practices in a democratic society
