The circle of friends looks unpleasantly like a clique trying to gain a reflex glory from the fame of its hero or to make a boast of its superior insight. The connection it is true has other dangers. The tie may be broken and the rupture it appears cancels all obligations to reticence. No one can then lay on the lash like the old friend who knows the weak places and has or fancies that he has an injury to resent. The bitterness may be intelligible and therefore perhaps we should excuse a man for relieving his feelings after this peculiar fashion. I cannot say that I think the result edifying but I make no further comment. I would rather observe that fidelity to old ties is not necessarily blinding. No one can read Mr Colvin's notes upon his friend's letters without admitting that his friendship has sharpened his insight.

Volume 9* Роберт Льюис Стивенсон, 2017-05-29. The Literary Beach Carsten Meiner, Katrine Helene Andersen, 2024-05-08. As a geo-historical place, the beach integrates a variety of characteristics and functions so multiple that they tend to contradict each other. The beach is both a place of work and trade but also of leisure; it is both a place of therapy and health but also of migration, war, and death; it is a place of mass tourism and boredom but also the place of experiencing the Other; it is a public place but also an uncivilized and desolate place. This book studies the literary representation of the beach from ancient Greek literature up until today, drawing on English, French, Italian, American, and Spanish literatures from various periods and genres and presenting multiple ways of comparing and understanding literary beaches as a ubiquitous literary phenomenon. It demonstrates how the literary beach as a both geo-historical place and as an aesthetic literary commonplace has been a constant and privileged resource for the analysis of more general existential, sociological, and moral problems. This is the case when, for instance, the Tahitian beach becomes the place of the already modern in Stevenson's tales or when the Italian beach becomes a question of modern feminism in Ferrante. In this sense, literature expands the local or national beach by articulating its transnational complexities.

The Complete Personal Essays of Robert Louis Stevenson Trenton B. Olsen, 2021-05-19. For all of Robert Louis Stevenson's achievements in fiction, many of his contemporaries thought of him primarily as an essayist. His essays, known for their intellectual substance, emotional force and stylistic vitality were widely considered the best of their time Despite the importance of Stevenson s nonfiction his personal essays 70 in total have never been printed together in a single volume until now Stevenson s essays explore a range of topics from illness and evolution to marriage and dreams and from literal and literary travel to the behavior of children and the character of dogs Grappling with many of the cultural ethical and existential questions of his age he resists dogma to draw fresh conclusions Stevenson examines beggars and university students immigrants and engineers invalids and nurses outlining his own colorful life story and unique approach to the art of living along the way Whereas the most common and widely available versions of these texts were modified after Stevenson s death this volume gathers his personal essays many of which have never appeared in any modern edition in their authorized versions These essays are still considered classic models of the form and in this volume the Editor presents them alongside an introduction and notes to assist in a rereading and reappreciation that is long overdue The Proper Pirate Jefferson A. Singer, 2016-09-13 This first full length psychobiographical analysis of Robert Louis Stevenson examines his life story providing new insights into how his most significant memories and personal conflicts shaped the narrative structure and themes of some of his most celebrated works including Treasure Island A Child s Garden of Verses The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde and Kidnapped
