Children's Problems in Text Comprehension Nicola Yuill, Jane Oakhill, 1991-09-19 A 1991 examination of children's comprehension abilities by Yuill and Oakhill Child Labour in a Globalized World Luca Nogler, Marco Pertile, 2016-04-15 This volume examines the legal dimension of the ILO's action in the field of Child Labour The authors investigate the implementation of the relevant legal instruments and assess the effectiveness of the ILO supervisory system All relevant instruments are considered while particular attention is given to Convention 182 on the elimination of the worst forms of child labour Child Labour in a Globalized World describes the ILO's activities concerning the eradication of child labour whilst assessing and evaluating the effectiveness of the relevant legal framework and functioning of the supervisory system This book contextualizes the issue of the eradication of the worst forms of child labour in the recent doctrinal debate on the nature of labour standards and the transformation of the ILO This important work will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policy makers with an interest in labour law international law and children's rights The Acquisition of Verbs and their Grammar: Natalia Gagarina, Insa Gülzow, 2006-07-15 language specific competence within the acquisitional process Together with the focus on acquisition of the verb and its grammar research in this domain provides a fruitful basis for discussion The maturation model of language acquisition assumes that UG becomes the language specific grammar over time and that UG is entirely available only up until the time when the native language has been completely acquired cf Atkinson 1992 Wexler 1999 Constructivist models that may also be opposed to theories of UG alongside with the usage based approaches mentioned above mostly elaborate on the early acquisition of spatial relations e.g Bowerman and Choi 2001 Sinha et al 1999 however two main hypotheses of this approach a holistic view of universal spatial cognition and the language specific acquisition hypothesis are beyond the main scope of this book The book presents original contributions based on analyses of naturalistic data from eleven languages Croatian Dutch English Estonian French German Hebrew Jakarta Indonesian Japanese Russian and Spanish Three of the contributions make cross linguistic comparisons between English and Russian English German and Spanish and German Croatian and English All papers in the volume investigate first language acquisition and one paper studies both first and second language acquisition Diarrhoeal Diseases Research, 1998-03

Children's Comprehension Problems in Oral and Written Language Kate Cain, Jane Oakhill, 2008-05-07 Comprehension is the ultimate aim of reading and listening How do children develop the ability to comprehend written and spoken language and what can be done to help those who are having difficulties This book presents cutting edge research on comprehension problems experienced by children without any formal diagnosis as well as those with specific language impairment autism ADHD learning disabilities hearing impairment head injuries and spina bifida Providing in depth information to guide research and practice chapters describe innovative assessment strategies and identify important implications for intervention and classroom instruction The book also sheds light on typical development and the key cognitive skills and processes that underlie successful comprehension Family History of Col. John Sawyers and Simon Harris, and Their Descendants, 1913

Rethinking Verb Second Rebecca Woods, Sam Wolfe, 2020 This book offers the most exhaustive and comprehensive treatment available of the Verb Second property It includes formal theoretical work alongside psycholinguistic and language acquisition studies examines data from a range of languages and shows that V2 phenomena are much more widely attested cross linguistically than previously thought A Grammar of Central Alaskan Yupik (CAY) Osahito Miyaoka, 2012-12-06 The volume is a major grammar of Central Alaskan Yupik CAY It is the culmination of the author's linguistic studies done in Alaska and elsewhere since around 1960 with assistance of many native speakers Central Alaskan Yupik is currently the most vigorous of the nineteen remaining Native Alaskan languages Descriptive in nature extensive and deep this grammar is of typological and of ethnological anthropological interest Given the severely endangered state of the language this much of descriptive linguistic material is without comparison in the field The Acquisition of Italian Adriana Belletti, Maria Teresa Guasti, 2015-07-15 A major contribution to the study of language acquisition and language development inspired by theoretical linguistics has been made by research on the acquisition of Italian syntax This book offers an updated overview of results from theory driven experimental and corpus based research on the acquisition of Italian in different modes monolingual early and late L2 SLI etc as well as exploring possible developments for future research The book focuses on experimental studies which address research questions generated by linguistic theory providing a detailed illustration of the fruitful interaction between linguistic theorizing and developmental studies The authors are leading figures in theoretical linguistics and language acquisition their own work is featured in the research presented here Students and advanced researchers will benefit from the systematic review offered by this book and the critical assessment of the field that it provides Transitivity, Valency, and Voice Denis Creissels, 2024-10-15 This book sets up a consistent theoretical and terminological framework for the study of the phenomena that are commonly subsumed under the terms transitivity valency and voice These three concepts are at the heart of the most basic aspects of clausal structure in any language however there is considerable cross linguistic variation in the constraints on how verbs combine with noun phrases that refer to participants in the event that they denote or to the circumstances of the event In this book Denis Creissels explores and accounts for the extent of this cross linguistic variation capturing its regularities and examining the historical phenomena that have resulted in the emergence of constructions and markers The novel framework developed in the book allows similar phenomena to be identified across typologically diverse languages and facilitates systematic comparison of the manifestations of these phenomena in the grammars of individual languages A Theory of Aspectuality Henk J. Verkuyl, H. J. Verkuyl, 1996-05-30

Sentences may pertain to states or processes or events They may express duration frequency habituality and many other forms of temporality How do they do this It is the aspectual properties of sentences in natural languages which allow the user to express a temporal structure and Henk Verkuyl presents a unified formal system to account for them He explains aspectuality in terms of the opposition between terminative aspect and durative aspect and describes the way in which terminative aspect is compositionally formed on the basis of semantic information expressed by different syntactic elements in particular the verb and its arguments The aim is to determine which semantic conditions make a sentence terminative but at least ten different forms of durative aspectuality are also treated All are drawn into a theory which can account for both terminative and durative aspectuality together A Theory of Aspectuality draws together into a coherent whole the author's thinking on the subject over the last twenty years and will interest all those working on aspect and the semantics of noun phrases It promises to be a major new contribution to our understanding of the subject
