The Last to Die Robert J. Hoshowsky, 2007-04-30 Although they committed separate crimes Arthur Lucas and Ronald Turpin met their deaths on the same scaffold at Toronto's Don Jail on December 11 1962 They were the last two people executed in Canada but surprisingly little was known about them until now This is the first book to uncover the lives and deaths of Turpin a Canadian criminal and Lucas a Detroit gangster The result of more than five years of research The Last to Die is based on original interviews hidden documents trial transcripts and newspaper accounts Featuring crime scene photos and never before published documents this riveting book also reveals the heroic efforts of lawyer Ross MacKay who defended both men and Chaplain Cyril Everitt who remained with them to the end What actually happened the night of the hangings is shrouded by myth and rumour This book finally confirms the truth and reveals the gruesome mistake that cost Arthur Lucas not only his life but also his head

The Flight of Icarus James S. Amelang, 1998-08-01 Exploring autobiographical texts written by European urban craftsmen from the fifteenth to the eighteenth centuries this wide ranging book studies memoirs diaries family chronicles travel narratives and other forms of personal writings from Spain France Italy Germany and England In the process it considers the motivations of the authors the changing forms and emphases of artisan narratives and more generally the significance of written self expression in early modern popular culture By analyzing reading and writing as practices laden with social meaning this work aims to illuminate the changing role of the lower classes and other groups considered marginal in the history of literature and literacy It uncovers an Icarian logic by which writing about the self and one's immediate and private world developed as a complex response to widely shared expectations regarding the cultural and political subordination of craftsmen and others relegated to the margins of public life and discourse The book also contributes to the contemporary interdisciplinary debate concerning the nature and evolution of autobiographical writing It draws upon those currents within literary studies such as feminist criticism which favor a more flexible approach to the study of first person narrative than that adopted by traditional literary critics and historians of ideas It also argues for revising the standard history of autobiography eschewing the teleological presentation of a small handful of classic texts in favor of a more nuanced trajectory in which a wide range of social actors helped shape the emerging patterns of modern self understanding and expression

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
