Social Science Careers Beyond the Academy Stacey S. Merola, John Hitchcock, Mercedes Rubio, 2023-04-26 Social Science

Careers Beyond the Academy provides a road map to a career outside of academia for students of the social sciences who want to transition to a corporate or government environment after they complete their studies. It isn't always easy to see how the skills you develop in academia will apply to corporate consultancy or research positions or even to see clearly where these various career paths might lead and whether they might suit you. Are you a start up person or do you think that a big established organization will provide you with desirable opportunities? Would you prefer to work for a public or private firm or perhaps for a government agency? Are you better at research or project management? How do you go about adapting your writing to the nonspecialist audience of colleagues in an organization? This book is written by a team of authors who straddle the line that separates academia from consultancy work and have mentored countless students to make a successful transition to the working world whether in academia or not. The authors identify and categorize various popular paths that are available to you, describe the types of organization, roles and what they involve, and show how to map your own skills, personality and preferences to the jobs you might aspire to obtain. This book is the ultimate guide to building your path to success after you conclude your studies. Using an informal style, this book is ideal for social science students looking to make their next steps after academia by seeking positions in consulting and research firms or with a government entity.

Choosing end of life nursing Susan Bardy, 2016-09-16 Death is inevitable; none of us will escape it. Ending life with a terminal illness is a slow and rather lonely process. I am interested in the question of why some nurses choose to work in the field of palliative care. I am one who willingly stepped into the role of being with patients at their most vulnerable time when death became inevitable. My nursing history has spanned fifty years, of which the last twenty were in palliative care of terminally ill and dying patients. What was it that influenced me to move from a curing model to comfort caring only? My work is an account of how I discovered palliative care nursing after thirty years in the acute care setting. I migrated to Australia at the age of seventeen after the violence of World War II and the death of my father in a refugee camp. It seemed that taking on nursing was the best way to settle into a new life. I was happy with general nursing but had a feeling that there was more I could contribute to my patient care. My mother's unexpected death with cancer was responsible for showing the way. She died in the hospice unit of the hospital where I was employed. Sitting by her side showed me another aspect of nursing that attracted me to a career change. I transferred to the Hospice after mother died and remained there for twenty years. Naturally I wondered why this change of direction happened. Susan Bardy Nursing Leadership John Daly, Sandra Speedy, Debra Jackson, 2003-11-01 Nursing Leadership covers contemporary concepts in leadership and management and their application to nursing practice. In addition to covering the fundamentals, a wide range of current topics are addressed, including change management, contemporary approaches to nursing care delivery, developing research-based practice, cultural change processes, shared governance, development, quality of work life issues, quality work environments, and industrial relations. Nursing Leadership provides a fresh, innovative approach to the topic and is designed to stimulate interest in theory and concepts as well as providing the reader with strategies that can be readily tested and applied in practice
