Migrations The Irish At Home And Abroad:

Migrations Richard Kearney,1990 Migration and Gender in the Developed World Paul Boyle,Keith Halfacree,2002-11 This book demonstrates how migration is highly gendered with the experiences of women and men often varying markedly in different migration situations New Frontiers In Women's Studies Mary Maynard,June Purvis,2005-07-20 This text reveals the diversities which continue to shape women s beliefs and experiences It includes debates on women and nationalisms women and social policy sexuality black studies and ethnic studies women and education women and cultural production and women s studies and gender studies Transnational Migration and Childhood Naomi Tyrrell,Allen White,Caitriona Ni Laoire,Fina Carpena Mendez,2013-09-13 This book challenges the adult centric tendencies of migration research and policy which often overlooks children and young people s own experiences of migration A wide range of international contributors provide careful analysis of the situations of children in contemporary transnational migratory contexts in the Global North and South Drawing on studies with migrant children and young people in a variety of situations Transnational Migration and Childhood makes a unique contribution to furthering our understandings of transnational childhoods It explores the laws and policies that govern children and young people s experiences of transnational migration whilst foregrounding their own accounts of migration and transnationalism The book shifts our attention away from dominant discourses of migrant children as victims towards the development of broader conceptualisations of transnational migration and childhood It incorporates different migratory flows a variety of sending and receiving contexts and child centred perspectives Transnational Migration and Childhood will be of interest to researchers and policy makers working in the fields of migration asylum and childhood at local national and transnational scales This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies The Age of Mass Migration T. J. Hatton,Jeffrey G. Williamson,1998 Includes statistics Migration, Transnationalism and Catholicism Dominic Pasura,Marta Bivand Erdal,2017-02-21 This book is the first to analyze the impacts of migration and transnationalism on global Catholicism It explores how migration and transnationalism are producing diverse spaces and encounters that are moulding the Roman Catholic Church as institution and parish pilgrimage and network community and people Bringing together established and emerging scholars of sociology anthropology geography history and theology it examines migrants religious transnationalism but equally the effects of migration related diversity on non migrant Catholics and the Church itself This timely edited collection is organised around a series of theoretical frameworks for understanding the intersections of migration and Catholicism with case studies from 17 different countries and contexts The extent to which migrants religiosity transforms Catholicism and the negotiations of unity in diversity within the Roman Catholic Church are key themes throughout This innovative approach will appeal to scholars of migration transnationalism religion theology and diversity Globalization, Migration and Social Transformation Bryan Fanning,Ronaldo Munck,2016-04-22 In the space of around ten years Ireland went from being a traditional labour exporter to a leading European economy and thus an attractive destination for immigrants from Eastern Europe and further afield. This produced a singular social laboratory which this book explores in all its complexity set against the backdrop of globalization. Until recently seen as a showcase for the success of globalization, Ireland also became a destination for those displaced by the effects of globalization elsewhere. Globalization, Migration and Social Transformation takes Ireland as a paradigmatic case of social transformation, exploring the reasons why emigration was so rapidly replaced by immigration along with the social, political, cultural and economic effects of this shift. Presenting the latest research around the themes of identity, social transformations and EU and Irish politics and policy, this book offers a rich array of detailed empirical case studies drawn from Ireland which shed light on the experiences of immigrant groups from around the world and the wider processes of social transformation. In addition, it examines the manner in which the Irish state and the broader political system relate to new migrants and vice versa, thus advancing our comparative understanding of how the European Union is responding to the challenge of mass migration. Globalization, Migration and Social Transformation makes a strong contribution to the comparative literature on immigration and integration, diaspora and social transformation in the era of globalization and as such it will appeal to social scientists with interests in migration, race and ethnicity, globalization and Irish studies.

Migration and Social Protection in Europe and Beyond (Volume 2) Jean-Michel Lafleur, Daniela Vintila, 2020-10-30. This second open access book in a series of three volumes examines the repertoire of policies and programmes led by EU Member States to engage with their nationals residing abroad. Focusing on sending states' engagement in the area of social protection, this book shows how a series of emigration-related policies that go beyond the realm of social security address the needs of nationals abroad in the area of health care, unemployment, family benefits, pensions and economic hardship. In addition, this volume highlights the variety of sending states' institutions that are involved in these policies: consulates, diaspora institutions, ministries, agencies and their engagement with citizens abroad in other policy areas such as electoral rights, citizenship, language, culture, education, business or religion. As such, this book is a valuable read to researchers, policy makers, government employees and NGOs.

Public and Political Discourses of Migration Amanda Haynes, Martin J. Power, Eoin Devereux, Aileen Dillane, James Carr, 2016-04-14. Popular political and media discourses frame the issue of migration and shape how and when it enters the public and political consciousness. These discourses are of crucial importance as they influence both the general public's perception of migration and the policies which regulate both the act of migration itself and migrant residents. Public and Political Discourses of Migration brings together an interdisciplinary group of established and emerging scholars whose work interrogates the relationship between discourse and migration. Through the application of a variety of theoretical lenses drawn from the broad canon of discourse studies, each contribution unpicks the productive power of discourse in shaping the reality of migration, migration policy and migrant lives in the twenty-first century. The cases examined emerge as do their authors from a wide spectrum of national political and cultural contexts They are linked by their fundamental questioning of common sense and ahistorical approaches to migration They address the question of whose interests are served by prevailing discourses and the structures they underpin Ultimately they make strange accepted truths regarding migration in the twenty first century

Migrations Mary Gilmartin, Allen White, 2016-05-16 This edited collection explores Ireland's complex relationship with migration in novel and innovative ways The contributors leading scholars of migration from the disciplines of anthropology geography history media studies sociology sociolinguistics and women's studies draw on new research to provide insights into emigration from and immigration to Ireland both past and present The chapters which range from the nineteenth to the twenty first century cover topics as diverse as migrant women and children in Ireland the role of the Irish Catholic in migration networks and recent Irish migration to Australia They are organised around three cross cutting themes networks belonging and intersections They focus on the migratory process rather than on migration as a uni directional movement of people Though centred on Ireland the collection has broader implications for the ways in which migration is conceptualised The collection will appeal to scholars of migration and Irish studies and to readers with backgrounds in a range of social science and humanities disciplines including geography and sociology

The Cambridge Social History of Modern Ireland Eugenio F. Biagini, Mary E. Daly, 2017-04-27 Covering three centuries of unprecedented demographic and economic changes this textbook is an authoritative and comprehensive view of the shaping of Irish society at home and abroad from the famine of 1740 to the present day The first major work on the history of modern Ireland to adopt a social history perspective it focuses on the experiences and agency of Irish men women and children Catholics and Protestants and in the North South and the diaspora An international team of leading scholars survey key changes in population the economy occupations property ownership class and migration and also consider the interaction of the individual and the state through welfare education crime and policing Drawing on a wide range of disciplinary approaches and consistently setting Irish developments in a wider European and global context this is an invaluable resource for courses on modern Irish history and Irish studies

History, Memory and Migration Irial Glynn, 2012-05-04 By conversing with the main bodies of relevant literature from Migration Studies and Memory Studies this overview highlights how analysing memories can contribute to a better understanding of the complexities of migrant incorporation The chapters consider international case studies from Europe North America Australia Asia and the Middle East

Scottish Migration Since 1750 James C. Docherty, 2016-08-11 Scottish Migration since 1750 Reasons and Results begins a fresh chapter in migration studies using new methods and unpublished sources to map the course of Scottish migration between 1750 and 1990 It explains why the Scottish population grew after 1650 why most Scots continued to be female and the underlying economic reasons for Scottish emigration after 1820 It surveys migration to England Canada United States South Africa Australia and New Zealand It explores their names marriages family structures and religions and assesses how well they really fared compared to other British migrants Far from being just another Celtic sob story this book offers a model about how the histories of other migrant groups might be reappraised

Migration and Performance in Contemporary Ireland Charlotte McIvor, 2016-10-10 This book investigates Ireland's translation of interculturalism as social policy into aesthetic practice and situates the wider implications of this new interculturalism for theatre and performance studies at large Offering the first full length post 1990s study of the effect of large scale immigration and interculturalism as social policy on Irish theatre and performance McIvor argues that inward migration changes most of what can be assumed about Irish theatre and performance and its relationship to national identity By using case studies that include theatre dance photography and activist actions this book works through major debates over aesthetic interculturalism in theatre and performance studies post 1970s and analyses Irish social interculturalism in a contemporary European social and cultural policy context Drawing together the work of professional and community practitioners who frequently identify as both artists and activists Migration and Performance in Contemporary Ireland proposes a new paradigm for the study of Irish theatre and performance while contributing to the wider investigation of migration and performance

The Migration-Development Regime Rina Agarwala, 2022-10-07 In The Migration Development Regime Rina Agarwala seeks to understand how international migration is affecting sending countries and migrants themselves Specifically she examines the case of India the world's largest emigrant exporter and the world's largest remittance receiver Rather than seeing emigration as simply a neoliberal disaster or a panacea for globalization this book shows how the Indian state has long used and controlled its poor and elite emigrants differently to further Indian development and how Indian emigrants have differentially reacted to state practices over time These findings help Agarwala expose what is truly novel about India's contemporary emigration practices which have deepened class inequalities within India more than ever before

Migration and the Making of Ireland Bryan Fanning, 2021-11-02 Ireland has been shaped by centuries of emigration as millions escaped poverty famine religious persecution and war But what happens when we reconsider this well worn history by exploring the ways Ireland has also been shaped by immigration From slave markets in Viking Dublin to social media use by modern asylum seekers Migration and the Making of Ireland identifies the political religious and cultural factors that have influenced immigration to Ireland over the span of four centuries A senior scholar of migration and social policy Bryan Fanning offers a rich understanding of the lived experiences of immigrants Using firsthand accounts of those who navigate citizenship entitlements gender rights and religious and cultural differences in Ireland Fanning reveals a key yet understudied aspect of Irish history Engaging and eloquent Migration and the Making of Ireland provides long overdue consideration to those who made new lives in Ireland even as they made Ireland new

The Industrial Age Charles More, 2014-06-11 A new edition of this popular single volume survey of the British economy from industrialisation to the present day This key text has been updated to cover a further decade of Britain's economic and social fortunes In particular the chapters on the industrial revolution have been extensively revised and there is a new chapter on environmental history The Industial Age marshals a wealth of statistical and other evidence using economic theory to analyse recent British economic change

Human Geopolitics Alan Gamlen,2019-05-02 Human geopolitics the competition for population rather than territory is an essential but weakly understood dimension of world politics today Such competition has preceded violent conflict throughout history but has been muted since the Treaties of Westphalia laid the territorial foundations of the modern international system in the mid seventeenth century Today however human geopolitics is being resurrected in unanticipated ways as governments are enabled and encouraged to engage their emigrant diasporas How and why is this happening Until now these questions have been difficult to answer The majority of research attention has focused on questions of immigration policy in a handful of wealthy migrant destination countries largely ignoring the emigration policies that preoccupy the worlds many migrant origin states This book addresses that research imbalance by focusing on the overlooked sending side of migration policy Drawing on data covering all UN members across the post WWII period and fieldwork with high level policy makers across 60 states and a dozen international organisations the book charts the re emergence of human geopolitics through the global spread of diaspora institutions government ministries and offices dedicated to emigrants and their descendants It calls for the development of stronger guiding principles and evaluation frameworks to govern these new state diaspora relations in an era of unprecedented global interdependence

Return Migration and Regional Economic Problems Russell King,2015-03-27 This book originally published in 1986 based on extensive original research presents many findings on the phenomenon of return migration and on its impact on regional economic development It remains the only study of its kind International in scope the book includes chapters on return migration in Italy Portugal Greece Ireland Jordan Canada Jamaica Algeria and the Middle East

Museums, Migration and Identity in Europe Christopher Whitehead,Susannah Eckersley,Katherine Lloyd,Rhiannon Mason,2016-03-09 The imperatives surrounding museum representations of place have shifted from the late eighteenth century to today The political significance of place itself has changed and continues to change at all scales from local civic regional to national and supranational At the same time changes in population flows migration patterns and demographic movement now underscore both cultural and political practice be it in the accommodation of diversity in cultural and social policy scholarly explorations of hybridity or in state immigration controls This book investigates the historical and contemporary relationships between museums places and identities It brings together contributions from international scholars academics practitioners from museums and public institutions policymakers and representatives of associations and migrant communities to explore all these issues
