A Natural History of Nature Writing Frank Stewart, 2012-07-11 A Natural History of Nature Writing is a penetrating overview of the origins and development of a uniquely American literature Essayist and poet Frank Stewart describes in rich and compelling prose the lives and works of the most prominent American nature writers of the 19th and 20th centuries including Henry D Thoreau the father of American nature writing John Burroughs a schoolteacher and failed businessman who found his calling as a writer and elevated the nature essay to a loved and respected literary form John Muir founder of Sierra Club who celebrated the wilderness of the Far West as few before him had Aldo Leopold a Forest Service employee and scholar who extended our moral responsibility to include all animals and plants Rachel Carson a scientist who raised the consciousness of the nation by revealing the catastrophic effects of human intervention on the Earth's living systems Edward Abbey an outspoken activist who charted the boundaries of ecological responsibility and pushed these boundaries to political extremes Stewart highlights the controversies ignited by the powerful and eloquent prose of these and other writers with their expansive and often strongly political points of view Combining a deeply felt sense of wonder at the beauty surrounding us with a rare ability to capture and explain the meaning of that beauty nature writers have had a profound effect on American culture and politics A Natural History of Nature Writing is an insightful examination of an important body of American literature Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002 Unsettling the West JoAnn Levy, 2004 By the end of 1849 an estimated thirty nine thousand gold seekers had arrived in San Francisco by sea and some thirty thousand others had crossed the continent on land Another eighty six thousand would arrive in 1850 According to the census for that year there were twelve men for every woman in California But who would want them The words gold rush generate at best an image of raucous all male camaraderie at worst a storm of lawless and irredeemable violence Eliza Wood Burhans Farnham a young widow who had already generated considerable attention for herself as the matron of Sing Sing prison had a vision for California Woman with all her kindly cares and powers so peculiarly conservative to man under such circumstances would bring a civilizing influence to the state Farnham's vision went beyond gentility however to a society in which individuals male or female could fulfill their potential and virtues championed by free thinking New England philosophers would reign supreme The realities of everyday life in gold rush California were daunting but when Farnham's friend Georgiana Bruce later Kirby joined her the following year hope returned in full measure She fills up a great place in my dark world and comes to me like a pleasant breeze or a bright sun after one of our long rains We are going to be very independent and free dashing about at our discretion The stories of these sisters on the way to the vast Beyond as Farnham called them could not be told separately With insight wit and telling detail JoAnn Levy relates the scope and outcome of their quest for human perfectibility in this account of two remarkable and redoubtable women in frontier California Book jacket
