One Father One Blood Descent And Group Structure Among The Melpa People:

Witch-hunts, Purity, and Social Boundaries David Janzen, 2002-06-18 The anthropological approach to the expulsion of the foreign women from the post exilic community argues that it was the result of a witch hunt Its comparative approach notes that the community responded to its weak social boundaries in the same fashion as societies with similar social weaknesses This book argues that the post exilic community s decision to expel the foreign women in its midst was the direct result of the community s inability to enforce a common morality among its members This anthropological approach to the expulsion shows how other societies with weak social moralities tend to react with witch hunts and it suggests that the expulsion in Ezra 9 10 was precisely such an activity It concludes with an examination of the political and economic forces that could have eroded the social morality of the community

Belonging in Oceania Elfriede Hermann, Wolfgang Kempf, Toon van Meijl, 2014-09-01 Ethnographic case studies explore what it means to belong in Oceania as contributors consider ongoing formations of place self and community in connection with travelling internal and international migration The chapters apply the multi dimensional concepts of movement place making and cultural identifications to explain contemporary life in Oceanic societies The volume closes by suggesting that constructions of multiple belongings and with these the relevant forms of mobility place making and identifications are being recontextualized and modified by emerging discourses of climate change and sea level rise

A Kind of Mending Sinclair Dinnen, Anita Jowitt, Tess Newton, 2010-11-01 With their rich traditions of conflict resolution and peacemaking the Pacific Islands provide a fertile environment for developing new approaches to crime and conflict Interactions between formal justice systems and informal methods of dispute resolution contain useful insights for policy makers and others interested in socially attuned resolutions to the problems of order that are found increasingly in the Pacific Islands as elsewhere Contributors to this volume include Pacific Islanders from Vanuatu Fiji the Solomon Islands Papua New Guinea including Bougainville as well as outsiders with a longstanding interest in the region They come from a variety of backgrounds and include criminal justice practitioners scholars traditional leaders and community activists The chapters deal with conflict in a variety of contexts from interpersonal disputes within communities to large scale conflicts between communities This is a book not only of stories but also of practical models that combine different traditions in creative ways and that offer the prospect of building more sustainable resolutions to crime and conflict

Routledge Handbook of the History of Sustainability Jeremy L. Caradonna, 2017-10-18 The Routledge Handbook of the History of Sustainability is a far reaching survey of the deep and contemporary history of sustainability This innovative resource will help to define the history of sustainability as an identifiable field It provides a unique resource for advanced undergraduates graduate students and scholars and delivers essential context for understanding the current state and future path of the sustainability movement The history of sustainability is an increasingly important domain within the discipline of history which draws on an interdisciplinary set of fields ranging from energy studies transportation and urbanism to environmental history economics and philosophy Key sections in this handbook cover the historiography of sustainability resilience and collapse in historical societies the deep roots of sustainability seventeenth century to nineteenth century the recent history of sustainability twentieth century to present and core issues and key debates in sustainability This handbook is an invaluable research and teaching tool for those interested in the history and development of sustainability and an essential resource for the many sustainability studies programs that now exist in the world s universities

The Mask of War Simon Harrison,1993 Filiation And Affiliation Harold W Scheffler,2018-02-23 Announcements in the 1970s and 1980s of the death of kinship and descent as subjects of anthropological study were highly premature These subjects continue routinely to be encountered in the course of empirical ethnographic research and to be reported upon in ethnographies or they are ignored at the peril of ethnographers pathetically unprepared to deal with them Moreover considerable evidence has accumulated that systems of social relations built on relations of genealogical connection exhibit a remarkable degree of orderliness about which it is possible already to make a number of substantial empirical generalizations especially about the qualities of social relations within and between groups As the masters of the subject always stressed kinship and political and jural organization are closely interdependent structures In this wide ranging theoretical and comparative ethnographic study Harold Scheffler demonstrates that there is a simple reason why detection of this order has been too long delayed and has given rise to more destructive than to constructive debate in social anthropology

Symbolising Boundaries Anthony Paul Cohen,1986 The Greenwood Encyclopedia of Global Medieval Life and Culture Joyce E. Salisbury,Nancy Sullivan,2008-12-30 The period we know as the Middle Ages roughly the years 400 1400 saw the formation of ideas and institutions that mark modern societies Developments as disparate as the foundation of Islam and the emergence of the middle class occurred during this pivotal millennium Although historical study of the Middle Ages has traditionally focused on Western Europe modern historians recognize the complex global nature of this era For all major world regions this three volume work offers in depth essays on broad themes short entries on specific topics and carefully selected primary documents to help readers more fully understand this critically important period Edited by Joyce Salisbury who is general editor of the award winning Greenwood Encyclopedia of Daily Life and written by Professor Salisbury and a series of prominent historians with regional expertise Greenwood Encyclopedia of Global Medieval Life and Culture comprises three volumes covering the following areas of the globe Volume 1 Europe and the Americas Volume 2 Islam and Africa Volume 3 Asia and Oceania Each regional section comprises seven in depth essays covering the following broad topics and concluding with bibliographies of important and current information resources Historical Overview of the Region Religion Economy The Arts Society Science and Technology and Global Ties The Global Ties essays trace the political social economic religious technological or commercial connections that existed between the region under discussion and any other world regions during the Middle Ages Each regional section also includes a series of brief entries covering people events developments and concepts mentioned in the in depth essays Examples of entry topics include the following Berbers Emperor Harsha Ethiopian Christianity Flowery Warfare Footbinding Hildegard of Bingen Jainism Jihad Maya Collapse Neo Confucianism Romanesque and Sharia A series of sidebars in each section will provide lists graphs charts and other useful data relating to the region Each section will also be illustrated and will include a selection of interesting primary documents that further illustrate the main themes addressed in the in depth essays Cross references within the sections and a detailed subject index will also help readers access information in the essays and short entries

Delivering the Goods Colin Swatridge,1985 Landmarks Andrew Strathern,1993 Landmarks addresses a wide range of questions relevant to the recent history of anthropology and its importance to contemporary issues These questions include the significance of anthropology for Third World studies the debate on whether anthropology is a scientific or a humanistic subject anthropology as a means of reflecting on ourselves as well as others and the criticisms of anthropological work that have emerged out of postmodernism Drawing on his research findings in Papua New guinea since 1964 and his more recent work on the cross cultural study of medicine the author examines the extent to which we can achieve understanding between different cultures and the relative merits of approaches that stress indigenous categories or those of the observer He concludes that the discipline now requires reconstruction rather than deconstruction and advances the call for holistic models of human behavior which re conceptualize the relationship between body and mind

South Coast New Guinea Cultures Bruce M. Knauft,1993-03-25 The communities of south coast New Guinea were the subject of classic ethnographies and fresh studies in recent decades have put these rich and complex cultures at the centre of anthropological debates Flamboyant sexual practices such as ritual homosexuality have attracted particular interest In the first general book on the region Dr Knauft reaches striking new comparative conclusions through a careful ethnographic analysis of sexuality the status of women ritual and cosmology political economy and violence among the region s seven major language culture areas The findings suggest new Melanesian regional contrasts and provide for a general critique of the way regional comparisons are constructed in anthropology Theories of practice and political economy as well as post modern insights are drawn upon to provide a generative theory of indigenous social and symbolic development

We Are Playing Football Will Rollason,2010-10-12 Sport is an important part of the lives of rural Papua New Guineans and a significant connection to global imaginaries for economically marginal villagers Such grassroots sport however is rarely studied and has never previously been the subject of an ethnographic monograph This book represents a pioneering study of the history and effects of grassroots sport in Papua New Guinea We Are Playing Football explores Panapompom people's attempts to recreate the international game and the social and subjective effects of this effort. From a raw ethnographic starting point, the book moves through historical and interpretive materials exploring the motives, methods, and results of Panapompom people's work to recreate global images of football and to turn them to their own political ends. As the argument proceeds, we see how playing football implicates Panapompom people in circuits of domination, power, and humiliation that tether them to colonial modes of control and derogatory racist identities which they themselves reproduce in their communities. From its effects on the most intimate self-understanding through the embodied experience of playing football to the details of colonial history and the values and ideas underpinning community life, this book offers an original and challenging assessment of what it means to be globalised. It charts the new outlooks and imaginaries, the disruptions, failures, and disappointments, and above all the vital synergies between different people that define the global situation of Panapompom people.

Marxist Perspectives in Archaeology Matthew Spriggs, 1984-02-23 Marxist theory has been an undercurrent in western social science since the late nineteenth century. It came into prominence in the social sciences in the 1960s and 1970s and has had a profound effect on history, sociology, and anthropology. This book represents an attempt to gather together Marxist perspectives in archaeology and to examine whether indeed they represent advances in archaeological theory. The papers in this volume look forward to the growing use of Marxist theory by archaeologists as well as enriching archaeology as a discipline; they have important implications for sociology and anthropology through the addition of a long-term historical perspective. This is a book primarily for undergraduates and research students and their teachers in departments of archaeology and anthropology, but it should also be of interest to historians, sociologists, and geographers.

The Cambridge Handbook of Linguistic Anthropology N. J. Enfield, Paul Kockelman, Jack Sidnell, 2014-09-11 The field of linguistic anthropology looks at human uniqueness and diversity through the lens of language, our species' special combination of art and instinct. Human language both shapes and is shaped by our minds, societies, and cultural worlds. This state-of-the-field survey covers a wide range of topics, approaches, and theories such as the nature and function of language systems, the relationship between language and social interaction, and the place of language in the social life of communities. Promoting a broad vision of the subject, spanning a range of disciplines from linguistics to biology, from psychology to sociology and philosophy, this authoritative handbook is an essential reference guide for students and researchers working on language and culture across the social sciences.
