Feinberg,2002 One of the great unsolved mysteries is how the brain creates the subjective sense of a unifies self In Altered Egos Feinberg a psychiatrist and neurologist addresses this question by considering how the human brain functions and malfunctions in patients with neurological perturbations of the self He goes on to present a new theory of the self that links the brain with unique characteristics of the mind such as meaning purpose and being He explains why the self and the mind are uniquely personal constituents of the life of the individual Keepers of Life Michael J. Caduto,Joseph Bruchac,1998 This interdisciplinary curriculum in botany and plant ecology focuses on environmental and stewardship issues using the framework of Native American stories as an introduction to the topics A Field Guide to Eastern Forests, North America John C. Kricher,1998 Provides an introduction to patterns of forest ecology looks at each of the major forest types of eastern North America examines changes that occur as abandoned fields turn into forests features background on the process of adaptation and natural selection and describes forest changes in each of the four seasons Science 5 Unit B :Interactions of Living Things □□□,2004 Understanding Primary Science Martin Wenham,2004-12-08 This is a useful and interesting resource book for primary teachers and would help to develop their knowledge and teaching of science I will certainly be using it to inform my planning and teaching of the subject Juliette Green Primary School Teacher Environmental Education This book clearly goes some way to achieving its goal of enabling the effective teaching of science at primary level Primary Science Review Every teacher however well trained in science will have areas of uncertain understanding This book is a prime resource for primary teachers of readable accurate and relevant explanations of scientific phenomena supported by impressively clear drawings It has been revised to include recent scientific developments such as DNA and environmental issues and continues to give sound advice about likely misconceptions whilst maintaining its focus on explaining the science for teachers Wynne Harlen Professor in Education University of Bristol In a thoroughly revised and updated version this standard reference book provides the background knowledge teachers need in order to plan effective programmes of work and answer children's questions with confidence It is based on the belief that children learn most effectively when they can interpret their own experiences and investigation in scientific terms The content of this book has been guided but not limited by the National Curriculum NC and the detailed requirements for teacher knowledge of the Teacher Training Agency TTA It sets out the facts develops the concepts and explains the theories which pupils at primary level including older and very able children are likely to need in order to understand the observations and investigations they undertake For this edition some new topics have been added in response not only to TTA requirements and ongoing developments in science and technology but also to the queries of children and teachers about observations they find relevant and puzzling Throughout topics are developed in ways which teachers and children can relate to their own experience The text does not assume specialised scientific knowledge and wherever possible explanations and the development of ideas begin and remain firmly in contact with everyday events and observations What is assumed is that readers will be willing to try things out for themselves and think afresh in scientific terms about experiences they and their pupils now take for granted As a work of reference to answer specific questions and clarify ideas or as a resource for planning an effective primary science programme this is an essential book for teachers student teachers and anyone interested in the roots and growth of science education
