Nerney, Hal Taussig,2002 Well written and highly accessible this book interweaves a thorough review of developments in Christian community from the first century to the present with powerful new discoveries in scriptural theological and historical research that has uncovered deep communal strands in the foundational literature and notions of Christianity The result is a profound call for the renewal of Christian community and churches as crucial models and inspirations for the new search for wholeness in America Re-Imagining Democracy in the Mediterranean, 1780-1860

Joanna Innes, Mark Philp,2018-10-25 Mediterranean states are often thought to have democratised only in the post war era as authoritarian regimes were successively overthrown On its eastern and southern shores the process is still contested Re imagining Democracy looks back to an earlier era the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries and argues it was this era when some modern version of democracy in the region first began By the 1860s representative regimes had been established throughout southern Europe and representation was also the subject of experiment and debate in Ottoman territories Talk of democracy its merits and limitations accompanied much of this experimentation though there was no agreement as to whether or how it could be given stable political form Re imagining Democracy assembles experts in the history of the Mediterranean who have been exploring these themes collaboratively to compare and contrast experiences in this region so that they can be set alongside better known debates and experiments in North Atlantic states States in the region all experienced some form of subordination to northern great powers In this context their inhabitants had to grapple with broader changes in ideas about state and society while struggling to achieve and maintain meaningful self rule at the level of the polity and self respect at the level of culture Innes and Philip highlight new research and ideas about a region whose experiences during the age of revolutions are at best patchily known and understood as well as to expand understanding of the complex and variegated history of democracy as an idea and set of practices Re-Membering and

Re-Imagining Community and Civil Society in Latin America and the Caribbean Roberta Rice, Gordana Yovanovich, 2016-07-15 Latin American and Caribbean communities and civil societies are undergoing a rapid process of transformation Instead of pervasive social atomization political apathy and hollowed out democracies which have become the norm in some parts of the world this region is witnessing an emerging collaboration between community civil society and government that is revitalizing democracy This book argues that a key explanation lies in the powerful and positive relationship between community and civil society that exists in the region The ideas of community and civil society tend to be studied separately as analytically distinct concepts however this volume seeks to explore their potential to work together A unique contribution of the work is the space for dialogue it creates between the social sciences and the humanities Many of the studies included in the volume are based on primary fieldwork and place based case studies Others relate literature music and film to important theoretical works providing a new direction in interdisciplinary studies and highlighting the role that the arts play in community revival and broader processes of social change A truly multi disciplinary book bridging established notions of civil society and community through an authentically interdisciplinary approach to the topic

Reimagining Ministerial Formation David Heywood,2021-04-30 The Church is currently experiencing a transition in the way it understands and practises both mission and ministry It is to be outward looking engaging with the wider community involving all its members in mission and clergy are to play the role of enablers and equippers of the ministry of the whole church However ministerial formation in colleges and courses throughout the country lags behind this emerging consensus Theological education is still largely based on academic models Reimagining Ministerial Formation offers a new way forward where ministry comes to be about the whole church and ministerial formation is about collaboration between clergy and laity It argues strongly for a shift away from front loaded training to a new focus on formation as a life long process

Doing Ministry in the Igbo Context Cajetan E. Ebuziem, 2011 Doing Ministry in the Igbo Context Towards an Emerging Model and Method for the Church in Africa arises out of reflection on experience and practice The volume reflects on the author's own cultural context religious heritage and pastoral functioning In addition it considers the author's personal experiences in relation to the common experiences of others within the author's cultural and religious traditions and places these experiences and the voices they represent into mutually critical correlation Thus commonalities and dissonances in them emerge leading to insights where to go from there in providing ministry to the People of God in the local church context and still within the framework of one universal church This book presents a contextual model of local theology that begins its reflection with the Igbo cultural context The Igbo or Nigerian or African Church can have a pattern of ministry with a model and a method that are consistent with the people's values To accomplish this goal a local cultural value must be explored and brought into the scene Since the Igbo society is the heart of Christianity and Catholicism in Africa the author relies on Igboland as his situational context The exploration of the indigenous Igbo value of collaboration will be an advantage in ministering to the rest of the African people who have cultural resemblances to Igbos The African Church has to learn from the Igbo values of umunna bu ike Umunna is the basic Igbo unit and possibly the most powerful missionary force in Igboland and potentially an Igbo gift to the Church in Nigeria and Africa and even beyond Back cover
