The authors employ a cognitive approach that involves identifying why small firms are reluctant to register patents resorting rather to alternative IP competitive strategies. This in turn results in the undercapitalization of intellectual assets thus creating hurdles for the development of capital venture markets. Using new data gathered from highly innovative SMEs in Latin America and the Caribbean the authors bring a fresh cognitive approach towards understanding the institutional role of intellectual property and outline various new policy recommendations Encyclopedia of History of American Management Morgen Witzel, 2005-05-15
