Materials Performance, 1999      Essentials of Modern Materials Science and Engineering James A.

Newell, 2008-12-15 This book begins with four fundamental tenants The properties of a material are determined by its structure Processing can alter that structure in specific and predictable ways The behavior of materials is grounded in science and is understandable The properties of all materials change over time with use and exposure to environmental conditions When selecting a material sufficient and appropriate testing must be performed to insure that the material will remain suitable throughout the reasonable life of the product This text assumes that the students are at least sophomores so that they are familiar with basic chemical bonding and the periodic table But it is an introductory materials course so there will be no differential equations percolation theory quantum mechanics statistical thermodynamics or other advanced topics The book is designed as an introduction to the field not a comprehensive guide to all materials science knowledge Instead of going into great detail in many areas the book provides key concepts and fundamentals students need to understand materials science and make informed decisions An example of the philosophy is found in the materials testing section Although countless variations exist in testing techniques the chapter focuses on operating principles and the property to be measured rather than confusing the student with exposition on variations and exceptions That material is beyond the scope of most introductory courses      Proceedings of the 2023 8th International Conference on Modern Management and Education Technology (MMET 2023) Hafizoah Kassim, Nadeem Malik, Premkumar Rajagopal, Manjet Kaur Mehar

Chowdhury, 2010 An information retrieval IR system is designed to analyse process and store sources of information and retrieve those that match a particular user's requirements A bewildering range of techniques is now available to the information professional attempting to successfully retrieve information. It is recognized that today's information professionals need to concentrate their efforts on learning the techniques of computerized IR. However, it is this book's contention that it also benefits them to learn the theory, techniques, and tools that constitute the traditional approaches to the organization and processing of information. In fact, much of this knowledge may still be applicable in the storage and retrieval of electronic information in digital library environments. The fully revised third edition of this highly regarded textbook has been thoroughly updated to incorporate major changes in this rapidly expanding field since the second edition in 2004, and a complete new chapter on citation indexing has been added. Unique in its scope, the book covers the whole spectrum of information storage and retrieval, including users of IR and IR options, database technology, bibliographic formats, cataloguing and metadata, subject analysis and representation, automatic indexing and file organization, vocabulary control, abstracts and indexing, searching and retrieval, user-centred models of IR and user interfaces, evaluation of IR systems and evaluation experiments, online and CD-ROM IR, multimedia IR, hypertext and mark-up languages, web IR, intelligent IR, natural language processing and its applications in IR, citation analysis and IR, IR in digital libraries and trends in IR research. Illustrated with many examples and comprehensively referenced for an international audience, this is an indispensable textbook for students of library and information studies. It is also an invaluable aid for information practitioners wishing to brush up on their skills and keep up to date with the latest techniques.
