Ivrit's Place in the Dual Curriculum Model of Orthodox Jewish High Schools in North America Reuven Chaim (Rudolph) Klein,2021-11-11 The dual curriculum model ubiquitous to Orthodox Jewish day schools in North America typically bifurcates into religious Judaic studies and general studies While most classes generally fit into one of those two halves of the curriculum some classes are not intuitively categorized as wholly belonging to one part over the other One of those classes is Ivrit Modern Hebrew This study aims to describe Ivrit s place in the dual curriculum model and the various factors that contribute to that reality by exploring the context in which Ivrit emerged as a subject matter for Orthodox schools and seeking to identify trends in the ways Ivrit is taught This paper lays out the theories behind how ideology influences curriculum formation and documents how Hebrew has fit into the curriculum of Jewish Education throughout the ages It also provides a picture of the particular context of North American Orthodox Jewry that this study focuses on as well as a review of the different theories behind Hebrew education heritage language vs communicative language With this theoretical background in hand this dissertation surveyed 36 Orthodox high schools in North America to better understand how they viewed Ivrit s place and shows that ultimately this subject s place in the dual curriculum model remains ambiguous Documenting how Ivrit is taught and examining the reasons as to why Ivrit is taught helped shed light on Ivrit s precarious place in the dual curriculum model as some of those policies techniques motives seem to line up with the aims of the Judaic studies curriculum while others seemingly reflect the goals of the general studies curriculum budding speech community linguistic processes did not necessarily evolve in a linear manner blurring the distinction between true and apparent historical continuity The emergent language s standardization involved the restructuring of linguistic habits that had initially taken root among the first speakers often leading to a retreat from early contact induced or non classical phenomena Yael Reshef demonstrates that as a result superficial similarity to earlier forms of Hebrew did not necessarily stem from continuity and deviation from canonical Hebrew features does not necessarily stem from change
