Django: A Small Dog with a Big Heart Peter Comley, 2020-12-01 1980s Maun is reminiscent of Sir Percy Fitzpatrick's 1880s Barberton and Django is no less of a character than the legendary Jock of the Bushveld Named for the hero in a spaghetti western and oblivious to his diminutive statue Django a Jack Russell cross squares up to the challenges life as a safari guide's dog throws at him As a pup he puts the ferocious Pitbull terrier Buford firmly in his place the only other animal to have done so was a hyena Django's baptism to life in the bush takes place at the tender age of not quite a year old With Peter and Salome he embarks on an arduous trek through the Okavango Delta and it is here that his humans quickly learn to heed his warnings and pay careful attention to his intuition Over the years and as he notches up safaris Django develops a keen understanding of life in the bush his nose eyes and ears are an early warning radar system to the less in tune humans and many is the time that his sharp sense of danger saves lives These are wild remote parts of southern Africa angry buffalo venomous snakes and stampeding herds of elephant are common if unsuspectingly stumbled upon Django holds his own in the face of a lion charge and endears himself to the locals of these sacred lands In his travels he wins the hearts of a tribe of Kalahari Bushmen descendants of the oldest people on earth In the Namib Desert he encounters the red ochre adorned Himba people who try to claim him for their own and while venturing into the remote Kaokoveld he befriends the most endangered tribe in Africa In one interlude in the depths of Barotseland Zambia a young boy influenced by tribal lore regarding the white man flees screaming in fear of being eaten by these strange white skinned people and their dog As the shared adventures in this odyssey unfold the reader cannot help but fall hopelessly in love with the intelligence and charm of this plucky terrier His adventures are woven into an enthralling tapestry that reveals a host of intriguing colourful characters an understanding of the hyper specialized ecological system of the Delta and some truly hilarious encounters Praise for Django a wonderful read an experience more than just a read actually Trish Frielinghaus One of the greatest pleasure of reviewing books for publishers is when really great ones come along this is one Django by Peter Comley Lesley Cripps Thomson magic book with a free flowing writing style very Bill Bryson with a proper African view I feel I knew Django Julian Hill Wonderful and so beautifully and wittily written Great treat Heather MacDonald We very much enjoyed the delightful story of Django Anthony and Sandy Collier Coyote at the Dog Show Walter Max

Poitzsch,2012-12-29 Briefly the book is a collection of poems and stories I wrote over a period of about twenty years They are all fiction although they are based on people I have known and events that I witnessed I am trying to find good qualities in people even if their opinions are very different from mine The coyote in the title poem is someone rejected by most of society Only when someone designated to be his enemy recognizes qualities that he can admire in the coyote does the rest of society come to appreciate the coyote In later stories people like Leviticus Carp who can be a very objectionable person reveal their inner good qualities in time for them to be reconciled with the larger society from which they are alienated often through their own preference I am also trying to describe places and events that I have seen Field & Stream ,1974-01 FIELD STREAM America s largest outdoor sports magazine celebrates the outdoor experience with great stories compelling photography and sound advice while honoring the traditions hunters and fishermen have passed down for generations aestheticized city With more than eighty five languages being spoken in its classrooms and one homogeneous visual language emanating from its entertainment industry LA radically challenges the prospects of that archaic representational medium literature In its investigation of the work of Bret Easton Ellis James Ellroy Anna Deveare Smith and others Literature and Race in Los Angeles articulates their aesthetic preoccupations with the structures of social space in the city Harnessing some of the theoretical insights of Henri Lefebvre and the LA school of geographers Murphet demonstrates the versatility of literary production in LA and speculates about the fortunes of literature in a predominantly visual culture The Comfort
