Green Asia Tania Lewis, 2016-09-13 Economic development in Asia is associated with expanding urbanism overconsumption and a steep growth in living standards At the same time rapid urbanisation changing class consciousness and a new rural urban divide in the region have led to fundamental shifts in the way ecological concerns are articulated politically and culturally Moreover these changes are often viewed through a Western moralistic lens which at the same time applauds Asia's economic growth as the welcome reviver of a floundering world economy and simultaneously condemns this growth as encouraging hyperconsumerism and a rupture with more natural ways of living This book presents an analysis of a range of practices and activities from across Asia that demonstrate that people in Asia are alert to ecological concerns that they are taking action to implement new styles of green living and that Asia offers interesting alternatives to narrow Anglo American models of sustainable living Subjects explored include eco tourism in the Philippines green co operatives in Korea the importance of tradition within Asian discourses of sustainability and much more

Geographic Names of the Antarctic Fred G. Alberts, 1995 A Polar Affair Lloyd Spencer Davis, 2019-09-03 A captivating blend of true adventure and natural history by one of today's leading penguin experts and Antarctic explorers George Murray Levick was the physician on Robert Falcon Scott's tragic Antarctic expedition of 1910. Marooned for an Antarctic winter, Levick passed the time by becoming the first man to study penguins up close. His findings were so shocking to Victorian morals that they were quickly suppressed and seemingly lost to history. A century later, Lloyd Spencer Davis rediscovers Levick and his findings during the course of his own scientific adventures in Antarctica. Levick's long-suppressed manuscript reveals not only an incredible survival story but one that will change our understanding of an entire species. A Polar Affair reveals the last untold tale from the Heroic Age of Antarctic Exploration. It is perhaps the greatest of all of those stories, but why was it hidden to begin with? The ever-fascinating and charming penguin holds the key. Moving deftly between both Levick's and Davis's explorations, observations, and comparisons in biology over the course of a century, A Polar Affair reveals cutting-edge findings about ornithology in which the sex lives of penguins are the jumping-off point for major new insights into the underpinnings of evolutionary biology itself. The ARRL Operating Manual for Radio Amateurs Mark J. Wilson, 2007. If you're an active ham radio operator, you probably have a story about your first radio contact. Many hams remember that experience even more than their first license examination. Sharing Spaces Finn Arne Jørgensen, Dolly Jørgensen, 2024-11-12. Human and animal lives intersect whether through direct physical contact or by inhabiting the same space at a different time. Environmental humanities scholars have begun investigating these relationships through the emerging field of multispecies studies, building on decades of work in animal history, feminist studies, and Indigenous epistemologies. Contributors to this volume consider the entangled human-animal relationships of a complex multispecies world where domesticated animals, wild animals, and people cross paths, creating hybrid naturecultures. Technology, they argue, structures how animals and humans share spaces. From clothing to cars to computers, technology acts as a mediator and connector of lives across time and space. It facilitates ways of looking at, measuring, moving, and killing, as well as controlling, containing, conserving, and cooperating with animals. Sharing Spaces challenges us to analyze how technology shapes human relationships with the nonhuman world, exploring nonhuman animals as kin, companions, food transgressors, entertainment, and tools.
