Regaining Paradise Englishness And The Early Garden City Movement:

Regaining Paradise Standish Meacham, Professor Standish Meacham, 1999-01-01 A consideration of the British social reform movement at the beginning of the 20th century through the lens of the Garden City Movement This was a plan to build new communities on open land to provide a healthy aesthetically pleasing environment free from overcrowding and pollution

Physical Culture and the Biopolitics of the International Garden City Movement Samuel M. Clevenger, 2025-05-25 This book revisits the history of the international garden city town planning movement in the early twentieth century focusing on the significance of various forms of physical culture sport recreation leisure and other active body practices within garden city planning discourse and the development of some of the first garden city communities in the United Kingdom and United States

Masques, Mayings and Music-dramas Roger Savage, 2014 Masques Mayings and Music Dramas comprises a sequence of in depth case studies of significant aspects of early twentieth century English music theatre Vaughan Williams forms a central thread in this discussion and Stratford upon Avon serves as a geographical focus point for mediating conflicting visions of an English musical tradition But the reach of the book is much wider shedding new light on English Wagnerism at Glastonbury especially and on the reception of Wagner's ideas as a point of emulation and resistance No less significant is the discussion of Purcell and the seventeenth century masque one of the primary sources for reimagining an English dramatic tradition and the more familiar images of the May festival the Mummers play and the pageant play which are tellingly recontextualised The book also looks at the associations between Vaughan Williams the theatre artist Edward Gordon Craig and the impresario Serge Diaghilev The sequence is framed by the image of the pilgrim vagabond Vaughan Williams's setting of the poetry of Matthew Arnold and Robert Louis Stevenson as a metaphor and paradigm for his creative career and personal progress The book not only sheds light on the activities and ambitions of principal agents but also illuminates a particularly dynamic moment in the reemergence of a distinctively English music theatrical practice one especially concerned with calling on aspects of the past to help to secure a worthwhile future Notions of Englishness turn out to be less insular than sometimes thought and the idea of a musical renaissance more complex when the case studies are understood in their proper historical context Scholars and students of twentieth century English music theatre and opera will find this volume indispensable Roger Savage is Honorary Fellow in English Literature at the University of Edinburgh He has published widely on theatre and its interface with music from the baroque to the twentieth century in leading journals and books

Domestic Wild: Memory, Nature and Gardening in Suburbia Franklin Ginn, 2016-06-23 In Domestic Wild Franklin Ginn sets out to find a new sense of the wild at the heart of modernity Inspired by experienced skilful gardeners Ginn analyses what happens when plants animals and people meet in the suburbs of London Weaving major theories of landscape memory and nonhuman subjectivity with the practical wisdom of gardeners this book offers a radical new account of everyday gardening Amid spectacular horizons of planetary loss Domestic Wild argues that gardening offers a means to cultivate a renewed sense of intimacy with nature and ourselves

The Ecologies of Amateur Theatre Helen Nicholson, Nadine Holdsworth, Jane Milling, 2018-10-26 This book is the first major study of amateur theatre offering new perspectives on its place in the cultural and social life of communities Historically informed it traces how amateur theatre has impacted national repertoires contributed to diverse creative economies and responded to changing patterns of labour Based on extensive archival and ethnographic research it traces the importance of amateur theatre to crafting places and the ways in which it sustains the creativity of amateur theatre over a lifetime It asks how does amateur theatre making contribute to the twenty first century amateur turn

Cities of Affluence and Anger Peter J. Kalliney, 2007 Providing a compact literary history of the twentieth century in England Cities of Affluence and Anger studies the problematic terms of national identity during England's transition from an imperial power to its integration in the global cultural marketplace While the countryside had been the dominant symbol of Englishness throughout the previous century modern literature began to turn more and more to the city to redraw the boundaries of a contemporary cultural polity The urban class system paradoxically still functioned as a marker of wealth status and hierarchy throughout this long period of self examination but it also became a way to project a common culture and mitigate other forms of difference Local class politics were transformed in such a way that enabled the English to reframe a highly provisional national unity in the context of imperial disintegration postcolonial immigration and later globalization Kalliney plots the decline of the country house novel through an analysis of Forster's Howards End and Waugh's Brideshead Revisited each ruthless in its sabotage of the trope of bucolic harmony The traditionally pastoral focus of English fiction gives way to a high modernist urban narrative exemplified by Woolf's Mrs Dalloway and later to realists such as Osborne and Sillitoe through whose work Kalliney explores postwar urban expansion and the cultural politics of the welfare state Offering fresh new readings of Lessing's The Golden Notebook and Rushdie's The Satanic Verses the author considers the postwar appropriation of domesticity the emergence of postcolonial literature and the renovation of travel narratives in the context of globalization Kalliney suggests that it is largely one city London through which national identity has been reframed How and why this transition came about is a process that Cities of Affluence and Anger depicts with exceptional insight and originality

City and Regional Planning Richard LeGates, 2022-12-30 City and Regional Planning provides a clearly written and lavishly illustrated overview of the theory and practice of city and regional planning With material on globalization and the world city system and with examples from a number of countries the book has been written to meet the needs of readers worldwide who seek an overview of city and regional planning Chapters cover the history of cities and city and regional planning urban design and placemaking comprehensive plans planning politics and plan implementation planning visions and environmental transportation and housing planning The book pays special attention to diversity social justice and collaborative planning Topics include current practice in resilience transit oriented development complexity in planning spatial equity globalization and advances in planning methods It is aimed at U S graduate and undergraduate city and regional planning geography urban design urban studies civil engineering and other students and practitioners It includes extensive material on current practice in planning for climate change Each chapter includes a case study a biography of an important planner lists of concepts and important people and a list of books articles videos and other suggestions for further learning Cultivating Nature Sarah R. Hamilton, 2018-04-15 Winner of the 2019 Turku Book Award from the European Society for Environmental History The Albufera Natural Park an area ten kilometers south of Valencia that is widely regarded as the birthplace of paella has long been prized by residents and visitors alike Since the twentieth century the disparate visions of city dwellers farmers fishermen scientists politicians and tourists have made this working landscape a site of ongoing conflict over environmental conservation in Europe the future of Spain and Valencian identity In Cultivating Nature Sarah Hamilton explores the Albufera's contested lands and waters which have supported and been transformed by human activity for a millennium in order to understand regional national and global social histories She argues that efforts to preserve biological and cultural diversity must incorporate the interests of those who live within heavily modified and long exploited ecosystems such as the Albufera de Valencia Shifting between local struggles and global debates this fascinating environmental history reveals how Franco's dictatorship Spain's integration with Europe and the crisis in European agriculture have shaped the Albufera its users and its inhabitants Unsettling the City Nicholas Blomley, 2004-06 Contemporary capitalism has produced gentrification socio spatial stratification and racial inequality In this book Nicholas Blomley shows how the concept of property helps to generate and underwrite these pervasive urban processes Ebenezer Howard Frances Knight, 2023 Ebenezer Howard 1850-1928 is famous worldwide for founding the Garden City movement and interest in him remains strong This is the first full scale biography to be published since the 1980s It explains the remarkable sequence of events that led from the publication of his ideas to the foundation of Letchworth as the world's First Garden City just five years later and it explores other neglected aspects of Howard's life particularly his religious views Shaped in the world of London Congregationalism he became a keen seeker after unity and peace He grafted new religious ideas particularly from Spiritualism and later from Theosophy into his biblically informed Protestant faith Prone to spiritual epiphanies he believed that he had been raised up to preach the gospel of the garden city and to tackle the housing crisis by beginning to build the New Jerusalem in the Hertfordshire countryside Although he sometimes appeared naïve he was astute and highly skilled at combining different and sometimes conflicting ideas in a way that built consensus and gained support from people across the social and political spectrum Howard wanted his garden cities to be places of spiritual exploration and as this book shows early Letchworth certainly lived up to those expectations The English Countryside Between the Wars Paul Brassley, Jeremy Burchardt, Lynne Thompson, 2006 Organised into sections on society culture politics and the economy and embracing subjects as diverse as women novelists and village crafts this book argues that almost everywhere we look in the countryside between the wars there were signs of new growth and dynamic development

Empires of Antiquities Billie Melman, 2020 Empires of Antiquities is a history of the rediscovery of the imperial civilizations of the ancient Near East in a modern imperial order that evolved between the outbreak of the First World War and the decolonization of the British Empire in the 1950s It explores the ways in which near eastern antiquity was redefined and experienced becoming the subject of imperial regulation modes of enquiry and international and national politics Billie Melman follows a series of globally publicized spectacular archaeological discoveries in Iraq Egypt and Palestine which made antiquity material visible and accessible as never before She demonstrates that the new definition and uses of antiquity and their relations to modernity were inseparable from the emergence of the post war international imperial order transnational collaboration and crises the aspirations of national groups and collisions between them and the British mandates This study uniquely combines a history of the internationalization of archaeology and the rise of a new regime of antiquities under the oversight of the League of Nations and its institutions a history of British attitudes to and passion for near eastern antiquity and on the ground colonial policies and mechanisms as well as nationalist claims on the past It points at the centrality of the new mandate system Drawing on an unusually wide range of materials collected in archives in six countries as well as on material and visual evidence this volume weaves together imperial international and national histories and the history of archaeological discovery which it connects to imperial modernity

The Great Tradition Anthony Brundage, Richard A. Cosgrove, 2007 This book examines the prominent role played by constitutional history from 1870 to 1960 in the creation of a positive sense of identity for Britain and the United States

How the Country House Became English Stephanie Barczewski, 2023-09-19 The story of how the country house historically a site of violent disruption came to symbolize English stability during the eighteenth century Country houses are quintessentially English not only architecturally but also in that they embody national values of continuity and insularity The English country house however has more often been the site of violent disruption than continuous peace So how is it that the country house came to represent an uncomplicated nostalgic vision of English history This book explores the evolution of the country house beginning with the Reformation and Civil War and shows how the political events of the eighteenth century which culminated in the reaction against the French Revolution led to country houses being recast as symbols of England's political stability

Garden cities and colonial planning Liora Bigon, Yossi Katz, 2016-05-16 This collection is a study of the process by which European planning concepts and practices were transmitted diffused and diverted in various colonial territories and situations The socio political geographical and cultural implications are analysed here through case studies from the global South namely from French and British colonial territories in Africa as well as from Ottoman and British Mandate Palestine The book focuses on the transnational aspects of the garden city taking into account frameworks and documentation that extend beyond national borders and includes contributions from an international network of specialists Their comparative views and geographical focus challenge the conventional Eurocentric approach to garden cities and will interest students and scholars of planning history and colonial history Britishness Since 1870 Paul Ward, 2004-04-15 Examines the definition and redefinition of Britishness since the 1870s and looks at how Britishness has adapted to changing circumstances over time Hilton Village John V.

Quarstein, 2018 Newport News Virginia Established in 1918 Hilton Village was the first public housing project built in the United States Spurred on by Newport News Shipbuilding president Homer Ferguson it was created to house shipyard workers during World War I The village was the city's first planned community and its first National Register of Historic Places district Hilton's distinctive cottage style architecture reminiscent of an English village is one of the first examples of the New Urbanism and Garden City movements in America Along the tree lined streets are homes and shops that might have been pulled from a Dickens novel The vision of the leaders who crafted Hilton Village the shipyard's Ferguson Harvard University town planner Henry Hubbard and world renowned architect Francis Joannes remains apparent Page 4 of cover

The Modernist Novel and the Decline of Empire John Marx, 2005-12-08 In the early twentieth century subjects of the British Empire ceased to rely on a model of centre and periphery in imagining their world and came instead to view it as an interconnected network of cosmopolitan people and places English language and literature were promoted as essential components of a commercial cultural and linguistic network that spanned the globe John Marx argues that the early twentieth century was a key moment in the emergence of modern globalization rather than simply a period of British imperial decline Modernist fiction was actively engaged in this transformation of society on an international scale The very stylistic abstraction that seemed to remove modernism from social reality in fact internationalized the English language Rather than mapping the decline of Empire modernist novelists such as Conrad and Woolf celebrated the shared culture of the English language as more important than the waning imperial structures of Britain Topothesia Ameeth Vijay, 2023-05-02

SHORTLISTED 2024 MSA FIRST BOOK PRIZE Topothesia reads urban planning as a mode of speculative fiction one inextricably linked to histories of British colonialism and liberalism through a particular understanding of place The book focuses on town planning from the late nineteenth century to the present day showing how the contemporary geography of Britain sharply unequal and marked by racial division continues ideologies of place established in colonial contexts Specifically planning allows for the speculative construction of future places that are both utopian in their ability to resolve political disagreement and at the same tantalizingly realizable able to be produced in concrete reality This speculative imaginary I argue is only possible within the ideological framework of colonialism and the history of empire within which it developed Topothesia refers to a rhetorical device employing the vivid depiction of an often imaginary place This device Vijay shows helps us understand urban planning as a narrative genre one that even in its most mundane documents is compelled to produce elaborate fantasies of future places The book examines specific planning movements over time to understand the form and the stakes of their speculative worlds In building these worlds the book shows planners continually coopted literary critiques of the present and reveries of the future retaining literature's aesthetics while eschewing its politics. At the same time Vijay shows writers and artists have dwelled within and against these colonial imaginaries to seek other means of representing place. Ecology and the Literature of the British Left H. Gustav Klaus, Valentine Cunningham, 2016-04-29

Premised on the belief that a social and an ecological agenda are compatible this collection offers readings in the ecology of left and radical writing from the Romantic period to the present. While early ecocriticism tended to elide the bitter divisions within and between societies recent practitioners of ecofeminism environmental justice and social ecology have argued that the social the economic and the environmental have to be seen as part of the same process. Taking up this challenge the contributors trace the origins of an environmental sensibility and of the modern left to their roots in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries charting the ways in which the literary imagination responds to the political industrial and agrarian revolutions. Topics include Samuel Taylor Coleridge's credentials as a green writer the interaction between John Ruskin's religious and political ideas and his changing view of nature William Morris and the Garden City movement H G Wells and the Fabians the devastated landscapes in the poetry and fiction of the First World War and the leftist pastoral poetry of the 1930s. In historicizing and connecting environmentally sensitive literature with socialist thought these essays explore the interactive vision of nature and society in the work of writers ranging from William Wordsworth and John Clare to John Berger and John Burnside.
