Search For Modernity Chinese Intellectuals And Cultural Discourse In The Post Mao Era:

The Search for Modernity Min Lin, Maria Galikowski, 1999 Over the last twenty years Chinese intellectuals have actively participated in the re construction of a new multi dimensional intellectual discourse generated from the complex interaction between intellectual ideas and social context Virtually every major modern Western current of thought has exerted an impact on the development of this discourse from Enlightenment rationalism to postmodern theories The Search for Modernity looks at the changing relationship between Chinese intellectuals and society and examines the role of Chinese intellectuals in the turbulent process of modernization comparing them to their Western counterparts Intellectuals in China are facing a period of confusion and uncertainty during this time of transition The Search for Modernity is an important attempt to understand the philosophical dilemmas and challenges facing Chinese intellectuals as they define the issues of modernity within a global context their self identity and their role in a changing Chinese society The Intellectual Foundations of Chinese Modernity Edmund S. K. Fung, 2010-03-22 In the early twentieth century China was on the brink of change Different ideologies those of radicalism conservatism liberalism and social democracy were much debated in political and intellectual circles Whereas previous works have analyzed these trends in isolation Edmund S K Fung shows how they related to one another and how intellectuals in China engaged according to their cultural and political persuasions The author argues that it is this interrelatedness and interplay between different schools of thought that are central to the understanding of Chinese modernity for many of the debates that began in the Republican era still resonate in China today The book charts the development of these ideologies and explores the work and influence of the intellectuals who were associated with them In its challenge to previous scholarship and the breadth of its approach the book makes a major contribution to the study of Chinese political philosophy and intellectual history Discourse, Politics and Media in Contemporary China Qing Cao, Hailong Tian, Paul Chilton, 2014-04-23 After three and a half decades of economic reforms radical changes have occurred in all aspects of life in China In an authoritarian society these changes are mediated significantly through the power of language carefully controlled by the political elites Discourse as a way of speaking and doing things has become an indispensable instrument for the authority to manage a fluid increasingly fragmented but highly dynamic and yet fragile society Written by an international team of leading scholars this volume examines socio political transformations of contemporary Chinese society through a systematic account analysis and assessment of its salient discourses and their production circulation negotiation and consequences In particular the volume focuses on the interplay of politics and media The book s intended readership is academics and students of Chinese studies language and discourse and media and communication studies Voices from the Chinese Century Joshua A. Fogel, Timothy Cheek, David Ownby, 2019-11-19 China s increasing prominence on the global stage has caused consternation and controversy among Western thinkers especially since the financial crisis of 2008 But what do Chinese intellectuals themselves have to say about their country's newfound influence and power Voices from the Chinese Century brings together a selection of essays from representative leading thinkers that open a window into public debate in China today on fundamental questions of China and the world past present and future The voices in this volume include figures from each of China's main intellectual clusters liberals the New Left and New Confucians In genres from scholarly analyses to social media posts often using Party approved language that hides indirect criticism these essayists offer a wide range of perspectives on how to understand China's history and its place in the twenty first century world They explore questions such as the relationship of political and economic reforms the distinctiveness of China's history and what to take from its traditions what can or should be learned from the West and how China fits into today's eruption of populist anger and challenges to the global order The fifteen original translations in this volume not only offer insight into contemporary China but also prompt us to ask what Chinese intellectuals might have to teach Europe and North America about the world's most pressing problems

Intercultural Aesthetics Antoon van den Braembussche, Heinz Kimmerle, Nicole Note, 2008-12-03 In this book the editors brought together outstanding articles concerning intercultural aesthetics The concept Intercultural aesthetics creates a home space for an artistic cross fertilization between cultures and for heterogeneity but it is also firmly linked with the intercultural turn within Western and non Western philosophy The book is divided into two parts yet one can sense a clear unity throughout the whole book This unity is related to the underlying subject that the different authors each in their own way and from their own background try to reveal They use related and overlapping terms such as the suchness of things dancing and shaping lives presenting a meaning beyond words presenting the unrepresentable experiencing in order to bring to our awareness the genuine importance of the non conceptual next to the conceptual Several authors moreover take on a reflective and at times even a self reflective stance pointing to the intrinsic relation between cultural aesthetics and ethics making this book unique in its kind

Intellectuals at a Crossroads Zhidong Hao, 2012-02-01 Zhidong Hao's fascinating book Intellectuals at a Crossroads examines groups of contemporary Chinese intellectuals their successes failures identity contradictions and ethical dilemmas Three categories of intellectuals are studied organic intellectuals who serve specific interests from government and business to working class movements critical intellectuals who defy authority with continued social criticism and unattached intellectuals who are fast being professionalized Using a historical comparative approach enhanced with demographic and rare interview data the book bridges the traditional with the modern and the Chinese with the foreign by exploring how these intellectuals are adapting to their roles and influencing political economic and social change in the new China

Theosis, Sino-Christian Theology and the Second Chinese Enlightenment A. Chow, 2013-05-07 For a millennium and a half in China Christianity has been perceived as a foreign religion for a foreign people This volume investigates various historical attempts to articulate a Chinese Christianity comparing the roles that Western and Latin forms of Christian theology have played with the potential role of Eastern Orthodox theology

Genomics In Asia Margaret

Sleeboom-Faulkner, 2012-11-12 Genomics in Asia focuses on issues dealing with the development and application of molecular biology and bioengineering technologies in Asian societies and cultures. The workshop on which this book is based aimed to gain an insight into bioethical issues with relation to the dynamics of Asian societies, cultures and religions. It was to generate debate on Asian Genomics and create a basis for comparative research into the relationship between the development and application of modern genetics, cultural values and local interests in Asian societies. The papers first of all reflect a great variety of bioethical views discussed from the angle of different disciplinary and cultural backgrounds, creating a basis on which a further comparison between different local knowledge systems in relation to genomic practices will be feasible. This book provides insights on research into the social, political and ethical aspects of genomics and reflects the bioethical experiences of researchers from Japan, China, the Philippines, Thailand, Taiwan, Pakistan, India and Malaysia. The subjects of discussion vary from genetics in China to religious perspectives on cloning and genetic therapy. Themes include the commercial and medical application of new bioengineering technologies such as the impact of preventive genetic medicine, genetic counselling, genetically modified organisms (GMOs) and stem cell research on wealth distribution, cultural traditions, social well-being and political and legal regulations and institutions. In the study of bioengineering in Asia, various perspectives were brought together at a concrete research level. The authors tried to avoid macro concepts incorporated by dichotomies of East and West and to acquire new insights into the relationship between local knowledge systems and cultures and interests groups on the one hand and the constellation of various interests of scientific research, governments and MNCs on the other.

The Red Guard Generation and Political Activism in China Guobin Yang, 2016-05-17 Raised to be flowers of the nation, the first generation born after the founding of the People's Republic of China was united in its political outlook and at first embraced the Cultural Revolution of 1966 but then split into warring factions. Investigating the causes of this fracture, Guobin Yang argues that Chinese youth engaged in an imaginary revolution from 1966 to 1968, enacting a political mythology that encouraged violence as a way to prove one's revolutionary credentials. This same competitive dynamic would later turn the Red Guard against the communist government. Throughout the 1970s, the majority of Red Guard youth were sent to work in rural villages where they developed an appreciation for the values of ordinary life. From this experience, an underground cultural movement was born. Rejecting idolatry, these relocated revolutionaries developed a new form of resistance that signaled a new era of enlightenment, culminating in the Democracy Wall movement of the late 1970s and the Tiananmen protest of 1989. Yang's final chapter on the politics of history and memory argues that contemporary memories of the Cultural Revolution are factionalized along these lines of political division formed fifty years before.

The Cultural Economy of Falun Gong in China Xiao Ming, 2012-11-16 Emerging in China in the early 1990s, Falun Gong is viewed by its supporters as a folk movement promoting the benefits of good health and moral cultivation. To the Chinese establishment, however, it is a dissident religious cult threatening political orthodoxy and national stability. The author a

Chinese national once involved in implementing Chinese cultural policies examines the evolving relationship between Falun Gong and Chinese authorities in a revealing case study of the powerful public discourse between a pervasive political ideology and an alternative agenda in contention for cultural dominance Posited as a cure for culturally bound illness with widespread symptoms the Falun Gong movement s efficacy among the marginalized relies on its articulation of a struggle against government sanctioned exploitation in favor of idealistic moral aspirations In countering such a position the Chinese government alleges that the religious movement is based in superstition and pseudoscience Aided by her insider perspective the author deftly employs Western rhetorical methodology in a compelling critique of an Eastern rhetorical occurrence highlighting how authority confronts challenge in postsocialist China
