Search Strategies In Mass Communications:

Search Strategies in Mass Communication Jean W. Ward, Kathleen A. Hansen, 1993 Search Strategies in Mass Communication Jean Ward, Kathleen A. Hansen, 1987 Mass Communications Research Methods H.J. Hsia, 2015-10-23 Originally published in 1988 Step by step this book leads students from problem identification through the mazes of surveys experimentation historical qualitative studies statistical analysis and computer data processing to the final submission and publication in scientific or popular publications Media Research Techniques Arthur Asa Berger, 1998-05-05 The first edition was praised for being delightful engaging readable and well organized Now once again Arthur Asa Berger continues the tradition of providing students with a clearly written user friendly hands on guide to media research techniques with the long awaited second edition of his best selling classic Media Research Techniques Leading the reader through a number of specially designed research projects such as content analysis surveys focus groups and in depth interviews he presents an array of interesting and practical assignments In response to suggestions from faithful users of the first edition Berger has added new chapters in the following areas Experimentation Historical Research Comparative Research Participant Observation This handy guide can be used in conjunction with texts on research methodology or it can stand alone and be used in courses dealing with such topics as media popular arts and American culture and society Practical and concise Media Research Techniques Second Edition is an essential tool for everyone in communication journalism written communication methodology research gaming and cultural studies Mass Communications Research Resources Christopher H. Sterling, James K. Bracken, Susan B. Hill, 2016-05-06 This reference book is designed as a road map for researchers who need to find specific information about American mass communication as expeditiously as possible Taking a topical approach it integrates publications and organizations into subject focused chapters for easy user reference The editors define mass communication to include print journalism and electronic media and the processes by which they communicate messages to their audiences Included are newspaper magazine radio television cable and newer electronic media industries Within that definition this volume offers an indexed inventory of more than 1 400 resources on most aspects of American mass communication history technology economics content audience research policy and regulation The material featured represents the carefully considered judgment of three experts two of them librarians plus four contributors from different industry venues The primary focus is on the domestic American print and electronic media industries Although there is no claim to a complete census of all materials on print journalism and electronic media what is available is now too vast for any single guide the most important and useful items are here The emphasis is on material published since 1980 though useful older resources are included as well Each chapter is designed to stand alone providing the most important and useful resources of a primary nature organizations and documents as well as secondary books and reports In addition online resources and internet citations are included where possible Mass Media James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes Telecommunications Research Resources James K. Bracken, Christopher H. Sterling, 2021-12-16 As the telecommunication and information field expands and becomes more varied so do publications about these technologies and industries This book is a first attempt to provide a general guide to that wealth of English language publications both books and periodicals on all aspects of telecommunication It is a comprehensive evaluative sourcebook for telecommunications research in the United States that brings together a topically arranged cross referenced and indexed volume in one place The information provided is only available by consulting a succession of different directories guides bibliographies yearbooks and other resources On the one hand it is a directory that describes in detail the major entities that comprise the American telecommunication research infrastructure including federal and state government offices and agencies and private public and corporate research institutions On the other hand it is a bibliography that identifies and assesses the most important and useful reference and critical resources about U S telecommunication history technology industry and economics social applications and impacts plus policy law and regulations and role in the global telecommunication marketplace No existing guide covers all of these aspects in the depth and detail of this volume

Journalism Jo A. Cates, 2004-05-30 Journalism A Guide to the Reference Literature is a critically annotated bibliographic guide to print and electronic sources in print and broadcast journalism The first edition was published in 1990 the second in 1997 It has been described as one of the critical reference sources in journalism today and it is a key bibliographic guide to the literature Choice magazine called it a benchmark publication for which there are no comparable sources The format is similar to the second edition What makes this edition significantly different is the separation of Commercial Databases and Internet Resources Commercial Databases includes standard fee based resources The new chapter on Internet sources features Web based resources not included in the commercial databases chapter as well as portals other online files listservs newsgroups and Web logs blogs All chapters have been revised and there are significant revisions in Directories Yearbooks and Collections Miscellaneous Sources Core Periodicals Societies and Associations and Research Centers and Archives The second edition has 789 entries The third edition contains almost 1 000 entries James Carey of Columbia University who provided the foreword for the first two editions has updated his foreword for this edition Ethical Issues in the Communication Process J. Vernon Jensen, 2013-11-05 A rapid and widespread growth of interest in applied ethics is occurring today not only in the United States but around the world as well Academia both reflects this and is a leader in the movement The field of speech communication shares in this increased sensitivity to ethical concerns Students and the general public are looking for thoughtful analyses and guidance in all areas of communication Ethical concerns relative to mass communication have been the subject of a number of books but only a very few cover the entire scope of communication to include interpersonal intercultural organizational small groups and public speaking This book tries to fill that need by discussing ethical concerns as they emerge in the areas of the communication process the communicator the message the media the audience and the situation The speech communication field now has a need to digest and synthesize the existing research findings and the general literature in the field and in related humanities and social science works into a coherent and nontechnical discussion This volume explores the most up to date materials to provide just such a synthesis An extensive bibliography at the end of the book gives readers the sources on which the book is based and offers ample avenues for further personal exploration The book should provide meaningful food for thought as readers grapple conscientiously with the many everyday decisions made in communication transactions and in evaluating the communication of others
