Searching For Sacred Space Essays On Architecture And Liturgical Design In The Episcopal Church:

Searching for Sacred Space John Ander Runkle, 2002 Discusses important questions about the relationship between sacred spaces and worship

Spiritus Loci Bert Daelemans, S.J., 2015-01-08 In Spiritus Loci Bert Daelemans who graduated as an architect and a theologian provides an interdisciplinary method for the theological assessment of church architecture Rather than a theory this method is based on case studies of contemporary buildings 1995 2015 which are often criticized for lacking theological depth In a threefold method the author brings to light the ways in which architecture can be theology or theotopy by focusing on topoi places rather than logoi words Churches reveal our relationship with God by engaging our body mind and community This method proves relevant not only for the way we perceive these buildings but also for the way we use them especially in our prophetic engagement for a better world

Theology in Stone Richard Kieckhefer, 2008-07-24 Thinking about church architecture has come to an impasse Reformers and traditionalists are talking past each other Statements from both sides are often strident and dogmatic In Theology in Stone Richard Kieckhefer seeks to help both sides move beyond the standoff toward a fruitful conversation about houses of worship Drawing on a wide range of historical examples with an eye to their contemporary relevance he offers new ideas about the meanings and uses of church architecture

An Architecture of Immanence Mark A. Torgerson, 2007-01-22 Torgerson begins by discussing God's transcendence and immanence and showing how church architecture has traditionally interpreted these key concepts He then traces the theological roots of immanence's priority from liberal theology and liturgical innovation to modern architecture Next Torgerson illustrates this new architecture of immanence through particular practitioners focusing especially on the work of theologically savvy architect Edward Anders Svik Finally he addresses the future of church architecture as congregations are buffeted by the twin forces of liturgical change and postmodernism

Art and Architecture for Congregational Worship Richard S. Vosko, 2019-09-26 A deep strain of tribal politics is dividing societies around the globe Organized religions are also coping with scandals disappointments and polarizing ideologies The history of Christianity reveals that such frictions deeply wound the church Fr Richard S Vosko recognizes that liturgical buildings are metaphorical expressions of the people of God He proposes in a relational way that when all physical and psychological boundaries in a place of worship are removed people will discover a common ground Building on theological foundations and design principles Vosko envisions what an egalitarian servant church can look like In a bold but thoughtful manner he presents progressive insights into the fields of church art and architecture

A Sense of the Sacred R. Kevin Seasoltz, 2005-04-13 There have been many histories of Christian art and architecture but none written by a theologian such as Kevin Seasoltz Following a chapter on culture as the context for theology liturgy and art Seasoltz surveys developments from the early church up through the conventional artistic styles and periods Comprehensive illuminating ecumenical

Approaching the Threshold of Mystery Joris Geldhof, Daniel Minch, Trevor Maine, 2015-09-10 Approaching the Threshold of Mystery brings two recently estranged strands of theology back together to explore the same liturgical worlds and to chart theological spaces The editors have assembled a formidable group of scholars from systematic and liturgical theology with the express purpose of examining the mystery of the liturgy with both expert perspectives in mind The result is thirteen essays that return to a more synoptic theology seeing speculative and liturgical approaches as united together for a common purpose and ultimately approaching the same mysterious sacred reality In today s fragmented world this approach is sorely needed and although many postmodern authors point out the need for healing this division this volume actually attempts to bridge the disciplinary divide by placing specialists within the same prayerful space oriented towards something greater than what is merely enacted in human words and deeds God's House is Our House Richard S. Vosko,2006 The liturgical reforms that have guided congregations over the last few decades have transformed what different denominations know about themselves and their worship Worshipers are no longer spectators but active participants in the ritual acts that once were the possession of the clergy As the liturgy is modified church buildings are altered How does all such change affect the architectural style of church buildings Vosko provides a foundation for building or renovating a place of worship and presents a thorough checklist for spaces art furnishings and appointments He discusses many concerns and offers practical advice He also presents issues that need further consideration in every project BOOK JACKET Sanctioning Modernism Timothy Parker,Monica Penick,Vladimir Kulic,2014-06-01 In the decades following World War II modern architecture spread around the globe alongside increased modernization urbanization and postwar reconstruction and it eventually won widespread acceptance But as the limitations of conventional conceptions of modernism became apparent modern architecture has come under increasing criticism In this collection of essays experienced and emerging scholars take a fresh look at postwar modern architecture by asking what it meant to be modern what role modern architecture played in constructing modern identities and who sanctioned or was sanctioned by modernism in architecture This volume presents focused case studies of modern architecture in three realms political religious and domestic that address our very essence as human beings Several essays explore developments in Czechoslovakia Romania and Yugoslavia and document a modernist design culture that crossed political barriers such as the Iron Curtain more readily than previously imagined Other essays investigate various efforts to reconcile the concerns of modernist architects with the traditions of the Roman Catholic Church and other Christian institutions And a final group of essays looks at postwar homebuilding in the United States and demonstrates how malleable and contested the image of the American home was in the mid twentieth century These inquiries show the limits of canonical views of modern architecture and reveal instead how civic institutions ecclesiastical traditions individual consumers and others sought to sanction the forms and ideas of modern architecture in the service of their respective claims or desires to be modern House Churches in Post-Communist Europe Randy Hacker,2023-02-10 This is an exploration of house churches especially in Poland The book begins with a review of literature about the global house church movement and continues with an article on the early Christian transition from house churches to purpose built buildings for churches Next is an article regarding the concept of sacred space in relation to house churches The first half concludes with a chapter on methodology of research for a qualitative interview approach to studying house churches The thesis then presents a theological method for using the qualitative interviews to develop ecclesiology Sixteen interviews from thirteen house churches are presented The thesis continues the theological method by attempting to answer the question why is it going on and presents a thematic analysis from the qualitative interviews that includes input from sociological research done in Poland The thesis concludes by using scriptural and academic sources in conversation with house church interviews from the interviews and global house church literature to present four primary conclusions in a practical prophetic ecclesiology
