Seascapes And Angels:

Seascapes and Angels Dermot O'Neill, 2000 It had always been Dermot O'Neill's boyhood dream to sail the Atlantic alone Struggling with internal fears and adult anxieties that threatened to stifle his dream he decided to do it before his fears won out He set out alone to sail from his Irish home of Arklow to the Barbadoes He quickly found himself in deep personal waters The 14 month 12 000 mile round trip journey in his sailboat Poitin led to terrifying times with storms close encounters with death insanity hunger and loneliness This is an exciting and inspiring book about an ordinary man dealing with a critical stage in his life but it is also a tale of fun excitement and the utter joy of personal and physical fulfillment Seascapes:

Shaped by the Sea Mike Brown, Barbara Humberstone, 2016-04-01 Despite the fact that the sea covers 70 per cent of the Earth's surface and is integral to the workings of the world it has been largely neglected or perceived as marginal in modern consciousness This edited collection disrupts notions of the sea as other as foreign and featureless through specific situated accounts which highlight the centrality of the sea for the individuals concerned Bringing together academics who combine scholarly expertise with lived experiences on in and with the sea it examines humans relationships with the sea Through the use of auto ethnographic accounting the contributors reflect on how the sea has shaped their sense of identity belonging and connection They examine what it is to be engaged with the sea and narrate their lived sentient corporeal experiences The sea is a cultural seascape just as it is physical reality The sea shapes us and we in turn attempt to shape it as we construct various versions of it that reflect our on going and mutable relationship with it The use of embodied accounts as a way of conveying lived experiences and the integration of relevant theoretical frames for understanding the broader cultural implications provide new opportunities to understand seascapes Landscape, Seascape, and the Eco-Spatial Imagination Simon Estok, Jonathan White, I-Chun Wang, 2016-05-12 Written from within the best traditions of ecocritical thought this book provides a wide ranging account of the spatial imagination of landscape and seascape in literary and cultural contexts from many regions of the world It brings together essays by authors writing from within diverse cultural traditions across historical periods from ancient Egypt to the postcolonial and postmodern present and touches on an array of divergent theoretical interventions The volume investigates how our spatial imaginations become wired looking at questions about mediation and exploring how various traditions compete for prominence in our spatial imagination In what ways is personal experience inflected by prevailing cultural traditions of representation and interpretation Can an individual maintain a unique and distinctive spatial imagination in the face of dominant trends in perception and interpretation What are the environmental implications of how we see landscape The book reviews how landscape is at once conceptual and perceptual illuminating several important themes including the temporality of space the mediations of place that form the response of an observer of a landscape and the development of response in any single life from early partial thoughts to more considered ideas in maturity Chapters provide suggestive and culturally nuanced propositions from varying points of view on ancient and modern landscapes and seascapes and on how individuals or societies have arranged conceptualized or imagined circumambient space Opening up issues of landscape seascape and spatiality this volume commences a wide ranging critical discussion that includes various approaches to literature history and cultural studies Bringing together research from diverse areas such as ecocriticism landscape theory colonial and postcolonial theory hybridization theory and East Asian Studies to provide a historicized and global account of our ecospatial imaginations this book will be useful for scholars of landscape ecology ecocriticism physical and social geography postcolonialism and postcolonial ecologies comparative literary studies and East Asian Studies Seascape Anne Weale,2011-07-15 Handsome is as handsome does When Kate Poole tracked down the estranged grandson of her beloved employer she little guessed the consequences her actions would bring A renowned playboy Xan Walcott was unlike any man she had ever known and decidedly more dangerous He would use and abandon her without hesitation Though necessity had forced her to work alongside Xan in Crete Kate was hoping her own practical nature would save her from falling for Xan s legendary charm Best Dives of the Caribbean Joyce and Sardinia D H Lawrence offers an evocative exploration of the Italian island s landscapes and cultures melding personal reflection with vivid imagery Written during a significant phase of his literary career in 1921 the work is a travel narrative that captures the essence of Sardinia s natural beauty while also critiquing modernity and industrialization Lawrence s prose is characterized by its lyrical intensity and psychological depth drawing readers into stunning descriptions of rugged coastlines and warm rolling hills while also revealing the deeper existential inquiries that often underlie his works As a vital part of Lawrence s oeuvre this book foreshadows his later more complex explorations of human relationships and natural environments D H Lawrence a prominent figure in early 20th century literature was profoundly influenced by his own experiences of travel and the tensions between nature and modern life His dissatisfaction with the industrial world prompted him to seek solace in the remote corners of Europe leading him to Sardinia where he found a vibrant tapestry of life that challenged his disillusionment This journey was instrumental in shaping Lawrence s views on the connection between humanity and the natural world themes that permeate his writing Sea and Sardinia is a must read for anyone interested in the interplay between landscape and emotion as well as the broader themes of identity and transformation Lawrence s unique voice and poignant observations invite readers to contemplate the complexities of existence while savoring the sensuous beauty of Sardinia s terrain
