points on Seattle's many hills from points across the bay at Duwamish Head and from Seward Park which is Seattle's largest stand of old growth forest. What makes Seattle distinctively Seattle? Sale muses over this question as he walks through the older residential sections of Queen Anne Hill and Capitol Hill with their mansions and near mansions; he traces the routes along Lake Washington Boulevard and the influence of the Olmsted brothers in shaping the social as well as the visual landscape of the city. He tours upscale neighborhoods with lake and sound views as well as working class neighborhoods that owe their history and early growth to nearby mills and streetcar transportation. He visits the Chinatown International District and the University of Washington and learns to identify trees in Washington Park Arboretum and to recognize those trees elsewhere. He finds the enchanted house where Mary McCarthy lived as a girl and the garden in which Theodore Roethke sought solitude among trees that came closer with a denser shade. Sale and photographer Mary Randlett have worked together to integrate photographs closely with text and promote a view of Seattle in a context of new and old landscapes and skyscrapers, neighborhood streets and remarkable vistas. Estimated times for each walk or drive in outlying areas and bus route information are provided.
