Integrated Pest Management Rajinder Peshin, Ashok K. Dhawan, 2009-03-10 Integrated Pest Management Dissemination and Impact Volume 2 is a sequel to Integrated Pest Management Innovation Development Process Volume 1 The book focuses on the IPM systems in the developed countries of North America Europe and Australia and the developing countries of Asia Latin America and Africa One of the major impediments in the dissemination and adoption of the IPM innovation is the complexity of the technology and reaching the vast population of farmers especially in the developing countries The IPM innovation development process is incomplete without the diffusion and adoption of IPM methods by the end users and through its consequences In spite of all the efforts in the developed and developing countries the adoption of IPM is still low with few exceptions The book covers the underlying concepts and methodologies of the diffusion of innovation theory and the program evaluation and reviews the progress and impact of IPM programs implemented in the industrialized the green revolution and the subsistence agricultural systems of the world Forty four experts from entomology plant pathology environmental science agronomy anthropology economics and extension education from Africa Asia Australia Europe North America and South America have discussed impact of IPM with an interdisciplinary perspective Each one of the experts is an authority in his or her field of expertise The researchers farmers education supporting policies of the governments and market forces are the elements of the IPM innovation system to achieve wider adoption of IPM strategy in agriculture

Pest Management in Rice L.G. Copping, 2012-12-06 The four day international Conference on Pest Management in Rice which is the subject of this volume was the third in an ongoing series of meetings on tropical crops organised by the Pesticides Group of the Society of Chemical Industry London The participants came from both the public and private sectors and from many different countries All the major groups of pests weeds microorganisms arthropods and rodents were considered as the organisers believe that it is necessary to address the total pest management problems in each particular growing area and the variety of the papers indicates the importance of a multi disciplinary approach to their solution Rice is one of the most important world crops and is the major source of food for around 60% of the world's population with a world production of 500 million tonnes from 150 million hectares of land Since world stocks amount to only two months supply many people are at risk from famine Moreover it has been estimated that the world requirement in 2020 will be about 760 million tonnes an increase of 50% This pressure of population on food makes efficient pest management vital and is the reason for bringing together experts from all over the world to this major conference

Integrated Pest Management On Rangeland John L. Capinera, 2019-04-08 Grasslands comprise the largest and most diverse set of ecosystems in the United States and are among the most extensive in the world Characterized by scanty rainfall these western grasslands are too dry for crop production and are used almost exclusively for grazing livestock The grasslands on the western edge of the Great Plains known as the Plains Kong Luen Heong, B. Hardy, 2009

The Entomology Of Indigenous And Naturalized Systems In Agriculture Marvin K Harris, Charlie E Rogers, Carl Shanks, 2019-07-09 This book highlights some agriculturally important plants and their associated arthropod complexes with a biological as well as an agricultural perspective It discusses how limited knowledge of entomology may be used to enhance management of pest species in cultivated sunflower

The African Honey Bee Marla Spivak, David J C Fletcher, Michael D Breed, 2019-06-04 This book is the first review of the scientific literature on the Africanized honey bee The African subspecies Apis mellifera scutellata formerly adansonii was introduced into South America in 1956 with the intent of cross breeding it with other subspecies of bees already present in Brazil to obtain a honey bee better adapted to tropical conditions. Shortly after its introduction, some of the African stock became established in the feral population around São Paulo, Brazil, and spread rapidly through Brazil. It has since migrated through most of the neotropics, displacing and/or hybridizing with the previously imported subspecies of honey bees. Africanized bees have been stereotyped as having high rates of swarming and absconding, rapid colony growth, and fierce defensive behavior. As they have spread through the neotropics, they have interacted with the human population, disrupting apiculture and urban activities when high levels of defensive behavior are expressed.
