ABSTRACT

Background: HIV/AIDS as a global pandemic forced the nursing student to have appropriate knowledge and attitudes toward caring for people living with HIV/AIDS (PLWHA).

Purpose: This study aims to explore the level of knowledge, attitudes, and willingness of pre-clinical nursing students to provide nursing care for PLWHA.

Methods: A descriptive and cross-sectional study is conducted. A total of 185 pre-clinical nursing students enrolled in Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN), and Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN) programs were recruited. Data was collected from April to May 2019 using a self-reported questionnaire and analysed with descriptive statistics, a t-test, and Pearson's correlation test with a significant level of 0.05.

Results: Overall pre-clinical nursing students had moderate knowledge about HIV/AIDS, but students had a negative attitude toward HIV/AIDS. The students' mean score of willingness to care for PLWHA was 5.45. BSN students had better knowledge than ADN students, and the difference was significant. However, differences in attitudes and willingness to manage between BSN and ADN students were insignificant. In addition, the differences in knowledge, attitudes, and desire to care between males and females were insignificant. The result revealed that attitudes and willingness to care for PLWHA were significantly correlated.

Conclusions: Based on the study results, it is essential for nursing students to have accurate knowledge about HIV/AIDS and positive attitudes toward people with HIV/AIDS to ensure that they can provide high-quality and effective care for PLWHA as well as protect themselves from being infected with HIV.

Keywords: knowledge; attitudes; willingness; HIV/AIDS

Mary Ann Cohen, Jack M. Gorman, Scott L. Letendre, Jeffrey M. Jacobson, Paul Volberding, 2017-05-12 The Comprehensive Textbook of AIDS Psychiatry: A Paradigm for Integrated Care is the first book to provide insight into the interface between the psychiatric medical and social dimensions of HIV and AIDS and the need for a compassionate integrated approach to the HIV pandemic with an emphasis on humanizing and destigmatizing HIV. Drawing from the expertise of 135 contributors in clinical and evidence-based medicine, the book provides information on the prevalence, incidence, medical and psychiatric aspects of HIV as well as on the prevention and care of persons with HIV/AIDS. The NIH Record, 1989 The Impact of AIDS: Psychological and Social Aspects of HIV Infection, 3rd Edition Jose Catalan, Barbara Hedge, Lorraine Sherr, 1997-05-22 This volume contains a selection of key contributions to the discussion on the psychological and social implications of HIV infection. It contains up-to-date and authoritative papers by senior practitioners and researchers in the field of the psychological and social aspects of HIV infection. The book will appeal to those involved in providing care for people with HIV infections, be they physicians and nurses or psychologists, social workers and psychiatrists, as well as those involved in preventing the spread of the HIV infection. From the start of the HIV epidemic, the psychological and social aspects of the AIDS infection have been recognized. What could have been regarded simply as an infectious disease was soon acknowledged as a global problem that raised important issues about its transmission and prevention, economic, ethical, and legal questions regarding the mental health consequences and the need for access to medical and social care. NIH Almanac National Institutes of Health (U.S.). Division of Public Information, 1992 Cancer Symptom Management 2e, 1999 Handbook of Psychosocial Interventions with Older Adults Sherry M. Cummings, Nancy P. Kropf, 2013-09-13 In the past decade, evidence-based practice (EBP) has emerged as one of the most important movements to improve the effectiveness of clinical care. As the number of older adults continues to grow, it is essential that practitioners have knowledge of effective strategies to improve both the medical and the psychosocial aspects of older persons' lives. The purpose of this work is to present systematic reviews of research-based psychosocial interventions for older adults and their caregivers. The interventions presented focus on a variety of critical issues facing older adults today, including medical illnesses (cardiac disease, diabetes, arthritis, pain, cancer) and HIV/AIDS, mental health (cognitive disorders, depression, anxiety, dementia, substance abuse) and social functioning (developmental disabilities, end-of-life, dementia, caregivers, grandparent caregivers). For each of these areas, the prevalence of the problem, the demographics of those affected, and the nature and consequences of the problem are discussed. The empirical literature is then reviewed. A treatment summary highlights the type and nature of research supporting the interventions reviewed and is followed by a conclusion section that summarizes the status of intervention research for the specified issue. A Treatment Resource Appendix for each area is included. These appendices highlight manuals, books, articles, and web resources that detail the treatment approaches and methodologies discussed. This book was previously published as a special issue of the Journal of Gerontological Social Work. Master of Public Health
