Seams Art As A Philosophical Context:

Seams Stephen Melville, Jeremy Gilbert-Rolfe, 2013-07-04 Jeremy Gilbert Rolfe brings to Melville's work the insight not only of an art critic and theorist but of a practicing artist as well. Navigating through the complexity of contemporary thought and philosophy, Gilbert Rolfe unravels the Gordian knot of the diverse discourses that circumscribe Melville's views, revealing the practicality and clarity of Melville's speculative narratives. Stephen Melville is one of the most thoughtful critics to emerge in recent years. He has applied the tools developed by Jacques Derrida and Jacques Lacan to the problems of contemporary art. With his roots in Kant, Hegel, and Heidegger, he reopens questions of art's reception, interpretation, and commentary. Not only does he articulate the limitations of these categories and how they are set into motion, stasis and balance are not the goal. He demonstrates how the territory of each of these discourses is maintained by their relationship to one another. Melville's texts not only represent the complexity of his subject.

Lyotard and the 'figural' in Performance, Art and Writing Kiff Bamford, 2012-06-14 This original study offers a timely reconsideration of the work of French philosopher Jean-François Lyotard in relation to art performance and writing. How can we write about art whilst acknowledging the transformation that inevitably accompanies translations of both media and temporality? That is the question that persistently dogs Lyotard's own writings on art, and to which this book responds through reference to artists from the recently formed canon of performance art history, including the myths of seminal figures Marina Abramovic and Vito Acconci, and the controlled documentation of Gina Pane's actions. Through the unstable, untranslatable element that Lyotard calls the figural, his thought is brought to bear on attempts to write a history of performance art and to question the paradoxically prescriptive demand for rules to govern re-performance. Kiff Bamford contextualises Lyotard's writings and approach with reference to both his contemporaries, including Deleuze and Kristeva, and the contemporary art about which they wrote, whilst arguing for the pertinence of Lyotard's provocations today.

The Handbook of Visual Culture Ian Heywood, Barry Sandywell, 2017-04-20 Visual culture has become one of the most dynamic fields of scholarship, a reflection of how the study of human culture increasingly requires distinctively visual ways of thinking and methods of analysis. Bringing together leading international scholars to assess all aspects of visual culture, the Handbook aims to provide a comprehensive and authoritative overview of the subject. The Handbook embraces the extraordinary range of disciplines which now engage in the study of the visual: film and photography, television, fashion, visual arts, digital media, geography, philosophy, architecture, material culture, sociology, cultural studies, and art history. Throughout the Handbook is responsive to the cross-disciplinary nature of many of the key questions raised in visual culture around digitization, globalization, cyberculture, surveillance, spectacle, and the role of art. The Handbook guides readers new to the area as well as experienced researchers into the topics, issues, and questions that have emerged in the study of visual culture since the start of the new millennium, conveying the boldness, excitement, and vitality of the subject.

Michael Fried and Philosophy Mathew Abbott, 2018-01-29 This volume brings philosophers art historians intellectual historians and literary scholars together to argue for the philosophical significance of Michael Fried's art history and criticism. It demonstrates that Fried's work on modernism, artistic intention, the ontology of art, theatricality and anti-theatricality can throw new light on problems in and beyond philosophical aesthetics. Featuring an essay by Fried and articles from world-leading scholars, this collection engages with philosophical themes from Fried's texts and clarifies the relevance to his work of philosophers such as Ludwig Wittgenstein, Stanley Cavell, Morris Weitz, Elizabeth Anscombe, Arthur Danto, George Dickie, Immanuel Kant, Friedrich Schiller, G. W. F. Hegel, Arthur Schopenhauer, Friedrich Nietzsche, Denis Diderot, Maurice Merleau-Ponty, Roland Barthes, Jacques Rancière and Søren Kierkegaard. As it makes a case for the importance of Fried for philosophy, this volume contributes to current debates in analytic and continental aesthetics, philosophy of action, philosophy of history, political philosophy, modernism studies, literary studies and art theory.

Beckett's Breath Goudouna Sozita Goudouna, 2018-01-15 Examines the intersection of Samuel Beckett's thirty-second playlet Breath with the visual arts. Samuel Beckett, one of the most prominent playwrights of the twentieth century, wrote a thirty-second playlet for the stage that does not include actors, text, characters or drama but only stage directions. Breath (1969) is the focus and the only theatrical text examined in this study, which demonstrates how the piece became emblematic of the interdisciplinary exchanges that occur in Beckett's later writings and of the cross-fertilisation of the theatre with the visual arts. The book attends to fifty breath-related artworks, including sculpture, painting, new media, sound art, performance art and contextualises Beckett's Breath within the intermedial and high modernist discourse, thereby contributing to the expanding field of intermedial Beckett criticism.

Key Features Examines Beckett's ultimate venture to define the borders between a theatrical performance and purely visual representation. Juxtaposes Beckett's Breath with breath-related artworks by prominent visual artists who investigate the far-reaching potential of the representation of respiration by challenging modernist essentialism. The focus on this primary human physiological function and its relation to arts and culture is highly pertinent to studies of human performance, the nature of embodiment and its relation to cultural expression. Facilitates new intermedial discourses around the nature and aesthetic possibilities of breath, the minimum condition of existence at the interface between the visual arts and performance.
