Loss And Grief Psychological Management In Medical Practice:

Loss and Grief Bernard Schoenberg,1970 Hospice Education Program for Nurses: Participant manual ,1981

Coping With Loss Susan Nolen-Hoeksema, Judith Larson, Judith M. Larson, 2013-01-11 Coping With Loss describes the many ways in which people cope with the death of someone they love. Most earlier books on bereavement have fallen into two categories: distillations of the clinical experience of individual therapists or collections of chapters reporting the results of empirical studies. Each category is valuable but has tended to serve a narrow group of readers: practitioners with particular theoretical orientations or researchers in quest of the latest findings. Coauthored by a leading research psychologist and an experienced therapist who specializes in bereavement education and intervention, this book is different. The authors weave together the strands of theory, research, and clinical wisdom into a seamless and readable narrative. While they discuss previous work, they also present new data never before published from one of the largest studies of bereaved people ever conducted: the Bereavement Coping Project. Unlike most studies to date, which focused on only one type of bereaved group—usually widows or widowers—the Bereavement Coping Project examined the experiences of several different groups during the first 18 months after the death. The groups included those who had lost a spouse, a parent, an adult sibling, or a child, and those who had lost their significant other to cancer or cardiovascular disease, on one hand, as opposed to the stigmatized disease of AIDS, on the other. The book begins with a critical overview of theories of bereavement; succeeding chapters explore in depth the impact of specific types of loss, the impact of particular coping strategies on recovery, the impact of social supports and religion, and the special cases of children and of people who seem to grow and change for the better after a loss. A final chapter considers implications for intervention with bereaved people. Each chapter is richly illuminated with real-life examples throughout and ends with a section called Voices in which bereaved people describe their various attempts to cope in their own words. Insightful and informative.

Living With Grief Kenneth J. Doka, 2019-01-22 While we often discuss how we grieve, rarely do we consider the places where we grieve. Yet whether at work, at school, at worship, or at home, grief not only affects our moods and motivation but our ability to function and our relationships as well. This book considers the ways that grief influences us in varied settings, offering humane and practical suggestions to organizations such as workplaces, schools, or places of worship as to how they can assist grievers in their midst struggling with illness and loss. First published in 1999, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informal company.

Grief and the Healing Arts Sandra L. Bertman, 2018-02-06 For nearly three decades, Sandra Bertman has been exploring the power of the arts and belief symbols, metaphors, stories to alleviate psychological and spiritual pain, not only of patients grieving family members and affected communities but also of the nurses, clergy, and physicians who minister to them. Her training sessions and clinical interventions are based on the premise that bringing out the creative potential inherent in each of us is just as relevant, perhaps more so, as psychiatric theory and treatment models, since grief and loss are an integral part of life. Thus, this work was compiled to illuminate the many facets that link grief counseling and creativity The multiple strategies suggested in these essays will help practitioners enlarge their repertoire of hands on skills and foster introspection and empathy in readers Military Chaplains' Review ,1983 Father Loss Elyce Wakerman,2015-11-03 As Elyce Wakerman found in the scores of interviews she conducted the loss of a father through death divorce or abandonment is the event that shapes a girl's life and all her future relationships In my fantasy one woman commented he remains the perfect all giving man a difficult role for any other man to fill Based partly on the author's experience partly on her in depth interviews and partly on a questionnaire she developed with psychologist Holly Barrett to which almost six hundred women responded Father Loss provides the clearest portrait yet of a very special group of women As a group they express their insecurities Sometimes I wonder if I'll ever be able to love a man totally because that would mean I didn't love my father anymore Leslie Yet individually many have become outstanding achievers including Eleanor Roosevelt He dominated my life as long as he lived and was the love of my life for years after he died Helen Gurney Brown People in business my bosses I look to them all as fathers Barbara Streisand Gloria Steinem Geraldine Ferraro and many others A bestseller when it was first published twenty five years ago and now updated and revised Father Loss gives information and insight to fatherless daughters to widows and divorcees with daughters and to every father who needs to understand the vital role he plays in his daughter's life as the first man she ever loves On Children and Death Elisabeth Kübler-Ross,2011-07-26 On Children and Death is a major addition to the classic works of Elisabeth Kübler-Ross whose On Death and Dying and Living with Death and Dying have been continuing sources of strength and solace for tens of millions of devoted readers worldwide Based on a decade of working with dying children this compassionate book offers the families of dead and dying children the help and hope they need to survive In warm simple language Dr Kübler-Ross speaks directly to the fears doubts anger confusion and anguish of parents confronting the terminal illness or sudden death of a child Facing Death: Images, Insights, and Interventions Sandra L. Christ, Kalman Flomenhaft, 2012-12-06 The past decade has brought extraordinary gains in the outlook for children stricken with cancer Though cancer remains a leading cause of death for children and young adults more victims of childhood cancer today will survive than will die The therapeutic advances and the optimism they instill have prompted researchers and clinicians to analyze the impact of cancer upon young patients and their families and to devise more effective intervention strategies Hope and survival juxtaposed with the continuing high mortality associated with certain forms of the illness add new challenges to management of the psychosocial aspects of cancer To respond to these challenges we need research as rigorous as that which continues to make inroads in treating the physical illness This specific concern for the needs of children suffering from cancer and their families has paralleled an increasing sensitivity on the part of the medical community and the public at large to the limitations of specialized high technology health care practices Pain Management in Rehabilitation Trilok N. Monga, Martin Grabis, 2002-09 Contributors from rehabilitation medicine and physical therapy advise clinicians on the diagnosis and management of various pain syndromes in patients with primary disabling diseases believing that managing pain in such patients will prevent physiological and functional decline They discuss pain as it relates to various disease processes from the perspective of both rehabilitation specialists and primary care providers They do not cover the neurophysiology of pain surgical approaches to managing intractable pain or other topics that are addressed adequately elsewhere Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR A Comprehensive Bibliography of the Thanatology Literature Martin L. Edelstein, Eugene T. Couture, 2013-11-22 This book developed out of the editors longstanding interest in the retraining of traumatically brain damaged adults and the management of their behavior by family members A search for relevant experimental evidence to support the clinical use of behavioral principles for retraining which began in 1977 turned up little empirical support Moreover the literature on retraining was dispersed among a variety of journals published in various countries Nowhere was there a compendium of literature that addressed issues of assessment and retraining There was no place to turn if one wanted to move from a standard neuropsychological evaluation to the retraining of skill deficits revealed in the evaluation We have attempted to edit a book that represents what we had hoped to find in the literature and could be used by professionals in clinical psychology clinical neuropsychology rehabilitation medicine physical therapy speech therapy and other disciplines that address rehabilitation of brain damaged adults a book that addresses assessment and rehabilitation issues and is sufficiently detailed to offer the reader a starting point in developing behavioral assessment and rehabilitation programs The book contains conceptual foundations reviews of research descriptions of successful rehabilitation programs and relatively detailed approaches to the retraining of specific skills A shift from an assessment based practice to one encompassing both prescriptive assessment and treatment has become a recognized transition in the neuropsychological literature and was best articulated in an article by Gerald Goldstein in March of 1979
