Autobiographical Jews Michael Stanislawski, 2012-09-20 Autobiographical Jews examines the nature of autobiographical writing by Jews from antiquity to the present and the ways in which such writings can legitimately be used as sources for Jewish history Drawing on current literary theory which questions the very nature of autobiographical writing and its relationship to what we normally designate as the truth and to a lesser extent the new cognitive neurosciences Michael Stanislawski analyzes a number of crucial and complex autobiographical texts written by Jews through the ages Stanislawski considers The Life by first century historian Josephus compares the early modern autobiographies of Asher of Reichshofen Book of Memories and Glikl of Hameln Memoirs analyzes the radically different autobiographies of two Russian Jewish writers the Hebrew Enlightenment author Moshe Leib Lilienblum and the famous Russian poet Osip Mandelstam and looks at two autobiographies written out of utter despair in the midst and in the wake of World War II Stefan Zweig's The World of Yesterday and Sarah Kofman's Rue Ordener Rue Labat These writers attempt to portray their private and public struggles anxieties successes and failures are expressions of a basic drive for selfhood which is both timeless and time bound universal and culturally specific The challenge is to attempt to unravel the conscious from the unconscious distortions in these texts and to regard them as artifacts of individuals' quests to make sense of their lives first and foremost for themselves and then if possible for their readers

The Psychopolitics of Food Mihalís Mentinis,2016-06-10 The Psychopolitics of Food probes into the contemporary foodscape examining culinary practices and food habits and in particular the ways in which they conflate with neoliberal political economy It suggests that generic alimentary and culinary practices constitute technologies of the self and the body and argues that the contemporary preoccupation with food takes the form of rites of passage that express and mark the transition from a specific stage of neoliberal development to another vis vis a re configuration of the alimentary and sexual regimes Even though these rites of passage are taking place on the borders of cultural bi polarities their function nevertheless is precisely to define these borders as sites of a neoliberal transitional demand that is to produce a cultural bifurcation between eating orders and eating dis orders by promoting and naturalising certain social logics while simultaneously rendering others as abject and anachronistic The book is a worthwhile read for researchers and advanced scholars in the areas of food studies critical psychology anthropology and sociology
