Tehiyyat Ha-Metim Harry Sysling, 1996 The study deals with all those passages in the Palestinian Targums the Aramaic translations of the Pentateuch that refer to the Resurrection of the Dead Of central interest in it is the question to what extent the targumic traditions on a future resurrection of the body or on the fate of the soul after death agree with or differ from corresponding traditions in rabbinic sources With a few exceptions the relation between targumic traditions and rabbinic sources has been neglected in targumic studies of the last decades This may have been caused by the questionable assumptions that a the Aramaic of the Palestinian Targums represents the spoken Aramaic of Palestine in the New Testament period b the Palestinian Targums contain an important number of early pre Christian traditions and c the

Palestinian Targums are popular in origin being written in the vernacular in contrast with the scholastic authoritative expositions in the learned rabbinic sources Harry Sysling first offers a survey of these and other important issues in targumic research of the past and of recent opinions on character origin and interrelationship of the Palestinian Targums In the following chapters the author makes a careful analysis of those passages in the Palestinian Targums that directly by the use of specific terminology or indirectly by the use of metaphors refer to the resurrection of the body and to the fate of the body and or soul after death BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Modern World Harriet Lyon,Alexandra Walsham,2023 How can the concept of nostalgia illuminate the culturally specific ways in which societies understand the contested relationship between the past present and future The word nostalgia was invented in the late seventeenth century to describe the debilitating effects of homesickness Now widely defined as a sense of longing for a lost past initially it was more closely linked with dislocation in space By exploring some of its many textual visual and musical manifestations in the tumultuous period between c 1350 and 1800 this volume resists the assumption that nostalgia is a distinctive by product of modernity It also forges a fruitful link between three lively areas of current scholarly enquiry memory temporality and emotion The contributors deploy nostalgia as a tool for investigating perceptions of the passage of time and historical change unsettling experiences of migration and geographical displacement and the connections between remembering and forgetting affect and imagination Ranging across Europe and the Atlantic world they examine the moments sites and communities in which it arose alongside how it was used to express both criticism and regret
