

REFORMS IN RURAL DEVELOPMENT AND THEIR INFLUENCE ON AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION OF UZBEKISTAN: EXPERIENCE AND CHALLENGES IN WATER MANAGEMENT

Nowadays science applies agricultural innovations in a wide range all over the world; however, number of water users in innovations is in smaller amounts. This might happen to a number of factors, for example lack of adequate knowledge exchange system, nominal extension services at places, lack of well-defined policies, barriers in 'human' minds change, barriers at policy level. As for Uzbekistan, it could be said that practice of extension of innovations application and its diffusion in agricultural irrigation sector in Uzbekistan does not have much experience, however, before 1991 Uzbekistan was one of the Soviet Unions' republics and as it is known, the Soviet Union had high practice in innovations in different sectors, as well as in agriculture. Although, since independence, Uzbekistan has continued to experience innovations in agricultural sector independently, their diffusion is at a challenging shape. This article captures the policy issue, how Uzbekistan started to develop water management issues in its economic reforms, it describes a case research on application of innovative technique on a farm level and accordingly, it tries to propose the aspects that need to be involved in future reforms to make the current situation be better managed.

Keywords: agriculture, water, extension, innovations, policy

Water is the most distributed natural substance in our planet and the most important and critical resource which is unevenly distributed on the Earth. In the world, where number of inhabitants is expanding enormously the withdrawals from the water resources are exceeding. The surface area is constant but population is increasing. This indicates that from the same land we need to produce more crops. Basically, irrigation proved to contribute considerably to making land more productive, although especially large-scale irrigation often leads to disadvantageous impacts on the environment.

The FAO (2002) predicted that the irrigated area in developing countries needs to be expanded from 202 million ha in 1999 to 242 million ha in 2030 to meet the increasing food demand. The demand for irrigation will in particular increase in arid and semi-arid regions where more than 90% of agriculture depends on irrigation due to predictions on the impact of climate change that will reduce irrigation water availability. As for Uzbekistan, the World Bank (2010) forecasts, that climate change for Uzbekistan from 2005 to 2050 indicates that:

1. the water demand will increase from 59 km³ to 62–63 km³,
2. the supply will decrease from 57 km³ to 52–54 km³,
3. the present water deficit will increase by over 500% from about 2 km³ to 11–13 km³.

Moreover, Toderich et al. (2009) reported that approximately 20 000 ha of irrigated land in Uzbekistan are lost due to salinity and invariably abandoned every year.

Considering that the most applied irrigation technique in Uzbekistan is furrow irrigation, this technique increases the water management problem by applying about double water amount than is the actual need for plants. For example, Mohan et al. (2012) evaluated the performance of furrow irrigation in Fergana valley and the results showed that the application efficiency of the irrigation events in 2009 was 48% with an average runoff loss of 39% from fields. Moreover, the problem is becoming bigger taking into account that irrigation norms between farmers are hardly considered and water price is hardly valued.

The high population growth rate, degradation of agricultural lands and scarcity of fresh water have raised doubt about the future suitability of the dominant agricultural practices for irrigated drylands. In face of the environmental and economic challenges, there is an urgent need to reconsider the existing classical agricultural systems and to adapt agricultural systems that can help to prevent soil quality, soil fertility degradation, water management efficiency and hence increase productivity. In most countries, this issue is being solved by applying innovative techniques, however, innovative techniques are used rather in smaller amounts in comparison to what people are used to, under conventional approach. This might happen to a number of factors e.g. lack of adequate knowledge exchange system, nominal extension services at places (Levidov et al., 2014), lack of well-defined policies (Iglesias and Garrote 2015), barriers in 'human' minds change, barriers at policy level.

Rural And Agricultural Development In Uzbekistan:

Rural and Agricultural Development in Uzbekistan Peter Craumer,1995 A study of the economic social and environmental factors in contemporary Uzbekistan s rural development and their effects on the economy and society of the country as a whole Special attention is given to problems of water resources and irrigation agricultural problems and reforms population growth and migration and food supply all in the context of Uzbekistan s diverse regions Integrated land use management systems in Uzbekistan - Part 2 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2024-02-22 The aim of this report is to describe and analyse the economic and business aspects of agroforestry implementation in Uzbekistan This information is presented with the goal of enabling the development of detailed and specific suggestions for land use contract development First the report presents an in depth literature review of studies that have examined the economic structure and viability of agroforestry and other agricultural practices in the region Specifically this review focuses on developing a nuanced understanding of relevant business structures economic relationships between various land users and local forestry officials and existing co management agreements and contracts that affect the economic viability of land use activities Current employment structure and land tenure conditions are also examined Second the report presents the findings of several field visits to pilot sites in Uzbekistan These field trips were organized by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and carried out by national experts Sirojiddin Eshmatov and Sobir Azizov Based on interviews and visits to farmers the study team collected information about the current economic situation of smallholder farmers and other land users These visits aimed in part to understand the specific economic and business considerations faced by agroforestry practitioners or interested land users in the pilot sites Together the two components form the empirical basis for a set of specific recommendations for land users and policymakers interested in developing agroforestry as an economically viable activity in the context of agriculture in Uzbekistan Land Reform in the Former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe Stephen K. Wegren,2003-10-04 Land reform is a key factor in determining the political economic and social future of the transitional states of the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe This book represents the first major study in this area Utilizing extensive field work unpublished materials statistical data and interviews with land reform officials the contributors explore the key issues Central Asia Reuel R. Hanks,2005-07-26 An informative guide to the recently emerged states of Uzbekistan Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan providing coverage of a broad range of political economic and cultural issues As conflicts continue in Iraq and political tensions mount in China the world is beginning to take notice of Central Asia as the crossroads between the Middle East Asia and Europe Central Asia A Global Studies Handbook explores the three central states of the region Uzbekistan Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan and provides insight to their past present and future The first of its kind this reference work covers a wide range of topics on Central Asia as a whole From the geography history and economics to politics education and religion students and teachers will find this an informative and comprehensive research source while business people and travelers will discover a fascinating look into the region's society. From the times of Alexander through globalization and the politicization of Islam the mysteries of Central Asia are finally brought to light. Poverty, Income Distribution and Well-Being in Asia During the Transition Lu Aiguo, Manuel F. Montes, 2002-05-22 The Asian road to the market has generally been seen as a model of success and the object of widespread admiration. This volume evaluates the actual experience and debunks some of the most widespread myths. It does so by identifying the link between alternative transition models, public policies and household responses on the one hand and key welfare changes on the other. Even in countries experiencing sustained growth there have been unmistakable signs of deep social strain. The Uzbek Dream Pasquale De Marco, 2025-04-23 The Uzbek Dream is a comprehensive and engaging guide to the history, culture and natural beauty of Uzbekistan. This book takes you on a journey through the heart of Central Asia, exploring the country's rich past, diverse present and promising future. From the ancient Silk Road to the modern day challenges of nation building, Uzbekistan has a captivating story to tell. This book delves into the origins of Uzbek culture, tracing its roots back to ancient civilizations and the Silk Road. It explores the beauty and diversity of the Uzbek language and literature and showcases the country's vibrant art and architecture. This book also provides a thorough overview of Uzbekistan's history from the Mongol invasions to the Soviet era and beyond. It examines the challenges and successes of Uzbekistan's transition to independence and its efforts to build a modern, prosperous nation. In addition, this book delves into the heart of Uzbek society and culture, exploring the family structure, education system and the role of women in society. It discovers the country's rich culinary traditions, its diverse religious landscape and its commitment to environmental preservation. Finally, this book explores Uzbekistan's tourism potential, highlighting its major tourist destinations and the importance of sustainable tourism. Whether you are a seasoned traveler, a history buff or simply someone who wants to learn more about this fascinating country, this book will offer you a deeper understanding and appreciation for Uzbekistan. With its captivating narrative, stunning visuals and insightful analysis, The Uzbek Dream is the definitive guide to Uzbekistan, a country that is sure to captivate and inspire. If you like this book, write a review on Google Books. Farm Debt in the CIS Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, Serge Sotnikov, 2001-01-01 This study presents the results of the multi-country study for farm debt in five Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) countries: Belarus, Kazakhstan, Moldova, Russia and the Ukraine. It offers a comparative analysis of the level and composition of farm debt in these countries and reviews the major reasons for farm debt accumulation in the 1990s. Policy Reforms and Agriculture Development in Central Asia Sandjar Djalalov, Suresh Chandra Babu, 2006-07-02 Achieving sustainable agricultural development is at the forefront of the poverty reduction objective of the Central Asian republics: Kazakhstan, the Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan. Since independence, the countries of the Central Asian region have undergone a series of transitions from centrally planned economies to a more market-oriented system. Wide-ranging policy reforms have been implemented, although in varying degrees in the five Central Asian countries Despite great efforts by the countries and the external advice and efforts of international agencies to help them to follow a dynamic growth path the progress in policy reforms has been frustratingly slow Generating momentum to reorient the approach and the sequencing of policy reform packages will require rethinking of the policy reform process This is particularly so in the food agriculture and natural resource sectors This further requires improved understanding among the policymakers donors and international agencies of the impact of policy alternatives so that policy reforms and the speed with which they have been implemented are consistent with the objectives and the social and political realities of individual countries in the region Involving the local policy research community in identifying critical issues and challenges setting priorities among them for food and agricultural and natural resource policy research and analysis and implementing joint research studies is the best way to generate knowledge on the impact of policy reforms and to increase ownership of policy design and implementation
