Ruskinian Gothic The Architecture Of Deane And Woodward 1845 1861:

Ruskinian Gothic Eve Blau,1982 Ruskinian Gothic Eve Blau,1982 Louis H. Sullivan and a 19th-Century Poetics of Naturalized Architecture LaurenS. Weingarden,2017-07-05 For most of the twentieth century modernist viewers dismissed the architectural ornament of Louis H Sullivan 1856 1924 and the majority of his theoretical writings as emotional outbursts of an outmoded romanticism In this study Lauren Weingarden reveals Sullivan s eloquent articulation of nineteenth century romantic practices literary linguistic aesthetic spiritual and nationalistic and thus rescues Sullivan and his legacy from the narrow role imposed on him as a pioneer of twentieth century modernism Using three interpretive models discourse theory poststructural semiotic analysis and a pragmatic concept of sign functions she restores the integrity of Sullivan s artistic choices and his historical position as a culminating figure within nineteenth century romanticism By giving equal weight to Louis Sullivan s writings and designs Weingarden shows how he translated both Ruskin s tenets of Gothic naturalism and Whitman s poetry of the American landscape into elemental structural forms and organic ornamentation Viewed as a site where various romantic discourses converged Sullivan s oeuvre demands a cross disciplinary exploration of each discursive practice and its rules of accumulation exclusion reactivation The overarching theme of this study is the interrogation and restitution of those Foucauldian rules that enabled Sullivan to articulate architecture as a pictorial mode of landscape art which he considered co equal with the spiritual and didactic functions of landscape poetry Directory of British Architects, 1834-1914 Antonia Brodie,British Architectural Library,Royal Institute of British Architects,2001-12-20 A comprehensive biographical directory of some 11 000 British architects who worked between 1834 and 1914 John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture Anuradha Chatterjee,2017-10-02 Through the theoretical lenses of dress studies gender science and visual studies this volume analyses the impact John Ruskin has had on architecture throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It explores Ruskin s different ideologies such as the adorned wall veil which were instrumental in bringing focus to structures that were previously unconsidered John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture examines the ways in which Ruskin perceives the evolution of architecture through the idea that architecture is surface The creative act in architecture analogous to the divine act of creation was viewed as a form of dressing By adding highly aesthetic features to designs taking inspiration from the veil of women s clothing Ruskin believed that buildings could be transformed into meaningful architecture This volume discusses the importance of Ruskin s surface theory and the myth of feminine architecture and additionally presents a competing theory of textile analogy in architecture based on morality and gender to counter Gottfried Semper s historicist perspective This book would be beneficial to students and academics of architectural history and theory gender studies and visual studies who wish to delve into Ruskin s theories and to further understand his capacity for thinking beyond the historical methods The book will also be of interest to architectural practitioners particularly Ruskin s theory of surface architecture Science and Visual Culture in Great Britain in the Long Nineteenth Century Diana

Donald,2024-10-07 This volume consists of a collection of primary sources throwing light on the various aspects of interplay between zoology and visual culture in nineteenth century Britain Scientific illustration both in specialist studies and in works intended for a broader lay readership are included These sources throw light on the difficulties of both authors and illustrators in conceptualising their subjects in visual forms given the great extension of knowledge of the natural world and the technical complexities of image making in the pre photographic era The study examines the impact of zoological knowledge and theories on imaginative art and explores the aestheticisation and appropriation of nature especially in relation to bird imagery in painting illustration and the decorative arts Finally the collection examines the presentation of zoology and pal ozoology to the general public for both education and entertainment purposes This title will be of great interest to students of the History of Science and Art History The Ruskin Polygon John Dixon Hunt,Faith M. The Victorian Palace of Science Edward J. Gillin,2017-11-09 Edward J Gillin explores the extraordinary role of scientific knowledge in the building of the Houses of Parliament in Victorian Britain John Phillips and the Business of Victorian Science Jack Morrell,2017-11-28 John Phillips was one of the most remarkable and important scientists of the Victorian period Orphaned at the age of seven and brought up by his uncle he rose to hold a number of highly prestigious posts within the British academic and scientific community despite lacking a university education By the time of his death in 1874 he was widely regarded as one of the pioneers and champions of the science of geology yet until now there has been no full length biography of Phillips In rectifying this lacuna Jack Morrell has produced a meticulous and magisterial piece of scholarship that does justice to the achievements and legacy of John Phillips Adopting a broadly chronological approach the book not only traces the development of Phillips s career but clarifies and highlights his role within Victorian culture shedding light on many wider themes It explores how Phillips love of science was inseparable from his need to earn a living and develop a career which could sustain him Hence questions of power authority reputation and patronage were central to Phillips s career and scientific work Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and a rich body of recent writings on Victorian science this biography provides a fascinating and compelling account of John Phillips and his legacy Pulling together his personal story with the scientific theories and developments of the day and fixing them firmly within the context of wider society this biography will be vital reading for anyone with an interest in the history of British and nineteenth century science

Victorian Perceptions of Renaissance Architecture Katherine Wheeler,2017-07-05 In the mid 1880s The Builder an influential British architectural journal published an article characterizing Renaissance architecture as a corrupt bastardization of the classical architecture of Greece and Rome By the turn of the century however the same journal praised the Renaissance architect Filippo Brunelleschi as the Christopher Columbus of modern architecture Victorian Perceptions of Renaissance Architecture 1850 1914 examines these conflicting characterizations and reveals how the writing of architectural history was intimately tied to the rise of the professional architect and the formalization of architectural education in late nineteenth century Britain Drawing on a broad range of evidence including literary texts professional journals university curricula and census records Victorian Perceptions reframes works by seminal authors such as John Ruskin Walter Pater John Addington Symonds and Geoffrey Scott alongside those by architect authors such as William J Anderson and Reginald Blomfield within contemporary architectural debates Relevant for architectural historians as well as literary scholars and those in Victorian studies Victorian Perceptions reassesses the history of Renaissance architecture within the formation of a modern British architectural profession
