Looking at Animals in Human History Linda Kalof, 2007-08-15 From the first cave paintings to Britta Jaschinski's provocative animal photography it seems we have been describing and portraying animals in some form or another for as long as we have been human This book provides a broad historical overview of our representations of animals from prehistory to postmodernity and how those representations have altered with changing social conditions Taking in a wide range of visual and textual materials Linda Kalof unearths many surprising and revealing examples of our depictions of animals She also examines animals in a broad sweep of literature narrative and criticism from Pliny the Elder's Natural History to Donna Haraway's writings on animal human machine interaction and from accounts of the Black Plague and histories of the domestic animal and zoos to the ways that animal stereotypes have been applied to people to highlight hierarchies of gender race and class Well researched and scholarly yet very accessible this book is a significant contribution to the human animal story Featuring more than 60 images Looking at Animals in Human History brings together a wealth of information that will appeal to the wide audience interested in animals as well as to specialists in many disciplines Linda Kalof is professor of sociology at Michigan State University Her books include *The Earthscan Reader in Environmental nonfiction picture book a young girl and her baby sister's outdoor adventure hiking through the forest picnicking in the grass and swimming in the ocean is overseen by the local fauna The way those animals view the girls is very different from how the
