Rue Des Boutiques Obscures:

Missing Person Patrick Modiano, 2005-03-11 An amnesiac searches for his identity from Polynesia to Rome in this novel by the Nobel Prize winning author of Dora Bruder Guy Roland is in pursuit of the identity he lost in the murky days of the Paris Occupation For ten years he has lived without a past His current life and name were given to him by his recently retired boss Hutte who welcomed him a onetime client into his detective agency Guy makes full use of Hutte s files directories yearbooks and papers of all kinds going back half a century but his leads are few Could he really be the person in that photograph a young man remembered by some as a South American attach Or was he someone else perhaps the disappeared scion of a prominent local family He interviews strangers and is tantalized by half clues until at last he grasps a thread that leads him through the maze of his own repressed experience Published in France as Rue des Boutiques obscures this is both a detective mystery and a haunting meditation on the nature of the self Patrick Modiano s spare hypnotic prose superbly translated by Daniel Weissbort draws readers into the intoxication of a rare literary experience Praise for Missing Persons An elliptical engrossing rumination on the essence of identity and the search for self Frank Sennet Booklist A fine introduction to his work Beautifully written and perfectly noirish as though the world were being seen through a haze of Gauloise smoke Be warned though after reading this a sensitive soul may well seize up the next time a stranger waves Kirkus Reviews Rue des boutiques obscures Patrick Modiano, 1978 Een priv detective die aan geheugenverlies lijdt gaat op zoek naar zijn verleden

Present Pasts Dervila Cooke, 2005 This is the first in depth study of the twelve Modiano texts specifically concerned with life writing in autobiographical and biographical cum historiographical projects The texts covered range from La Place de l toile 1968 through to La Petite Bijou 2001 Close textual analysis is combined with a theoretical approach based on current thinking in autobiography biography and reader response Modiano s use of autofiction and biofiction is analysed in the light of his continuing obsession with both personal trauma and History as well as his problematic relationship with his paternally inherited Jewish links His view of identity of self and other is thus discussed in relation to a particular literary and socio historical context French postmodern post World War II and post Holocaust

Void and Creation in "Rue Des Boutiques Obscures" Rebecca Bea Embler, 2006 Detecting Texts Patricia Merivale, Susan Elizabeth Sweeney, 2011-06-07 Although readers of detective fiction ordinarily expect to learn the mystery s solution at the end there is another kind of detective story the history of which encompasses writers as diverse as Poe Borges Robbe Grillet Auster and Stephen King that ends with a question rather than an answer The detective not only fails to solve the crime but also confronts insoluble mysteries of interpretation and identity As the contributors to Detecting Texts contend such stories belong to a distinct genre the metaphysical detective story in which the detective hero s inability to interpret the mystery inevitably casts doubt on the reader s similar attempt to make sense of the text and the world Detecting Texts includes an introduction by the editors that defines the metaphysical detective story and traces its history from Poe s classic tales to today's postmodernist experiments. In addition to the editors, contributors include Stephen Bernstein, Joel Black, John T. Irwin, Jeffrey T. Nealon, and others.

A Riffaterrean Reading of Patrick Modiano's La Place de L'étoile Charles O'Keefe, 2005

Rewriting the Past William VanderWolk, 2023-12-11 Patrick Modiano 1945 has published seventeen novels over the past twenty-seven years and is considered one of France's foremost writers. His first three works dealing principally with the German occupation of France during World War II are generally considered to have led to a reconsideration of the Gaullist myth which endured for twenty-five years after the war. Along with Marcel Ophüls's film The Sorrow and the Pity, Modiano's novels opened French eyes to the more ambiguous role played during the occupation by the average French citizen. His subsequent novels have continued to probe the relationship between history, memory, and fiction. This study will be of interest to readers of French fiction and history as it looks at their relationship to memory and shows that the three are inextricably linked in a way that enriches our understanding of our past, whether it be collective or personal. Modiano, while seemingly obsessed with his own past, in fact indicates an opening toward the future by attempting to put the past to rest in his fiction.

A Self-conscious Art Akane Kawakami, 2000-01-01 A Self-conscious Art deals with the formal complexities of Modiano's work by reading against the grain of his self-professed ingenuousness. A detailed examination of his narratives shows the deeply postmodern nature of his writing. Parodying precursors such as Proust or the nouveau romanciers, his narratives are built around a profound lack of faith in the ability of writing to retrieve the past through memory, and this failure is acknowledged in the discreet playfulness that characterises his novels.

Patrick Modiano, 2007-01-01 While his preoccupation with the period of the Occupation remains a permanent theme, Patrick Modiano is increasingly interested in the exploration of time and memory and the attendant problem of reconstituting the past. This volume explores all these features. It casts new light on Modiano's earliest novels, examines afresh his more recent work, including his stories for children, situates it in the context of contemporary writing, and unravels the intricacies and subtleties of his style. It underlines Modiano's position as one of France's major writers of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries and will be of interest to all who are interested in the modern French novel and the complex interactions between fiction and history.

The Conscience of Humankind, 2021-11-22 The traumatic experiences of persecution and genocide have changed traditional views of literature. The discussion of historical truth versus aesthetic autonomy takes an unexpected turn when confronted with the experiences of the victims of the Holocaust, the Gulag Archipelago, the Cultural Revolution, Apartheid, and other crimes against humanity. The question is whether and if so to what extent literary imagination may depart from historical truth. In general, the first reactions to traumatic historical experiences are autobiographical statements written by witnesses of the events. However, the second and third generations, the sons and daughters of the victims as well as of the victimizers, tend to free themselves from this generic restriction and claim their own way of remembering the history of their parents and grandparents. They explore their own limits of representation and feel free to use a variety of genres; they turn to either realist or postmodernist ironic or grotesque modes of writing
