Rural Tradition:

Body and Tradition in Nineteenth-century France William Pooley, 2019 The moorlands of Gascony are often considered one of the most dramatic examples of top down rural modernization in nineteenth century Europe From an area of open moors they were transformed in one generation into the largest man made forest in Europe Body and Tradition in Nineteenth Century France explores how these changes were experienced and negotiated by the people who lived there drawing on the immense ethnographic archive of Felix Arnaudin 1844 1921 The study places the songs stories and everyday speech that Arnaudin collected as well as the photographs he took in the everyday lives of agricultural workers and artisans It argues that the changes were understood as a gradual revolution in bodily experiences as men and women forged new working habits new sexual relations and new ways of conceiving of their own bodies Rather than merely presenting a story of top down reform this is an account of the flexibility and creativity of the cultural traditions of the working population William G Pooley tells the story of the folklorist Arnaudin and the men and women whose cultural traditions he recorded then uncovers the work carried out by Arnaudin to explore everyday speech about the body stories of werewolves and shapeshifters tales of animal cunning and exploitation and songs about love and courtship The volume focuses on the lives of a handful of the most talented storytellers and singers Arnaudin encountered showing how their cultural choices reflect wider patterns of behaviour in the region and across rural Europe

The Invention of Tradition Eric Hobsbawm, Terence Ranger, 2012-03-26 Many of the traditions which we think of as very ancient in their origins were not in fact sanctioned by long usage over the centuries but were invented comparatively recently This book explores examples of this process of invention the creation of Welsh and Scottish national culture the elaboration of British royal rituals in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the origins of imperial rituals in British India and Africa and the attempts by radical movements to develop counter traditions of their own It addresses the complex interaction of past and present bringing together historians and anthropologists in a fascinating study of ritual and symbolism which poses new questions for the understanding of our history
