Ruralurban Migration In Bangladesh Causes Consequences And Challenges:

Rural-urban Migration in Bangladesh Rita Afsar,2000 Causes, Consequences and Challenges of Rural-urban Migration in Bangladesh Rita Afsar,1995 Attempts to contribute toward greater understanding of the urbanization process in Bangladesh Focuses particularly on the rural urban migration process explaining the causes of mobility and stability and the consequences flowing from that movement for the wellbeing of migrants and their families Migration, Development and Poverty Reduction in Asia Iom International Organization For Migration,2008 Dhaka's Changing Landscape Rita Afsar,Mahabub Hossain,2019-11-05 Between 1991 and 2010 Dhaka s population more than doubled to 15 million Simultaneously the city s contribution to the national economy almost trebled Clearly population growth was accompanied by an unmistakable trend of economic growth and a significant decline in urban poverty and income inequality On the other hand Dhaka s high population density exacerbated serious environmental challenges and it was soon ranked as one of the world s least livable cities In the context of these contradictory signals of rapid urbanization Dhaka s Changing Landscape sets to answer three most intriguing questions Are the poorer segments of urban population which migrate with dreams for better lives benefitting from positive economic trends Are these benefits sustainable Are these benefits creating scope for this group to have a stake in the city s growing prosperity By studying 600 households and applying comparative analysis over a span of 20 years the authors examine demographic and economic trends to understand the patterns scale and complexity of urban poverty income inequality and rural urban migration Going beyond the space and poverty debate they enlighten the readers about the quality of life questions sustainability matters and gender and generational roles and relations necessary to understand qualitative transformation and migrants prospects for a better future Social Science Research in India and the World R. K. Mishra,Jayasree Raveendran,K. N. Jehangir,2015-05-15 A unique and comprehensive study on social science research this book highlights the status issues roadblocks and challenges of the field in India and certain select nations of the world It conducts key cross comparisons with existing literature in the area and discusses aid policies and decisions funding dynamics and quality of research as well as assessment systems in social science research Migration, Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilsborrow,1998 Internal migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is one of the greatest transformations witnessed in the 20th century Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where internal migration can be felt at first hand view migration as one of the most important factors affecting the course of development It is within this context that UNFPA convened the Symposium on Internal Migration and Urbanization in Developing Countries in January 1996 in preparation for the United Nations World Conference on Human Settlements in Istanbul in June 1996 The final results of the symposium are found in this book This volume provides a better understanding at global level of internal migration issues of concern to policy analysts Remittance Income and Social

Resilience among Migrant Households in Rural Bangladesh Mohammad Jalal Uddin Sikder,Vaughan Higgins,Peter Harry Ballis,2017-09-30 This book examines how migrant remittances contribute to household social resilience in rural Bangladesh Using a mixed methods approach the authors show that remittances play a crucial role in enhancing the life chances and economic livelihoods of rural households and that remittance income enables households to overcome immediate pressures adapt to economic and environmental change build economic and cultural capital and provide greater certainty in planning for the future However the book also reveals that the social and economic benefits of remittances are not experienced equally by all households Rural village households endure a precarious existence and the potentially positive outcomes of remittances can easily be undermined by a range of external and household specific factors leading to few if any benefits in terms of household social resilience Women and Domestic Violence in Bangladesh Laila Ashrafun,2018-04-17 After the independence of Bangladesh in 1971 the country has experienced large scale transformations owing to national and international migration urbanization the development of many national and international non governmental organizations NGOs and economic dynamism Globalization and economic liberalization have created opportunities to develop sustainable social policies by strengthening the national economy of the country Major progress has been made in closing the gender gap and the Constitution of Bangladesh provides equality of status and opportunity to all its citizens irrespective of sex However domestic violence perpetuated against women is a common phenomenon in Bangladesh This book is a study about domestic violence against women in Bangladeshi society It delineates in particular why and how some women become the victims of domestic violence in the changing socio economic setting of Bangladesh The author explores the multiple contexts in which domestic violence occurs by focusing on the everyday experience of women subjected to this violence The book shows how changing socio economic setting urbanization and the growing demand for female labor influences the phenomenon and experience of domestic violence It demonstrates that domestic violence is entangled in a complex web of institutionalized social relations that necessitates a structural and contextual understanding of the production of such violence in family kinship and gender relations Finally it identifies factors that cause perpetuate and mitigate domestic violence or give strength to women to struggle and raise their voices or take shelter in the law against the perpetrators of domestic violence A novel contribution to our understanding of how gender relationships are differently constituted and contested in the everyday lives of Bangladeshi women both in natal and affinal families this book will be of interest to academics in the field of Sociology Gender and Law and South Asian Studies Dhaka Megacity Ashraf Dewan,Robert Corner,2013-09-09 The book Dhaka Megacity Geospatial Perspectives on Urbanisation Environment and Health presents the use of geospatial techniques to address a number of environmental issues including land use change climatic variability urban sprawl population density modelling flooding environmental health water quality energy resources urban growth modelling infectious diseases and the quality of life Although the work is focused on the Megacity of Dhaka in

Bangladesh the techniques and methods that are used to research these issues can be utilized in any other areas where rapid population growth coupled with unplanned urbanization is leading to environmental degradation The book is useful for people working in the area of Geospatial Science Urban Geography Environmental Management and International Development Since the chapters in the book cover a range of environmental issues this book describes useful tools for assisting informed decision making particularly in developing countries Urban Poverty in Bangladesh Shahadat Hossain,2010-11-30 The analysis of urban poverty has traditionally been dominated by economic approaches often neglecting the social questions arising from poverty This book seeks to redress the balance and is based on both quantitative and qualitative data collected from different slums in Dhaka City Bangladesh Shahadat Hossain shows that the slum communities experience the highest level of poverty and marginality in the city They remain very much dependent on their families and social networking in their struggle to adapt to urban life This book will be invaluable for those working in the areas of urban studies development studies Asian studies sociology and social policy studies
