Formal Logic, a Scientific and Social Problem Ferdinand Canning Scott Schiller,1912 A Scientific Search for Altruism C. Daniel Batson,2018-10-19 For centuries the egoism altruism debate has echoed through Western thought Egoism says that the motivation for everything we do including our seemingly selfless acts of care for others is to gain one or another self benefit Altruism while not denying the force of self interest says that under certain circumstances we can care for others for their sakes not our own Over the past half century social psychologists have turned to laboratory experiments on humans to provide a scientific resolution of this debate about our nature The experiments have focused on the possibility that empathic concern other oriented emotion elicited by and congruent with the perceived welfare of someone in need produces altruistic motivation to remove that need With carefully constructed experimental designs these scientists have tested the nature of the motivation produced by empathic concern determining whether it is egoistic or altruistic and thereby providing an answer to a fundamental question about what makes us tick Framed as a detective story this book traces the scientific search for altruism through numerous studies and attempts to examine various motivational suspects reaching the improbable conclusion that empathy induced altruism is indeed part of our nature The book then considers the implications of this conclusion both for our understanding of who we are as humans the bad news as well as the good and for how we might create a more humane society Social Cognition Susan Professor Fiske,2018-01-29 In the World Library of Psychologists series international experts present career long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces extracts from books key articles salient research findings and their major practical theoretical contributions Susan T Fiske has an international reputation as an eminent scholar and pioneer in the field of social cognition Throughout her distinguished career she has investigated how people make sense of other people using shortcuts that reveal prejudices and stereotypes Her research in particular addresses how these biases are encouraged or discouraged by social relationships such as cooperation competition and power In 2013 she was elected to the National Academy of Sciences and in 2011 to the British Academy She has also won several scientific honours including the Guggenheim Fellowship the APA Distinguished Scientific Contributions Award the APS William James Fellow Award as well as the European Federation of Psychologists Associations

Wundt James Award and honorary degrees in Belgium the Netherlands Spain and Switzerland This collection of selected publications illustrates the foundations of modern social cognition research and its development in the late twentieth and early twenty first century In a specially written introductory chapter Fiske traces the key advances in social cognition throughout her career and so this book will be invaluable reading for students and researchers in social cognition person perception and intergroup bias
