Italian Film in the Light of Neorealism Millicent Marcus, 2020-03-31 The movement known as neorealism lasted seven years generated only twenty one films failed at the box office and fell short of its didactic and aesthetic aspirations Yet it exerted such a profound influence on Italian cinema that all the best postwar directors had to come to terms with it whether in seeming imitation the early Olmi in commercial exploitation the middle Comencini or in ostensible rejection the recent Taviani Despite the reactionary pressures of the marketplace and the highly personalized visions of Fellini Antonioni And Visconti Italian cinema has maintained its moral commitment to use the medium in socially responsible ways if not to change the world as the first neorealists hoped then at least to move filmgoers to face the pressing economic political and human problems in their midst From Rossellini s Open City 1945 to the Taviani brothers Night of the Shooting Stars 1982 The author does close readings of seventeen films that tell the story of neorealism s evolving influence on Italian postwar cinematic expression Other films discussed are De Sica s Bicycle Thief and Umberto D De Santis s Bitter Rice Comencini s Bread Love and Fantasy Fellini s La strada Visconti s Senso Antonioni s Red Desert Olmi s Il Posto Germi s Seduced and

Screenwriters José Guilherme Correa, 2016-07-13 Screen writing is a unique literary form Screenplays are like musical scores in that they are intended to be interpreted on the basis of other artists performances rather than serving as finished products for the enjoyment of their readers They are written using technical jargon and tight spare prose to describe set directions Unlike a novella a script focuses on describing the literal visual aspects of the story rather than on its characters internal thoughts In screen writing the aim is to evoke those thoughts and emotions through subtext action and symbolism Prominent Hollywood script doctors include Steve Zaillian William Goldman Robert Towne Mort Nathan Quentin Tarantino etc while many up and coming screenwriters work as ghost writers This book is a modest catalogue of some of the most prominent screenwriters listed from A to Z The good are sometimes bad and they can be even Ugly Many comments herein included were googled in deference to the multiplicity of information available today yet they reflect exactly or almost what I thought An amazing thing today is how anonymous commentators on the Internet rival and even surpass the poor quality of professional media and specialised literature It all comes down to watching the truth 24 times per second to quote Jean Luc Godard's phrase Not to mention that such truth may include sex scenes violence pedophilia etc We know that a literary masterpiece like Henry James Portrait of a Lady became a film of very poor quality as scripted by Laura Jones We know conversely that a mediocre writer like Mickey Spillane inspired at least one film as remarkable as Kiss Me Deadly thanks to A I Bezzerides script As a former screenwriter Mr Correa must avow that he found the job most gratifying Writing that looks effortless is often hellish to write and revise It was something he did have to slog through but it proved particularly pleasing Editing discussing finishing your work is particularly gratifying Identifying your flaws and working to mitigate them is also gratifying It is a general perception that creative careers are more interesting and fun than others But the privilege of earning money through imagination and creativity is effectively hard won Please comment at will Please disagree at will Be facetious in your remarks but please be neither vicious nor mean spirited

Encyclopedia of Italian Literary Studies: A-J Gaetana Marrone, 2007 Publisher description Women in War Films Ralph Donald, Karen MacDonald, 2014-04-04 War has been depicted in cinema for more than a century from early silent films to more recent blockbusters such as Saving Private Ryan and Lone Survivor. Most war films especially combat films are about men engaged in battle. But while Hollywood has reinforced the cultural stereotype of war as a man's job, women have not been completely invisible in many of these films, whether waiting for their men to return home or standing shoulder to shoulder with their male counterparts on the battlefield. In Women in War Films: From Helpless Heroine to G.I. Jane, Ralph Donald and Karen MacDonald examine the representations of females in war throughout the history of film. They identify various types of women portrayed in these films: from home front wives and daughters supporting their loved ones from afar to nurses and doctors stationed near the front lines of combat. The authors also look at depictions of foreign females who comfort homesick soldiers, ordinary women who unexpectedly encounter the enemy, female spies, and modern enlistees taking on roles traditionally reserved for men. Through these representations, the authors explore what war films say about the culture that created them and the social construction of reality that these films assert. The book covers an array of war films distributed in the United States, including Hearts of the World, Wings, Mata Hari, Mrs. Miniver, Casablanca, Cry Havoc, Since You Went Away, The Best Years of Our Lives, From Here to Eternity, The Americanization of Emily, M.A.S.H., Coming Home, Courage Under Fire, G.I. Jane, and Zero Dark Thirty. Featuring an extensive filmography, Women in War Films will appeal to scholars of gender studies, history, and film, as well as to readers interested in the evolving portrayals of females in military-related cinema.
