Mona Minim And The Smell Of Sun:

Mona Minim and the Smell of the Sun Janet Frame, 1993 Written in 1969 this is the story of a young house ant Other work by the author includes An Angel at My Table Daughter Buffalo The Lagoon and The Carpathians which won the Commonwealth Prize for Literature in 1989

Minor Genres in Postcolonial Literatures Delphine Munos, Bénédicte Ledent, 2020-06-05 Moving beyond the postcolonial literature field s traditional focus on the novel this book shines a light on the minor genres in which postcolonial issues are also explored The contributors examine the intersection of generic issues with postcolonial realities in regions such as South Africa Nigeria New Zealand Indonesia Australia the United Kingdom and the Caribbean These minor genres include crime fiction letter writing radio plays poetry the novel in verse and short stories as well as blogs and essays The volume closes with Robert Antoni s discussion of his use of the vernacular and digital resources in As Flies to Whatless Boys 2013 and suggests that major genres might yield new webs of meaning when digital media are mobilized with a view to creating new forms of hybridity and multiplicity that push genre boundaries In focusing on underrepresented and understudied genres this book pays justice to the multiplicity of the field of postcolonial studies and gives voice to certain literary traditions within which the novel occupies a less central position This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Postcolonial Writing Janet Frame in Her Own Words Janet

Frame, 2011-10-31 It is the desire really to make myself a first person For many years I was a third person as children are they she and as probably oppressed minorities become they Janet Frame radio interview about writing her autobiography 1983 For the first time ever this collection brings together Janet Frame s published short non fiction in one collected volume as well as material never seen before Letters spanning 50 years of Frame s life are published alongside essays reviews speeches and extracts from interviews This startling collection provides an unprecedented range of factual writings about herself her life and her work It reveals many aspects Janet Frame s character that will challenge some long standing myths and preconceptions about New Zealand s most famous author Dangerous Writing Carmen Luz Fuentes-Vásquez, 2013 This book examines the literary construction of personal identity through autobiographical narratives by three significant writers analysed together for the first time the Scottish Willa Muir 1890 1970 the Canadian Margaret Laurence 1926 1987 and the New Zealander Janet Frame 1924 2004 These apparently dissimilar authors suffered not only geographical but also political marginality they were women from the working class or struggling middle class striving to be considered as professional writers and emerging from countries that might be felt to be under the shadows of economic and political world powers such as England and the United States During their lifetimes they exerted themselves to overcome prejudices about class gender and ethnicity They experienced war and the post war era and lived through most of the twentieth century being accurate witnesses and critics of their times As it discusses major writers who are iconic for the development of the literatures of their respective countries this book also attracts readers who are interested in learning more about the lives of these remarkable women the way their socio historical and geographical circumstances affected their writing and how they expressed such concerns in their autobiographies and other fictional and non fictional works besides considering them in relation to contemporary women writers and autobiographers who underwent similar experiences Owls Do Cry Janet Frame, 2016-11-21 First published in New Zealand in 1957 Owls Do Cry was Janet Frame's second book and the first of her thirteen novels Now approaching its 60th anniversary it is securely a landmark in Frame's catalog and indeed a landmark of modernist literature The novel spans twenty years in the Withers family tracing Daphne's coming of age into a post war New Zealand too narrow to know what to make of her She is deemed mad institutionalized and made to undergo a risky lobotomy Margaret Drabble calls Owls Do Cry a song of survival it is Daphne's song of survival but also the author's Frame was herself misdiagnosed with schizophrenia and scheduled for brain surgery She was famously saved only when she won New Zealand's premier fiction prize Frame was among the first major writers of the twentieth century to confront life in mental institutions and Owls Do Cry is important for this perspective But it is equally valuable for its poetry its incisive satire and its acute social observations A sensitively rendered portrait of childhood and adolescence and a testament to the power of imagination this early novel is a first rate example of Frame's powerful lyric and original prose Wrestling with the Angel Michael King, 2002-03-07 Janet Frame born in 1924 is New Zealand's most celebrated and least public author Her early life in small South Island towns seemed at times engulfed in a tide of doom one brother still born another epileptic two sisters dead of heart failure while swimming Frame herself committed to mental hospitals for the best part of a decade Later her surviving sister was temporarily felled in adulthood by a stroke an uncle cut his throat and a cousin shot his lover his lover's parents and then himself This then is an inspiring biography of a woman who climbed out of an abyss of unhappiness to take control of her life and become one of the great writers of her time And to enable her biographer to write this book scrupulously and honestly Janet Frame spoke for the first time about her whole life She also made available her personal papers and directed her family and friends to be equally communicative The result is a biography of astonishing intimacy and frankness written by multi award winning author Dr Michael King Antipodean Childhoods Helga Ramsey-Kurz, Ulla Ratheiser, 2020-05-15 Though obvious the productiveness of combining the three concepts of childhood otherness and the postcolonial has not inspired much academic inquiry so far The essays assembled in this book make up for this omission and address aspects of growing up in Australia and New Zealand from various angles They base their argument on the premise that whether in settler migrant or indigenous communities children tend to be ascribed a space of their own mostly outside but never independent of that of adults How adults configure this space both practically and imaginatively for instance in the arts in adult and children's literature in film and photography or in historical documents is one of the questions answered in the process How these configurations have developed with time and under the influence of specific historical circumstances is another Thus the individual papers are more than a contribution to the current re discovery of the theme of childhood in

European cultures in that Antipodean Childhoods remains centrally concerned with the cultural specificity of childhoods lived in Australia and New Zealand and with the theoretical relevance of this specificity to postcolonial literary cultural and historical studies The Library Journal ,1993-10 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately

Janet Frame Matthew Paul Pierre,2011-05-12 In Janet Frame Semiotics and Biosemiotics in Her Early Fiction Paul Matthew St Pierre exploits the linguistic discipline of semiotics and the neurobiological discipline of biosemiotics to propose an original and dynamic reading of the first four works of fiction by New Zealand writer Janet Frame 1924 2004 The Lagoon Stories 1951 Owls Do Cry 1957 Faces in the Water 1961 and The Edge of the Alphabet 1962 Opposing the prevailing reading of Frame s early fiction as autobiographical deriving from her medical history he argues her books are singular evocations of her astonishing imagination His purpose is to fix this historical record and provide an alternative model for interpreting one of the 20th century s most stylistically demanding and rewarding writers Semiotics and biosemiotics are his means for unlocking the early fiction and her later works to a polemical analysis focusing on language sign transmissions writing the body and the biosemiotic self In The Lagoon Owls Do Cry Faces in the Water and The Edge of the Alphabet Frame produced what St Pierre interprets as an original semiotic and biosemiotic modeling system that she applied throughout her oeuvre of twenty books comprising eight story collections seven novels a book of poetry a children s novel and three volumes of autobiography Using this modeling system she designed her fiction as a visual verbal field consisting of still and moving images generated in the imagination located in the brains and central nervous systems of her narrators characters and readers and primarily of the author herself The author discusses the significations of 1 Frame s image signs in water glass photographs film membranes skin and clothing 2 her primary sign repertoire of objects language and human persons in the figures of blood skin and sun 3 her body signs including those generated in the circulatory and neurological systems of all human organisms as biosemiotic living s Library Journal ,1993 The International Who's Who of Women 2002

Elizabeth Sleeman,2001 Over 5 500 detailed biographies of the most eminent talented and distinguished women in the world today Towards Another Summer Janet Frame,2010-10-08 Self styled writer Grace Cleave has writers block and her anxiety is only augmented by her chronic aversion to leaving her home to be among people even for five or ten minutes And so it is with trepidation that she accepts an invitation to The New York Times Book Review ,1969-04 The Unharnessed World Cindy Gabrielle,2015-06-18 Though New Zealand author Janet Frame 1924 2004 lived at a time of growing dissatisfaction with European cultural models and though her auto biography fiction and letters all testify to the fact that a direct encounter between herself and Buddhism occurred her work has so far never been examined from the vantage point of its indebtedness to Buddhism It is of the utmost significance however that a Buddhist navigation of Frame s texts should shed fresh light on large segments of the Framean corpus which have tended to remain obdurately mysterious This includes passages centering on such themes as the existence of a non dual world or a character's sudden embrace of a non ego like self Of equal significance is the conclusion one then draws that this unharnessed world which human beings are often unable to embrace has always been right under their nose for whenever the aspect of the intellect that filters perceptions into mutually excluding categories fails to function he or she finds a place of subjective arrival in and sees this supposedly unknowable beyond Thus possibly against the grain of mainstream criticism this study argues that Janet Frame constantly seeks ways through which the infinite and the Other can be approached though not corrupted by the perceiving self and that she found in the Buddhist epistemology a pathway towards evoking such alterity

Between My Father and the King Janet Frame, 2014-05-13 This brand new collection of 28 short stories spans the length of Frame's career and contains some of the best she wrote None of these stories have been published in a collection before and more than half are published for the first time in Between My Father and the King The piece Gorse is Not People caused Frame a setback in 1954 when Charles Brasch rejected it for publication in Landfall and along with others for one reason or other deliberately remained unpublished during her lifetime Previously published pieces have appeared in Harper's Bazaar the NZ Listener the New Zealand School Journal Landfall and The New Yorker over the years and one otherwise unpublished piece The Gravy Boat was read aloud by Frame for a radio broadcast in 1953 In these stories readers will recognize familiar themes scenes characters and locations from Frame's writing and life and each offers a fresh fictional transformation that will captivate and absorb

In the Memorial Room Janet Frame, 2014-12-16 Harry Gill a moderately successful writer of historical fiction has been awarded the annual Watercress Armstrong Fellowship a living memorial to the poet Margaret Rose Hurndell He arrives in the small French village of Menton where Hurndell once lived and worked to write But the Memorial Room is not suitable it has no electricity or water Hurndell never wrote here though it is expected of Harry Janet Frame's previously unpublished novel draws on her own experiences in Menton France as a Katherine Mansfield Fellow It is a wonderful social satire a send up of the cult of the dead author and in the best tradition of Frame a fascinating exploration of the complexity and the beauty of language

Janet Frame Claire Bazin, 2011 Claire Bazin explores the extraordinary life of Janet Frame and highlights the author's significant contribution to postcolonial and gender studies

A Dictionary of Writers and their Works Christopher Riches, Michael Cox, 2015-01-29 Over 3 200 entries An essential guide to authors and their works that focuses on the general canon of British literature from the fifteenth century to the present There is also some coverage of non fiction such as biographies memoirs and science as well as inclusion of major American and Commonwealth writers This online exclusive new edition adds 60 000 new words including over 50 new entries dealing with authors who have risen to prominence in the last five years as well as fully updating the entries that currently exist Each entry provides details of a writer's nationality and birth death dates followed by a listing of their titles arranged chronologically by date of publication

Twentieth Century Fiction George Woodcock, 1983-04-01 Prizes Janet Frame, 2010-12-01 The most comprehensive selection of Janet Frame's stories ever published this exceptional collection has been chosen from the four different volumes released during her lifetime. Featuring the best of her stories, the book includes pieces that were written over four decades, including stories from her debut collection The Lagoon and Other Stories, first published in 1951. Those stories were written while Frame was confined in a mental hospital. When the collection won the Hubert Church Award, a threatened brain operation akin to a lobotomy was averted. The stories in this new book also include selections from You Are Now Entering the Human Heart, published in the 1980s after a hiatus from writing. The last stories she published before her death; her writings from this time reveal Frame's unflinching ability to explore the drama of madness, isolation, and identity. This new book also includes five short stories that have not been collected before, completing a volume that testifies to the brilliance of Janet Frame's life and literary talent.
