Getting value for money from the education of 16- to 18-year-olds
 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts,2011-08-16
 This report examines the effectiveness and efficiency of the current education system for 16 to 18 year olds
 In 2009 over 1 6 million 16 to 18 year olds participated in some form of education and training at a cost of over 6 billion
 Most studied full time for qualifications such as A levels or National Vocational Qualifications at a general further education college sixth form college or school sixth form
 The system governing the education of 16 to 18 year olds is devolved and complex
 The Department for Education the Department has overall responsibility and the Young People s Learning Agency funds education providers and monitors their performance
 Local authorities have a duty to secure provision but they have limited powers and having duties without powers cannot work effectively
 There has been an overall improvement in the achievements of 16 to 18 year olds over the last four years
 Students in larger providers have generally achieved better results Smaller providers by collaborating can achieve some of the benefits of size In a market consistently poor providers should fail because they lose funding as students choose to study elsewhere For the 16 to 18 education market to work effectively there needs to be consistent and relevant information so the Department can assess value for money and students can make informed judgements about their courses and what they lead to Also where a provider s performance is poor there must be clarity about the criteria for intervention and the timing and extent of intervention Neither is fully in place at present The Student Financial Aid Act of 1975, Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education Of..., 94-1, March 12, 13, 17, 19, 20, 24, 25, 26; April 8, 9, 10, and 11, 1975 United States.
