

THE RICH HISTORY OF U.S. CURRENCY

BILLS

A Brief History

1776
Americans create their own currency — the Continental Currency — but the notes failed.

1862
The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) creates the first currency issued by the government.

1863
Fractional currency notes are issued in denominations of 1-, 10-, 25 and 50 cents.

1877
The BEP becomes the sole producer of all U.S. currency.

1886
Martha Washington appears on the $1 silver certificate, the first woman to do so.

1929
Paper money reduces in size from 3.4x5.5 inches to 2.4x4.5 inches.

1934
The largest bill ever issued, the $10,000 Federal Reserve Note, features President William Howard Taft. It is never circulated.

1991
BEP adds microprinting and transverse security threads to make counterfeiting more difficult.

1996
BEP rolls out the biggest redesign since 1929. New watermarks, a universal Federal Reserve seal, and new security features.

2013
The $100 note gets a redesign and introduces two advanced security features: the 3-D Security Ribbon and the Bell in the Inkwell.

COINS

Making Cents Of It All

1792
The United States Mint opens its doors. Original gold coins included $10, $5 and $2.50.

1793
The Mint's first delivery of coins consists of 11,728 copper cents.

1793-1857
The Mint produces half-cent coins.

1796
The motto "E Pluribus Unum" (meaning "One Out of Many") and a reference to the unity of states is first used on U.S. coinage.

1864
The motto "In God We Trust" is minted. The motto has been required by law for paper money since 1937.

1875-1878
The second piece appears in circulation.

1892
The first U.S. commemorative coin is the half dollar featuring Christopher Columbus.

1909
The Lincoln cent is issued to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth. It is the only circulating coin with a right-facing portrait.

1932
George Washington is chosen to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first president's birth.

1938
Paul S. Newlin wins a $1,000 prize for designing the portrait of Thomas Jefferson and Monticello on the front and back of the nickel.

1943
Due to a WWII shortage, zinc-coated steel replaces copper in pennies.

1946
Just a year after his death, Franklin D. Roosevelt makes it onto the dime.

1946-1951
Lyndon B. Johnson is the first African American to appear on a memorial half dollar.

1964
Kennedy half-dollars are minted, less than a month after his assassination.

1979, 2000, 2009
Susan B. Anthony (1979), Sacagawea (2000), and John F. Kennedy (2009) are the only women ever featured on a circulating coin.

Money Can't Buy Us Love Gavin Buckland,2019-08-08 In 1960 the wealthy owner of the Merseyside based Littlewoods corporation John Moores took control of Everton Football Club setting in motion a chain of events that still affect the game in this country today Everton had enjoyed success before Moores s takeover but things would never be the same again from the moment he walked through Goodison s doors Although big clubs had spent money before none had done so with such naked short term ambition and a ruthlessness to succeed that sent shockwaves through the previously stagnant world of English football The new owner's ruthless streak was personified by his first major move sacking the popular Johnny Carey in the back of a London taxi in April 1961 Everton would finish that 1960-61 season in fifth place their highest position since World War Two but the Irishman's affable nature cost him his job In his place Moores wanted a man in his own image to lead the club forward and he soon found him Harry Catterick Catterick was little over 40 years old and had been an Everton player himself only ten years before But as a boss he exuded an aura that demanded respect and obedience from his players It was a characteristic that won him few fans but plenty of trophies and across the decade Everton reasserted themselves as one of English football's powerhouses winning two league titles and an FA Cup Catterick's ability to nurture young products of the club's youth set up such as Colin Harvey and Joe Royle was trumped only by his mastery of the transfer market allowing him to sign the great Howard Kendall from Preston North End and World Cup winner Alan Ball from under his rivals noses Harvey Kendall and Ball would soon form the club's greatest midfield trio and their brilliance would underpin the 1969-70 title win a victory for free flowing football in an era of cynicism That trophy would be Everton's last major honour for 14 years In Money Can't Buy Us Love Everton's official statistician Gavin Buckland tells the tale of how Moores and manager Harry Catterick took the so called Mersey Millionaires to the summit of English football in the context of the major cultural changes of the time The book provides a forensic character study of both Catterick and Moores and also delves into the archives to provide a definitive account of the incidents that rocked the club in a fruitful but turbulent decade including allegations of doping in the 1962-63 campaign the 1964 match fixing scandal which signalled the end of Tony Kay's career and the shock sale of Alan Ball Money Can't Buy Us Love offers fascinating insight into how strong personalities can take a team to the very top but can also cause in its ultimate downfall money borrowed for investment can be repaid only by expanding production and consumption to meet the burden of usurious rates of interest The roots of this dynamic between debt and growth lay in the financial revolution of the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries in Britain which established a new usurious monetary system For the first time in history credit was made widely available but only on condition of an exponentially increasing debt burden To pay back debts production had to increase correspondingly leading to the industrial revolution economic growth and modernity itself Though private creditors gained a monopoly over the creation of credit and were disproportionately enriched the resulting economic growth for a time was great enough to benefit most debtors as well as creditors ensuring widespread prosperity That is no longer the case With today s eco crisis we have reached the limits of growth We no longer have the natural resources to grow fast enough to pay our debts This is the real root of our current financial crisis If we are to live sustainably our system of money and credit must be transformed We need a non usurious monetary system appropriate to a steady state economy with capital broadly distributed at non usurious rates of interest Such a system was developed by an early nineteenth century American thinker Edward Kellogg and is explored here in depth His work inspired the populist movement and remains more relevant than ever as a viable alternative to the a financial system we can no longer afford Rethinking Money and Capital: New Economics for QE, Stimulus, Negative Interest, and Cryptocurrencies Swapnil Pawar, While money and capital occupy a centre stage in our daily lives we rarely pause to think about their real nature Contrary to an intuitive and unstated belief of most people money and capital are not resources but simply bidding tokens This rethinking of their nature can free the collective energies of human race from several artificially imposed constraints that hold no water upon closer scrutiny The analysis in this book leads to many counterintuitive conclusions For example the fiscal deficit is the counterpart of the demand for net savings by individuals and not an evil to be battled Inflation is sometimes an indicator of more egalitarian distribution of incomes and not always a scourge that hurts the poor There is a strong case for negative real interest rates on risk free debt The book employs these and several other such inferences into a broad program for reinvigorating our economic policy towards a better life for all Cyclopædia of Political Science, Political Economy, and of the Political History of the United States John Joseph Lalor,1884 A short history of paper money and banking in the United States William M.
