Money In Politics Financing Federal Parties And Candidates In Canada:

Funding of Political Parties and Election Campaigns, 2014-04-01 All political parties need funding to play their part in the political process yet the role of money in politics is arguably the biggest threat to democracy today This global threat knows no boundaries and is evident across all continents from huge corporate campaign donations in the United States and drug money seeping into politics in Latin America to corruption scandals throughout Asia and Europe Attempts to tackle these challenges through political finance laws and regulations are often undermined by a lack of political will or capacity as well as poorly designed and enforced measures This Handbook addresses the problems of money in politics by analysing political finance regulations around the world and providing guidance for reform The chapters are divided by region each assesses the current state of regulations in relation to its challenges and offers a series of recommendations to tackle the identified shortcomings This contextual approach has the benefit of revealing regional trends and patterns An additional chapter focuses on gender reflecting the reality that women remain grossly under represented in politics and how the increasing Campaign And Party Finance In North America And Western influence of money in politics perpetuates this inequality Europe Arthur B. Gunlicks, 2019-04-08 This book provides information about how policies and practices regarding public financing abroad focusing on North America and several Western European countries can help Americans develop their own ideas about reform possibilities Interest Groups and Elections in Canada F. Leslie Seidle, 1991-01-01 The two studies in Interest Groups and Elections in Canada explore the nature and influence of special interest groups They consider different aspects of the question In the context of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms how can the laws intended to secure a fair electoral process be reconciled with freedom of expression Janet Hiebert reviews the limits on interest groups adopted in 1974 and amended in 1983 profiles the groups involved inthe 1988 federal election and discusses relevant legislation and jurisprudence in the provinces and abroad She concludes that spending limits for parties and candidates will only be effective if there are also restrictions on independent expenditures during elections by groups and individuals Brian Tanguay and Barry Kay assess the influence attributed to locally oriented interest groups including by members of Parliament and conclude that these organizations have less influence on the political process than is the popular view The authors conclude that dissatisfaction is a key variable explaining the role of these interest groups and their activities during elections Comparative Issues in Party and Election Finance F. Leslie Seidle, 1991-01-01 This book is one of 23 volumes of research commissioned by the Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing and one of five volumes within this series dealing specifically with party and election finance Because the issue of money in elections is as old as democracy the experience of other countries is instructive The studies in this volume offer Canadians information about approaches to funding political parties and elections in the United States and Western Europe The studies by Herbert Alexander and Robert Mutch exmaine how the United States has approached issues such as contribution limits and the disclosure of election finances The latter study provides explicit comparisons to Canada noting the constitutional roleof the Supreme Court in each country Jane Jenson draws on Western European experience to propose and assess reforms for the public funding for party foundations is documented by Michael Pinto Duschinsky The studies approach theirm aterial from a historical perspective noting the uniqueness of the constitutions institutions and traditions of the countries reviewed The authors provide background essential to any consideration of whether foreign experience might serve as a model for Canada

Women in Canadian Politics Kathy Megyery, 1991-01-01 Women are the most under represented social group in the elected assemblies of the worl Women everywhere constitute m ore than one half of the population and rarely are more than a handful of the political elite The studies in this volume examine women's involvement in political parties both past and present Empirical studies identify the roles Canadian women play in parties the opportunities and barriers they face and their progress toward greater representation in the political process The questions addressed in this volume include What are the major barriers to women s entry into federal politics Janine Brodie Do large numbers of women remain confined to pink collar work at the expensive of executive positions Sylvia Bashevkin What is the impact of the candidate selection process on the election of women to the House of Commons Lynda Erickson How does incumbency affect the number of women elected to federal office Lisa Young What is the influence of media coverage on women in politics Gertrude Robinson and Armande Saint Jean The authors agree that the under representation of women in politics undermines the democratic credibility of our governing institutions Nonetheless they are cautiously optimistic regarding the prospects for the third generation of women entering politics Media and Voters in Canadian Election Campaigns Frederick J. Fletcher, 1991-01-01 Media And Voters In Canadian Election Campaigns Money, Politics, and Democracy Lisa Young, Harold J. Jansen, 2011-02-08 In 2004 Jean Chr tien's Liberals banned unions and corporations from contributing financially to political parties In 2008 opposition leaders were prepared to defeat the Conservative government over its proposal to eliminate public subsidies to parties In Money Politics and Democracy Lisa Young and Harold Jansen lead a distinguished group of political scientists in exploring the issues that led to the showdown Are publicly funded parties compatible with democracy What effect have campaign finance reforms had on the balance of power between parties and donors on the relationship between national parties and local organizations on electoral competition This timely volume reveals that the financial centre of gravity for political parties is shifting between national and local organizations as individual donors replace unions and corporations To survive financially parties must now maximize their seats and votes Contributors show that campaign finance reforms have shaped party organization and electoral competition contributing to successive minority governments Election Broadcasting In Canada Frederick J. Fletcher, 1991-01-01 Election Broadcasting in Canada explores the role of media in Canadian politics David R Spencer David Hogarth Catherine M Bolan and others look at the history legal framework and difficulties in election broadcasting as well as the impact of new

Canadian party politics collapsed in the early 1990s This book is about that collapse about the end of a party system with a unique pattern of party organization and competition that had governed Canada's national politics for several decades and about the ongoing struggle to build its successor Rebuilding Canadian Party Politics discusses the breakdown of the old party system the emergence of the Reform Party and the Bloc Qu b cois and the fate of the Conservative and New Democratic Parties It focuses on the internal workings of parties in this new era examining the role of professionals new technologies and local activists To understand the ambiguities of our current party system the authors attended local and national party meetings nomination and leadership meetings and campaign kick off rallies They visited local campaign offices to observe the parties grassroots operations and conducted interviews with senior party officials pollsters media and advertising specialists and leader tour directors Written in a lively and accessible style this book will interest students of party politics and Canadian political history as well as general readers eager to make sense of the changes reshaping national politics today

Youth in Canadian Politics Kathy Megyery, 2013-12-30 The studies in this volume uncover a wide range of opinion about young people and their involvement in politics Funding of Political Parties and Election Campaigns Julie Ballington, 2003 This handbook provides a general description of the different models of political finance regulations and analyses the relationship between party funding and effective democracy. The most important part of the book is an extensive matrix on political finance laws and regulations for about 100 countries Public funding regulations ceilings on campaign expenditure bans on foreign donations and enforcing an agency are some of the issues covered in the study Includes regional studies and discusses how political funding can affect women and men differently and the delicate issue of monitoring control and enforcement of political finance laws Aboriginal Peoples and Electoral Reform in Canada Robert A. Milen, 1991-01-01 This collection of papers on elections electoral law and electoral reform as they affect aboriginal peoples Indian Inuit Metis includes a comparison with New Zealand and the Maori situation campaign coverage considerations of nordicity and native press and communications Ethno-Cultural Groups and Visible Minorities in Canadian Politics Kathy Megyery, 1996-08-08 The studies in this volume examine the nature and extent of their participation in Canadian politics in both political parties and the House of Commons While these groups feel marginalized they believe strongly in the objectives of democracy and want to participate in a Canada that realizes those ideals more successfully Political Parties in Advanced Industrial Democracies Paul Webb, David Farrell, Ian Holliday, 2002-09-26 How relevant and vital are political parties in contemporary democracies Do they fulfill the functions that any stable and effective democracy might expect of them or are they little more than moribund anachronisms relics of a past age of political life now superseded by other mechanisms of linkage between state and society These are the central questions which this book aims to address through a rigorous comparative analysis of political parties operating in the world's advanced industrial democracies Drawing on the expertise of an impressive team of internationally known specialists the book engages systematically with the evidence to show that while a degree of popular cynicism towards them is often chronic though rarely acute parties have adapted and survived as organizations remodelling themselves to the needs of an era in which patterns of linkage and communication with social groups have been transformed This has enabled them to remain central to democratic systems especially in respect of the political functions of governance recruitment and albeit more problematically interest aggregation On the other hand the challenges they face in respect of interest articulation communication and participation have pushed parties into more marginal roles within Western political systems The implications of these findings for democracy depend on the observer s normative and theoretical perspectives Those who understand democracy primarily in terms of popular choice and control in public affairs will probably see parties as continuing to play a central role while those who place greater store by the more demanding criteria of optimizing interests and instilling civic orientations among citizens are far more likely to be fundamentally critical Comparative Politics is a series for students and teachers of political science that deals with contemporary issues in comparative government and politics The General Editors are Max Kaase Vice President and Dean of Humanities and Social Sciences International University Bremen and Kenneth Newton Professor of Government at Southampton University The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research Funding and Campaign Financing in International Perspective K D Ewing, Samuel Issacharoff, 2006-01-19 This volume deals with questions of political party funding and campaign financing issues which arouse controversy in many parts of the world How are the central actors in the political arena supposed to gather the funds necessary to operate effectively on behalf of their chosen political ends And how may they spend money in furtherance of their political objectives The aim of this volume the first in a new series of Columbia University London University collaborative projects is to explore these issues in the specific context of a number of national settings The studies presented here show that financing questions cannot be addressed independent of the constitutional conventions of the country the nature of the political parties in the country and the means of access to publication and the media in any given nation The national studies in this volume reveal a rich diversity in the approach to regulation in Australia Canada the European Union Japan New Zealand Quebec the United Kingdom and the United States The topicality of the issues considered is reflected in the fact that since the book was first mooted there have been major decisions of the US Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of Canada as well as an investigation and report by the Electoral Commission in the United Kingdom all of which have a direct bearing on the legal and policy issues discussed in this book Handbook of Political Party Funding Jonathan Mendilow, Eric Phélippeau, 2018-01-26 Scrutinizing a relatively new field of study the Handbook of Political Party Funding assesses the basic assumptions underlying the research presenting an unequalled variety of case studies from diverse political finance systems Recent Social Trends in Canada, 1960-2000 Lance W. Roberts, Rodney A. Clifton, Barry Ferguson, 2005-08-15 The introduction summarizes and locates the major waves of change The authors then document each trend in relation to eighteen thematic groups that include age community women labour management stratification social relations the state mobilizing institutions social forces ideologies households lifestyle leisure education integration and attitudes and values

The Big Red Machine Stephen Clarkson, 2011-11-01 The Liberal Party of Canada has governed for 78 of the last 110 years making it the most successful political party in the world How has one party been able to dominate the polls during such a tumultuous sweep of history Will it continue to win In The Big Red Machine astute Liberal observer Stephen Clarkson tells the story of the Liberal Party's performance in the last nine elections providing essential historical context for each and offering incisive behind the scenes detail about how the party has planned changed and executed its successful electoral strategies Arguing that the Liberal Party has opportunistically straddled the political centre since Sir John A Macdonald leaning left or moving right and as circumstances required Clarkson also shows that the party's grip on power is becoming increasingly uncertain having lost its appeal not just in the West but now in Qu bec Its campaigns now reflect the splintering of the party system and the integration of Canada into the global economy An ideal political primer deftly written and filled with a wealth of fact and analysis The Big Red Machine is a fascinating history of Liberal pragmatism communication tactics and dramatic changes in leadership style Even if the last century did not belong to Canada Canada turns out to have belonged to the Liberal Party Clarkson concludes Although he foresees considerably less rosy prospects for Grits in the years ahead the big red machine remains a formidable political force
