Monolingualism Of The Other Or The Prosthesis Of Origin Cultural Memory In The Present:

Monolingualism of the Other Jacques Derrida, 1998 I have but one language yet that language is not mine This book intertwines theoretical reflection with historical and cultural particularity to enunciate then analyze this conundrum in terms of the distinguished author's own relationship to the French language Its argument touches on several issues relevant to the current debates on multiculturalism

Adorno's Nonidentical and Derrida's Différance - For a Resurrection of Negative Dialectics Stefan Zenklusen, 2020-11-06 The virulent anti Hegelianism of French poststructuralism and its difficult confrontation with Jürgen Habermas has long obscured the closeness of Jacques Derrida's différance to Theodor W Adorno's Nonidentical Taking the overarching theme of identity and difference as a guide we can peel apart what unites and separates these two thinkers In so doing certain de-realizing effects of Derrida's entrapment in signs reveal themselves By contrast Adorno's social and cultural diagnosis when extrapolated to a post Fordian context is astonishingly fruitful Attempts to trivialize negative dialectics as a model of intellectual self understanding from a past age or as an esthetic reserve of ways of life are untenable

A Reinterpretation of Rousseau J. Alberg, 2007-10-01 In this radical reinterpretation of Rousseau Jeremiah Alberg argues that the philosopher's system of thought is founded on theological scandal and on Rousseau's inability to accept forgiveness Alberg explores his views in relation to alternative forms of Christianity

Scribal Representations and Social Landscapes of the Iron Age Shephelah Mahri Leonard-Fleckman, 2025 The Shephelah borderlands in the southwestern region of Iron Age Israel ca 1200-586 BCE are one of the most intensely excavated areas in the world a complex social political place standing between the central highlands and the coastal home of the so called biblical Philistines Yet the lives of these people on the margins of ancient Israel are lost to us today left only in the fragments of archaeological remains and in the Bible's entangled representations of the proximate Other In Scribal Representations and Social Landscapes of the Iron Age Shephelah Mahri Leonard-Fleckman delves into how the Other is created and fashioned in ancient witnesses to these regions by analyzing identity in the Iron Age Shephelah Focusing on two contemporary archaeological sites with plausible ancient connections Tel Batash ancient Timnah and Tell es

Safi ancient Gath she journeys through texts and archaeology that bear witness to the social and political complexities of the region Significantly she presents irresolution as a practice for scholars of the Hebrew Bible and the ancient Levant and illustrates how resisting conclusions can be an asset to investigating the distant past Along the way she advances new hypotheses that illuminate biblical passages describing individuals and communities from the region such as the stereotypical Philistines Samson Tamar Delilah and others The book draws together a range of critical perspectives to spark compelling conversations about identity and history between anthropologists archaeologists biblical scholars literary theorists and historians

Hope in a Secular Age David Newheiser, 2019-12-19 Uses premodern theology and postmodern theory to show the endurance of religious and political commitments through the practice of hope Crisis and Body Politics in Twenty-First Century Cultural Production Charlotte Spear, Madeleine Sinclair, 2025-01-31 The twenty first century has been deemed the Age of Crisis We are witnessing the catastrophic unfolding of environmental crisis financial crisis pandemic and conflict But are we to understand these crises as new phenomena Is their seemingly simultaneous existence purely coincidental Or rather do they instead form part of a singular historically produced unfolding crisis which only today has reached a generalised consciousness And perhaps most urgently how far can we separate the crises of human experience from those exacted upon the land The chapters collected in Crisis and Body Politics in Twenty First Century Cultural Production Territorial Bodies deploy the framework of Territorial Bodies to address urgent social ecological and political challenges Examining themes such as inter national bodily governance racialised bodies eco feminist movements spatial justice and bodily displacement this collection provides a deeper analysis of the interconnected forms of violence perpetrated against marginalised human and non human bodies taking this combined violence as the defining feature of contemporary crisis

Exile, Statelessness, and Migration Seyla Benhabib, 2018-09-11 An examination of the intertwined lives and writings of a group of prominent twentieth century Jewish thinkers who experienced exile and migration Exile Statelessness and Migration explores the intertwined lives careers and writings of a group of prominent Jewish intellectuals during the mid twentieth century in particular Theodor Adorno Hannah Arendt Walter Benjamin Isaiah Berlin Albert Hirschman and Judith Shklar as well as Hans Kelsen Emmanuel Levinas Gershom Scholem and Leo Strauss Informed by their Jewish identity and experiences of being outsiders these thinkers produced one of the most brilliant and effervescent intellectual movements of modernity Political philosopher Seyla Benhabib's starting point is that these thinkers faced migration statelessness and exile because of their Jewish origins even if they did not take positions on specifically Jewish issues personally The sense of belonging and not belonging of being eternally half other led them to confront essential questions What does it mean for the individual to be an equal citizen and to wish to retain one's ethnic cultural and religious differences or perhaps even to rid oneself of these differences altogether in modernity Benhabib isolates four themes in their works dilemmas of belonging and difference exile political voice and loyalty legality and legitimacy and pluralism and the problem of judgment Surveying the work of influential intellectuals Exile Statelessness and Migration recovers the valuable plurality of their Jewish voices and develops their universal insights in the face of the crises of this new century

Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust, Petra M. Schweitzer, 2016-04-08 Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust Writing Life begins with the premise that writing proves virtually synonymous with survival bearing the traces of life and of death carried within those who survived the atrocities of the Nazis In reading specific testimonies by survivor writers Paul Celan Charlotte Delbo Olga Lengyel Gisella Perl and Dan Pagis this text seeks to answer the question How was it possible for these survivors to write about human destruction if death is such an intimate part of the survivors survival This book shows how the works of these survivors arise creatively from a vigorous spark the desire to preserve memory Testimony for each of these writers is a form of relation to oneself but also to others It situates each survivor's anguish in writing as a need to write so as to affirm life Writing as such always bears witness to the life of the one who should be dead by now and thus to the miracle of having survived This book's claim is that the act of writing testimony manifests itself as the most intensive form of life possible More specifically its exploration of writing s affirmation of life and assertion of identity focuses on the gendered dimension of expression and language This book does not engage in the binary structure of gender and the hierarchically constructed roles in terms of privileging the male over the female The criteria that guide its discussion on Gendered Testimonies emerge out of Levinas s concept of maternity American

Philosophy in Translation Naoko Saito,2019-10-10 In response to the contemporary crisis of democracy as a way of life in particular the anxieties of inclusion this important new book explores the contemporary significance of American philosophy the pragmatism and American transcendentalism of Emerson and Thoreau and tries to present new ways of cultivating political emotions and political citizens To take up this philosophical political educational task the book introduces Cavell s idea of philosophy as translation a broader sense of translation as being internal to the nature of language and hence to the condition of human being as linguistic being and hence as political being Translation is a lens through which to enhance the possibilities and to elucidate the shifting identities of American philosophy Through this a hidden tension within American philosophy between pragmatism and transcendentalism is exposed Ultimately the book presents a vision of an alternative political education for human transformation and perfectionist cosmopolitan education Preaching God's Transforming turning point in the application of hermeneutics to New Testament texts Following the example of Hans Georg Gadamer s philosophical hermeneutics Pearson treats several different problems in New Testament interpretation centred around the figure of Paul In so doing he demonstrates how a dialogical approach to the interpretation of ancient texts functions pragmatically to allow for a deeper understanding not only of individual texts but also of their siting with the larger dialectical web of the texts and contexts of the ancient world This approach developed here in connection with the New Testament also has relevance to other literature In Corresponding Sense Pearson outlines what he calls a dialectical topography the tracing of connections and disjunctions between texts and their subject matter both within and outside of the New Testament He uses both theoretical and practical discussion to demonstrate this approach showing how it functions as a new way of approaching a Paul who is a member of a much larger community than simply the Judaism of his fathers a Paul who participates in cultural narratives which extend throughout not only earliest Christianity but also into the wider thought
