Monsoon Dream:

Monsoon Dream Nilani De Silva, 2005-08-30 Born into a wealthy and noble Sri Lankan Catholic family living on the outskirts of Colombo the young Anushka finds herself torn between two very different worlds The strict code of conduct that governs every member of her household demarcates the deep gap separating the Westernised elitist bourgeoisie of which Anushka is a reluctant member and the ethnic Sinhalese traditions they disdain taking their cue from the colonials who have ruled their country for centuries Preserved and cherished by the low caste Buddhist peasants from Hinnagama village who work for her family these traditions have an irresistible appeal for the rebellious Anushka It is her independent spirit and the quest for living life on her terms which invite harsh physical punishment from her authoritarian father The humiliation and countless hardships she suffers as a result impel her to leave the village and move to the capital city Colombo where hazards lurk for single women living alone In a country in the grip of civil war the result of a stand off between the Sinhalese dominated government and separatist Tamil guerrillas bent on creating an independent state for themselves Anushka's dream for freedom drives her to England but things turn awry She ended up behind locked doors Will the indomitable Anushka adapt herself to every obstacle thrown her way and succeed where so many others have failed Written with sensitivity insight and uncompromising candour by Nilani de Silva this novel is a lyrical and evocative work that shocks with its moments of violence and cruelty Illuminated with hope yet tinged with despair the Monsoon Dream is as much a portrait of a spirited young woman who dares to challenge the anachronistic values of a conservative island society As it is of a schizophrenic era in Sri Lanka's turbulent post colonial history that is both reluctant to shake off its subservience to its British legacy and steeped in the ancient ethnic prejudices of caste and creed Finally Monsoon Dream is about life itself in all its glorious uncertainty melancholy disillusioning bitter on the one hand joyous affirmative and radiant with hope on the other

Mago's Dream Ilchi Lee,2013-10-29 People have forgotten how to breathe out Caught in a materialistic matrix humanity has become trapped in an unsustainable pattern of living breathing in until we are ready to implode The Earth is laboring under the burden The time to exhale has arrived You are an extraordinary person because you are living during an extraordinary time in history Humanity has reached a critical juncture in its collective development and many critical issues now demanding our immediate attention global warming population growth culture clash and more In Mago s Dream you will learn to connect to the essence of Mago the nurturing spirit of the Earth In the process you will feel that her essence is your essence and that through her you can connect to your own highest self In the book Ilchi Lee contends that the earth itself should become a central tenant of our human identity By recognizing ourselves as Earth humans we can learn to transcend the cultural and national identities that keep us from living as a single united humanity And by placing the Earth herself at the center of our common value system we can learn to live in balance with the source of life itself Taming the Anarchy Tushaar Shah,2010-09-30 In 1947 British India the part of South Asia that is today s India Pakistan and Bangladesh emerged from the colonial era with the world s largest centrally managed canal irrigation infrastructure However as vividly illustrated by Tushaar Shah the orderly irrigation economy that saved millions of rural poor from droughts and famines is now a vast atomistic system of widely dispersed tube wells that are drawing groundwater without permits or hindrances Taming the Anarchy is about the development of this chaos and the prospects to bring it under control It is about both the massive benefit that the irrigation economy has created and the ill fare it threatens through depleted aquifers and pollution Tushaar Shah brings exceptional insight into a socio ecological phenomenon that has befuddled scientists and policymakers alike In systematic fashion he investigates the forces behind the transformation of South Asian irrigation and considers its social economic and ecological impacts He considers what is unique to South Asia and what is in common with other developing regions He argues that without effective governance the resulting groundwater stress threatens the sustenance of the agrarian system and therefore the well being of the nearly one and a half billion people who live in South Asia Yet finding solutions is a formidable challenge The way forward in the short run Shah suggests lies in indirect adaptive strategies that change the conduct of water users From antiquity until the 1960 s agricultural water management in South Asia was predominantly the affair of village communities and or the state Today the region depends on irrigation from some 25 million individually owned groundwater wells Tushaar Shah provides a fascinating economic political and cultural history of the development and use of technology that is also a history of a society in transition His book provides powerful ideas and lessons for researchers historians and policy

Re-writing America Philip D. Beidler, 1991 With his first book American Literature and the Experience of Vietnam Philip Beidler offered a pioneering study of the novels plays poetry and literature of witness that sprang from the United States involvement in the Vietnam War Reviewing the book the journal American Literature declared It is more than just an introductory act It also sets forth what are sure to be lasting types of American literary response to Vietnam and of the scholarly response to the emerging literature of the war In Re Writing America Beidler charts the ongoing achievements of the men and women who first gained public notice as Vietnam authors and who are now recognized as major literary interpreters of our national life and culture at large These writers among them Tim O'Brien Philip Caputo Winston Groom David Rabe John Balaban Robert Stone Michael Herr Gloria Emerson and Frances Fitzgerald have applied in their later efforts says Beidler many of the hard won lessons of literary sense making learned in initial works attempting to come explicitly to terms with Vietnam Beidler argues that the Vietnam authors have done much to reenergize American creative writing and to lead it out of the poststructuralist impasse of texts as endless critiques of language representation and authority With their direct experience of a divisive and frustrating war a war not of their own making but of the making of politicians and experts a war of ancient animosities that cost nearly everything for those involved and settled virtually nothing these writers in many ways resemble the celebrated generation of poets and novelists who emerged from World War I Like their forebears of 1914-18 those of the Vietnam generation have undertaken a common project of cultural revision to re-write America to create an art that even as it continues to acknowledge the war's painful memory projects that memory into new dimensions of mythic consciousness for other and better times Beidler fills his book with detailed illuminating analyses of the writers works which as he notes have moved across an almost infinite range of subject genre and mode From David Rabe for example have come innovative plays in which overt statements on the traumas of Vietnam The Basic Training of Pavlo Hummel Streamers have made way for broader commentaries on sex power and violence in American life In the Boom Boom Room HurlyBurly Winstom Groom has moved from Better Times Than These a rather traditional even anachronistic war novel to further reaches of rambunctious humor in Forrest Gump And journalist Michael Herr whose Dispatches memorably defined a Vietnam landscape at once real and hallucinatory carried his vision into collaborations on the films Apocalypse Now and Full Metal Jacket As Beidler notes the immense price that Vietnam exacted from the American soul continues to draw a plethora of interpretations and depictions Vietnam authors remind us in Tim O Brien s words of the things they carried But as Beidler makes clear they now command us not only to remember but to imagine new possibilities as well

Dreams, Visions and Prophecies 2020 Neha and Evans Francis,2022-01-06 This is a record of dreams and open visions given by the Lord to the writer and to a smaller extent his wife in chronological order over 2020 Prophetic in nature they consist of themes of admonition to the believer to shake off their complacency and dallying with the world in view of the lateness of the hour and stern warnings about wolves in sheep s clothing among the Body especially shepherds who mislead their flock with false prophecies and seducing tactics mainly for power and monetary gain There are also vivid visions concerning changes in the government and warnings about violent breakouts and the coming persecution Many are direct messages from the Lord which recur in cycles throughout the narrative testifying to their urgency and the call to be sober and vigilant Above all there is a heartfelt cry to pray and intercede for the nation to keep her from the evil one and for the advancement of the kingdom function both in public and private sector organizations This second edition of Public Relations Cases builds on the success of the previous edition to offer new insights into the changing face of contemporary public relations and the development of PR and communication strategies The book also examines The use of social media and blogging as a communications medium The growing importance of corporate social responsibility programmes Local authority identity change High profile international charitable fundraising Sports sponsorship Property sector PR Featuring cases from around the world including the UK India Korea Denmark Croatia and the US this book is an invaluable resource for teachers researchers and students working in public relations corporate communication and public affairs Writing the Past, Inscribing the Future Nancy K. Florida, 1995 Located at the juncture of literature history and anthropology Writing the Past Inscribing the Future charts a strategy of how one might read a traditional text of non Western historical literature in order to generate with it an opening for the future This book does so by taking seriously a haunting work of historical prophecy inscribed in the nineteenth century by a royal Javanese exile working through this writing of a colonized past to suggest the reconfiguration of the postcolonial future that this history itself apparently intends After introducing the colonial and postcolonial orientalist projects that would fix the meaning of traditional writing in Java Nancy K Florida provides a nuanced translation of this particular traditional history a history composed in poetry as the dream of a mysterious exile She then undertakes a richly textured reading of the poem that discloses how it manages to escape the fixing of tradition Adopting a dialogic strategy of reading Florida writes to extend as the work's Javanese author demands this history's prophetic potential into a more global register Babad Jaka Tingkir the historical prophecy that Writing the Past Inscribing the Future translates and reads is uniquely suited for such a study Composing an engaging history of the emergence of Islamic power in central Java around the turn of the sixteenth century Babad Jaka Tingkir was written from the vantage of colonial exile to contest the more dominant dynastic historical traditions of nineteenth century court literature Florida reveals how this history's episodic form and focus on characters at the margins of the social order work to disrupt the genealogical claims of conventional royal historiography thus prophetically to open the possibility of an alternative future Radical Visions Vicente F. Gotera, 1994 Although poets have written about warfare since at least the time of Homer the Vietnam war has struck many observers as being immune to the interpretations of poetry and myth Lyric poetry of a traditional kind writes one critic has proved inappropriate to communicate the character of the Vietnam war its remoteness its jargonized recapitulations its seeming imperviousness to aesthetics Nonetheless the past two decades have seen an unprecedented outpouring of poetry that seeks to describe and come to terms with that bitterly divisive conflict In Radical Visions Vince Gotera argues that poetry written by Vietnam veterans underlines the failure of traditional American myths to help Americans understand the war and its aftermath The book blends sociohistorical commentary with close readings of individual works by such poets as Michael Casey Walter McDonald and W D Ehrhart In the book's first section The Nam Gotera examines several key mythic structures the Wild West a violent extension of the mythic virgin land the machine in the garden the city on the hill regeneration through violence all of which helped delude Americans about Vietnam and the war being fought there In the second part The World Gotera shows how another myth the American Adam as an exemplar of ahistorical innocence proved unusable for returning veterans attempting to readjust to American life In addition to exposing these failed myths Gotera argues the poetry by Vietnam veterans reflects an effort to construct new myths most notably that of the warrior against war an oxymoronic structure arising from the difficulties faced by returning veterans In the book's final chapters Gotera examines the work of Bruce Weigl and Yusef Komunyakaa two poets whom the author considers most successful at portraying the moral absurdity of the Vietnam war without sacrificing lyrical aesthetics The first comprehensive study devoted exclusively to poetry by Vietnam veterans Radical Visions argues that this body of writing registers an important advance in the aesthetics and poetics of war literature and offers a cogent antiwar statement rooted in personal experience

Dreaming In Hindi

Katherine Russell Rich, 2010-06-10 An eye opening and courageous memoir that explores what learning a new language can teach us about distant worlds and ultimately ourselves After miraculously surviving a serious illness Katherine Rich found herself at an impasse in her career as a magazine editor She spontaneously accepted a freelance writing assignment to go to India where she found herself thunderstruck by the place and the language and before she knew it she was on her way to Udaipur a city in the northwestern state of Rajasthan in order to learn Hindi Rich documents her experiences ranging from the bizarre to the frightening to the unexpectedly exhilarating using Hindi as the lens through which she is given a new perspective not only on India but on the radical way the country and the language itself were changing her Fascinated by the process she went on to interview linguistics experts around the world reporting back from the frontlines of the science wars on what happens in the brain when we learn a new language She brings both of these experiences together seamlessly in Dreaming in Hindi a remarkably unique and thoughtful account of self discovery
