Monstrous Story:

Monstrous Story Nikola Krajina, 2022-09-26 One day the Blue Monster went to eat Fire but he was prevented from doing so by the Red Monster who ate him and then the Yellow Monster ate Red Monster When a four year old writes a story the most suitable medium to recount that story is a picture book This is because no adult can develop a good enough story for children like themselves Mauro Lacovich psychologist and psychotherapist author of countless therapeutic stories for children recognized the potential of this story and illustrated it in a way that enables children to learn to distinguish colours

The Curse of Eve, the Wound of the Hero Peggy McCracken, 2010-11-24 In The Curse of Eve the Wound of the Hero Peggy McCracken explores the role of blood symbolism in establishing and maintaining the sex gender systems of medieval culture Reading a variety of literary texts in relation to historical medical and religious discourses about blood and in the context of anthropological and religious studies McCracken offers a provocative examination of the ways gendered cultural values were mapped onto blood in the Middle Ages As McCracken demonstrates blood is gendered when that of men is prized in stories about battle and that of women is excluded from the public arena in which social and political hierarchies are contested and defined through chivalric contest In her examination of the conceptualization of familial relationships she uncovers the privileges that are grounded in gendered definitions of blood relationships She shows that in narratives about sacrifice a father's relationship to his son is described as a shared blood whereas texts about women accused of giving birth to monstrous children define the mother's contribution to conception in terms of corrupted often menstrual blood Turning to fictional representations of bloody martyrdom and of eucharistic ritual McCracken juxtaposes the blood of the wounded guardian of the grail with that of Christ and suggests that the blood from the grail king's wound is characterized in opposition to that of women and Jewish men Drawing on a range of French and other literary texts McCracken shows how the dominant ideas about blood in medieval culture point to ways of seeing modern values associated with blood in a new light and how modern representations in turn suggest new perspectives on medieval perceptions Jacques Derrida

Nicholas Royle, 2003-09-02 With a special focus on Derrida's relevance for literary and cultural studies this text offers invaluable advice on reading Derrida's texts and guidance on the vast range of criticism responses to his work Essays in history and biography Sir John Skelton, 1883 History of the Christian Church James Craigie Robertson, 1874 The History of the Jews Henry Hart Milman, 1875 The History of the Jews, from the Earliest Period Down to Modern Times Henry Hart Milman, 1870 Cameos from English History: Wars of the Roses. 1881 Charlotte Mary Yonge, 1881

Cameos from English History ... Charlotte Mary Yonge, 1901 Inhabited by Stories Nancy A. Barta-Smith, Danette DiMarco, 2012-11-30 Intertextuality has signaled change appropriation adaptation and derivation It has focused readers on irresolvable questions of influence and origination progressive or regressive movement across continents periods and media Inhabited by Stories Critical Essays on Tales Retold takes a different approach What would a model of literary study look like that steps out of time's river and embraces not only the presence and proximity of the world to the senses but also of the past and the future to the present here and now. When stories inhabit us, imagination and memory extend our ability to see and feel. Phenomenological experience is lived, not just thought. Such a perspective suggests that the past and future inhabit the present, increase the depth of sensory perception itself, and enrich the range of our affective and ethical responses. Grounded in the lived experience of reading, this perspective offers an alternative to an idea of intertextuality as simply following lines of influence and appropriation. It focuses on the expansion of experience created by telling and retelling stories. Ironically, for literary theorists and critics, perhaps the highest form of both praise and critique is a tale retold, since such retellings attest to literature's instructive power and its perennial regeneration.

Vulnerability Yeojin Kim, Shane Carreon, 2024-04-16. As monstrous bodies on screen signal a wide range of subversive destabilization of the notions of identity and community, this anthology asks what meanings monsters and monstrosity convey in relation to our recent circumstances shaped by neoliberalism and the pandemic that have led to the intensified tightening of border controls by nation states, the intensive categorization of unidentifiable bodies and subsequent forms of isolations and detachments imposed by social distancing, and the rapid transition of sociality from reality to virtual reality. Presenting various thinkings along the lines of the body and its representations as cultural text together with popular or recent media productions showing various bodies deemed to be monstrous as they either cross conventionally held borders or stay in liminal spaces such as between human/animal/human/machine, virtual bodies, corporeal flesh, living/death, and other permeable borders, this volume looks into the on-screen constructions of the monster and monstrosity not only as they represent notions of difference, perceived non-belongings, and disruptions of traditional identity markers, but also as they either conceal various vulnerabilities or implicitly endorse violence towards the labeled Other.
