Landscapes of Desire in the Poetry of Vittorio Sereni Francesca Southerden, 2012-01-12. This is the first book-length study in English on Vittorio Sereni (1913-83), a major figure in Italian 20th-century poetry. It argues that a key innovation of Sereni's poetry is the way in which it reworks the boundaries of poetic space to construct a lyric 'I' radically repositioned in the textual universe with respect to its predecessors.

The Expression of the Inexpressible in Eugenio Montale's Poetry Clodagh J. Brook, 2002. It is impossible to say just what I mean. Prufrock's frustration in Eliot's celebrated poem underlines the pessimistic view of language at the heart of much Modernist poetry. Locating the greatest Italian poet of the twentieth century, Eugenio Montale, firmly within European Modernism, this book examines the struggle with language that is central to his work. What can a poet do when words fail him? Does he put down his pen, retreat into silence? Does he seek instead to push language towards its limits, and if so, what tools can he employ? What part does metaphor, the via negativa, allusive or understated writing, have in this process? These are just some of the issues that Clodagh J. Brook seeks to address. In its unravelling of the inexpressibility paradox, her book offers a new reading of Montale's early verse and reveals how, in articles and metapoetic comments, Montale gives us insights into both his poetics and the whole process of expression.

The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000. This guide highlights the place of translation in our culture, encouraging awareness of the process of translating and the choices involved, making the translator more visible. Concentrating on major writers and works, it covers translations out of many languages, from Greek to Hungarian, Korean to Turkish. For some works, e.g. Virgil's Aeneid, which have been much translated, the discussion is historical and critical, showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions. Elsewhere, with less familiar literatures, the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available.

Messing About in Boats Michael Hofmann, 2021-02-25. Written by the eminent poet Michael Hofmann this approachable and companionable book offers readings of four poems on the subject of boats Based on Michael Hofmann's Clarendon lectures this volume offers readings of four poems in German French Italian and English by Rainer Maria Rilke Arthur Rimbaud Eugenio Montale and Karen Solie All four poems are on the subject of boats Emigrant Ship the Bateau Ivre Boats on the Marne and The World The volume suggests an affinity between boats and poems offers a partial lineage of boats in poems and pursues four variant destinies the boat that stays in port the boat that gives itself to the world the boat that is washed away down the river and the one that goes manically and hubristically on forever The volume retains the style of lectures and has an improvisational character with the same fire and detail as the things it is about It is written with a sense of fun of revelation and in a spirit of respect and attention

Into the Heart of European Poetry John Taylor, 2017-07-05 John Taylor's brilliant new book examines the work of many of the major poets who have deeply marked modern and contemporary European literature Venturing far and wide from the France in which he has lived since the late 1970s the polyglot writer critic not only delves into the more widely translated literatures of Italy Greece Germany and Austria but also discovers impressive and overlooked work in Slovenia Bosnia Hungary Finland Norway and the Netherlands in this book that ranges over nearly all of Europe including Russia While providing this stimulating and far ranging critical panorama Taylor brings to light key themes of European writing the depth of everyday life the quest of the thing in itself metaphysical aspiration and anxiety the dialectics of negativity and affirmation subjectivity and self effacement and uprootedness as a category that is as ontological as it is geographical historical political or cultural The book pays careful attention to the intersection of writing and history or politics as several poets featured here have faced the Second World War the Holocaust Communism the fall of Communism or the war in the former Yugoslavia Taylor gives the work of renowned upcoming and still little known poets a thorough look all the while scrutinizing recent translations of their verse He highlights several poets who are also masters of the prose poem He includes a few novelists who have fashioned a particularly original kind of poetic prose that stylistic category that has proved so difficult for critics to define Into the Heart of European Poetry should be of immediate interest to any reader curious about the aesthetic and philosophical ideas underlying major trends of contemporary European writing In a day and age when much too little is translated and thus known about foreign literature and when Europeans themselves are pondering the common denominators of their own culture this book is a

Echoes of Opera in Modern Italian Poetry Mattia Acetoso, 2020-06-24 Twentieth century Italian poetry is haunted by countless ghosts and shadows from opera Echoes of Opera in Modern Italian Poetry reveals their presence and sheds light on their role in shaping that great poetic tradition This is the first work in English to analyze the influence of opera on modern Italian poetry uncovering a fundamental but neglected relationship between the two art forms A group of Italian poets from Gabriele D Annunzio to Giorgio Caproni by way of Umberto Saba and Eugenio Montale made opera a cornerstone of their artistic craft More than an occasional stylistic influence opera is rather analyzed as a fundamental facet of these poets intellectual quest to overcome the expressive limitations of lyrical poetry This book reframes modern Italian poetry in a truly interdisciplinary perspective broadening our understanding of its prominence within the humanities in the twentieth century and beyond

Poetry and Revelation Kevin Hart, 2017-04-20 Religious poetry has often been regarded as minor poetry and dismissed in large part because poetry is taken to require direct experience whereas religious poetry is taken to be based on faith that is on second or third hand experience The best methods of thinking about experience are given to us by phenomenology Poetry and Revelation is the first study of religious poetry through a phenomenological lens one that works with the distinction between manifestation in which everything is made manifest and revelation in which the mystery is re veiled as well as revealed Providing a phenomenological investigation of a wide range of religious poems some medieval some modern some written in English others written in European languages some from America some from Britain and some from Australia Kevin Hart provides a unique new way of thinking about religious poetry and the nature of revelation itself

The Truth of Poetry Michael Hamburger, 2022-02-10 First published in 1982 The Truth of Poetry attempts to answer a seemingly simple question What kind of truth does poetry offer in modern times Michael Hamburger s answer to this question ranges over the last century of European and American poetry and the result is a phenomenology of modern poetry rather than a history of appreciations of individual poets Stressing the tensions and conflicts in and behind the work of every major poet of the period he considers the many different possibilities open to poets since Baudelaire This expansive work of analysis will be of interest to students of English literature poetry enthusiasts and literary historians

The Occasions Eugenio Montale, 1987 Eugenio Montale s second book of poetry was first published in 1939 This book is his most experimental work but a work no less tradition saturated than Eliot s As poet private individual and good European Montale s way of dealing with his difficulties was to seize the occasions offered him by writing poetry in which the lover s passions for his beloved country would convey the truth of both his public and his private situations
