Observatory A Novel:

The Observatory Carl Jonas, 1966 The Sky of Our Manufacture Jesse Oak Taylor, 2016-03-23 The smoke laden fog of London is one of the most vivid elements in English literature richly suggestive and blurring boundaries between nature and society in compelling ways In The Sky of Our Manufacture Jesse Oak Taylor uses the many depictions of the London fog in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century novel to explore the emergence of anthropogenic climate change In the process Taylor argues for the importance of fiction in understanding climatic shifts environmental pollution and ecological collapse The London fog earned the portmanteau smog in 1905 a significant recognition of what was arguably the first instance of a climatic phenomenon manufactured by modern industry Tracing the path to this awareness opens a critical vantage point on the Anthropocene a new geologic age in which the transformation of humanity into a climate changing force has not only altered our physical atmosphere but imbued it with new meanings The book examines enduringly popular works from the novels of Charles Dickens and George Eliot to Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde Dracula and the Sherlock Holmes mysteries to works by Joseph Conrad and Virginia Woolf alongside newspaper cartoons scientific writings and meteorological technologies to reveal a fascinating relationship between our cultural climate and the sky overhead Under the Sign of Nature Studies in Ecocriticism

Observatory Mansions Edward Carey, 2010-02-24 Easily the most brilliant fiction I've seen this year it proves the potential brilliance of the novel form John Fowles author of The Magus Observatory Mansions once the Orme family's magnificent ancestral home set on beautiful grounds is now a crumbling apartment block stranded on a traffic island peopled with eccentrics Thirty seven year old Francis Orme lives in Observatory Mansions with his peculiar parents and a collection of misfits By day he is a street performer earning money as a statue of whiteness in the park wearing white gloves to ensure that his skin never touches anything He steals items for his museum of significant objects 996 in all not for their monetary value but because they have been loved often bringing grief to their erstwhile owners His bedridden mother Alice who has created for herself an alternative time frame called fiction and his father Francis are among the occupants set apart from the rest of the busy city by their histories their memories and their relationships with the other seven inhabitants of the flats Each of the house dwellers has his or her own story as seen through Francis's eyes and the careful routine and harmony of the house are shaken when along comes a new resident the half blind vulnerable Anna Tap She is sympathetic and resourceful and slowly the desperately lonely residents begin to open up their long closed hearts As the delicate balance of Observatory Mansions begins to shift Francis finds himself having to protect the secrets of his past and the sanctity of his collection while growing emotionally closer to Anna Hailed as no less than a tour de force Observatory Mansions is a debut novel of immense originality a strangely haunting landscape occupied by compelling and unforgettable characters

H. G. Wells: Collected Novels, Short Stories, Essays & Articles H. G. Wells, 2023-12-06 H G Wells Collected Novels Short Stories Essays Articles presents a comprehensive anthology showcasing the remarkable breadth of Wells's imaginative vision which not only defined the science fiction genre but also critiqued contemporary society Spanning diverse themes from dystopian futures in The Time Machine to sociopolitical commentaries in The War of the Worlds Wells employs a vivid narrative style that combines speculative storytelling with philosophical undertones This collection is a testament to Wells's keen insights into the anxieties of the modern age evident in his richly developed characters and pioneering scenarios revealing both the promise and peril of progress in the early 20th century H G Wells often hailed as the father of science fiction was born in 1866 in Kent England His experiences as a schoolmaster and journalist coupled with his passion for social reform propelled him to explore the intersection of technology and human experience Wells's background in both science and literature enables him to weave intricate tales that challenge the status quo while drawing upon scientific advancements and their ethical implications reflecting the concerns of his era This exceptional anthology is a must read for anyone interested in the roots of speculative fiction and social commentary Wells's works remain as relevant today as they were over a century ago urging readers to ponder the implications of their own realities Dive into this collection to discover the profound insights of one of literature's most influential minds

The Observatory John Fraser, 2010 A novel about political commitment and liberation set around the year 1968 and reflecting the high season of Guevara in Bolivia and attempts to insert a revolutionary foco in places where objective conditions were politically ripe but where the subjective element and the most rudimentary organisation were absent The would be self transforming saviour pays with his life and that of his comrades in a situation where rectitude is on his side but the situation quite beyond his reach Instead of violence this political fable presents organisation as against movimentismo as a possible vehicle for the chiliastic transformation

The American Year Book, 1912 The Year-book of Facts in Science and Art Charles W. Vincent, James Mason, 1856 Metafiction and Myth in the Novels of Peter Ackroyd Susana Onega Jaén, 1999 Providing detailed analysis of the recurrent structural and thematic traits in Peter Ackroyd's first nine novels this work sets out to show how they grow out of the tension created by two apparently contradictory tendencies These are on the one hand the metafictional tendency to blur the boundaries between story telling and history to enhance the linguistic component of writing and to underline the constructedness of the world created in a way that aligns Ackroyd with other postmodernist writers of historiographic metafiction and on the other the attempt to achieve mythical closure expressed for example in Ackroyd's fictional treatment of London as a mystic centre of power This mythical element evinces the influence of high modernists such as Ezra Pound and T S Eliot and links Ackroyd's work to transition to postmodern writers such as Lawrence Durrell Maureen Duffy Doris Lessing and John Fowles
