Redrawing The Map Of Europe:

Redrawing the Map of Europe M. Emerson, 1998-09-07 Michael Emerson draws on a rare experience of Europe's new political and economic structures from Brussels to Moscow to explain Europe's contradictory tendencies towards both integration and conflict. He confronts the two strategic issues for the Europe of the early 21st century: how to ensure success for the Euro and how to stabilise the wider Europe with a strong structure for EU-Russian relations. He draws distinctions between the different Europes: geographic Europe, the European Union, Security Europe based around NATO, and the emerging Civil Europe. The author argues that Civil Europe could be the basis of a new European golden age and outlines the far-reaching institutional and cultural changes required to achieve this.

Maps Redrawn Amelia Khatri, AI, 2025-02-12

Maps Redrawn explores the captivating history of maps, demonstrating how they've shaped our world, reflecting not just geography but also power dynamics and cultural perspectives. The book argues that maps are subjective creations influenced by the biases and knowledge of their makers, challenging the notion of maps as neutral representations. It highlights how cartographic errors or deliberate distortions have had real-world consequences, influencing territorial claims and international relations. The book begins by introducing fundamental cartographic principles and tracing the history of mapmaking from ancient times to the Renaissance. It then examines instances of lost lands that once appeared on maps but were later removed as scientific knowledge expanded. Progressing further, the book delves into border disputes and political cartography, analyzing how maps have shaped national identities and fueled conflicts, offering a comprehensive understanding of the interplay between maps, history, and geopolitics.

Boundaries and Borders in the Post-Yugoslav Space Nenad Stefanov, Srdjan Radović, 2021-10-25

The disintegration of Yugoslavia, accompanied by the emergence of new borders, is paradigmatically highlighting the relevance of borders in processes of societal change, crisis, and conflict. This is even more the case if we consider the violent practices that evolved out of populist discourse of ethnically homogenous bounded space in this process that happened in the wars in Yugoslavia in the 1990s. Exploring the boundaries of Yugoslavia is not just relevant in the context of Balkan area studies but the sketched phenomena acquire much wider importance and can be helpful in order to better understand the dynamics of bordering societal space that are so characteristic for our present situation.

Commerce and Finance ,1919 The Canadian Forum ,1922 Includes critical reviews The Idea of Europe in British Travel Narratives, 1789-1914 Katarina Gephardt,2016-03-03 The nineteenth century was the heyday of travel with Britons continually reassessing their own culture in relation to not only the colonized but also other Europeans especially the ones that they encountered on the southern and eastern peripheries of the continent Offering illustrative case studies Katarina Gephardt shows how specific rhetorical strategies used in contemporary travel writing produced popular fictional representations of continental Europe in the works of Ann Radcliffe Lord Byron Charles Dickens and Bram Stoker She examines a wide range of autobiographical and fictional travel narratives to demonstrate that the imaginative geographies underpinning British ideas of Europe emerged from the spaces between fact and fiction Adding texture to her study are her analyses of the visual dimensions of cross cultural representation and of the role of evolving technologies in defining a shared set of rhetorical strategies Gephardt argues that British writers envisioned their country simultaneously as distinct from the Continent and as a part of Europe anticipating the contradictory British discourse around European integration that involves both fear that the European super state will violate British sovereignty and a desire to play a more central role in the European Union

 Service, 2015-11-10 On 26 December 1991 the hammer and sickle flag was lowered over the Kremlin for the last time Yet just six years earlier when Mikhail Gorbachev became general secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and chose Eduard Shevardnadze as his foreign minister the Cold War seemed like a permanent fixture in world politics Until its denouement no Western or Soviet politician foresaw that the standoff between the two superpowers after decades of struggle over every aspect of security politics economics and ideas would end within the lifetime of the current generation Nor was it at all obvious that that the Soviet political leadership would undertake a huge internal reform of the USSR or that the threat of a nuclear Armageddon could or would be peacefully wound down Drawing on pioneering archival research Robert Service s gripping investigation of the final years of the Cold War pinpoints the extraordinary relationships between Ronald Reagan Gorbachev George Shultz and Shevardnadze who found ways to cooperate during times of exceptional change around the world A story of American pressure and Soviet long term decline and overstretch The End of the Cold War 1985 1991 shows how a small but skillful group of statesmen grew determined to end the Cold War on their watch and transformed the global political landscape irreversibly The European Dream Walter Schwimmer, 2004-01-01 Europe is a strange continent Strictly speaking it is not a continent at all but a mere peninsula tacked on to Asia from where many of its first inhabitants undoubtedly came And yet despite its huge variety of features languages landscape and peoples this smallest of continents has achieved a clear cultural identity It is certainly true that Eurospeak lacks poetry and that the myths of today are mainly nationalist chauvinistic and of the No to Europe type But says the author My Europe is not the Europe that regulates the curve on bananas quarrels over subsidies for farmers or fights for places on the Council or Commission I still believe in dreams especially the European dream The author quotes Vaclav Havel Without dreaming of a better Europe we shall never build a better Europe Going back to the origins of the European idea Dr Schwimmer traces the true content of Robert Schumann's vision and shows how this must still be our inspiration But the author goes back beyond that and looks at other visions of a Federal Europe From the Hapsburg Empire to the League of Nations and Woodrow Wilson's celebrated speech in 1918 various concepts are examined carefully In propounding his dream for the future the author takes on the Eurosceptics directly and shows how Europe must be the key to its inhabitants tackling the problems of world terrorism human rights and the internal strife of Russia and the Balkan States
